MEANS OF RAPID TRANSIT

BERLIN SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

WHERE 'WE WILL' THERE'S A WAY
—Chicago's New Proverb.

Two of the distinguished men visiting in Chicago and attending the National Conference on City Planning have presented herewith for THE TRIBUNE readers some ideas on city plans—mainly on the vital question of transportation. Their statements follow:

BY EDWARD M. BASSETT.

A modern city, after it gets more than a million people, needs rapid transit so that people will not need to travel so many hours in going from the traffic centers to their homes. This movement should not be directed toward a single center. No great city can afford to build up with one congested center. It must, like London, develop numerous transit centers.

There was a tendency in New York to constantly pile one business stratum closely on another and then begin apartment houses toward Harlem and the Bronx so that the city became essentially a long city.

A long city is not an economical city from a transportation or housing point of view. A round city has the largest area with the shortest distances to its traffic centers, but a long city has the smallest area with the longest distances.

RAPID transit routes, if built as diameter lines, will help to make a round city and, at the same time, produce many traffic centers. I mean by diameter lines lines that start in the suburbs and go through a dense part of the city and out again at another suburb.

Thus a train will start in the morning, picking up its load as it approaches the center of the city, distributing it through the entire inside part of the city, then go out into the suburb. There it changes its direction, swings back again, distributing its load through the city. The same process is repeated in the evening. Radial lines of this sort were for a long time needed in New York City.

NEW YORK'S comprehensive rapid transit plan that is agreed upon has this merit: Heretofore the elevated roads and subways have led to the downtown Manhattan district just the way Chicago's elevated roads lead to the loop district.

This has brought about a tendency toward congestion; but in New York it has showed itself by producing the long crowded area district in Manhattan; whereas in Chicago the result has been even worse. It has made a highly congested district within the loop.

Just as the through rapid transit routes

WALTON TENANTS ROUTED BY FIRE

Children of Henry Barrett Chamberlin Rescued from Smoking Apartment.

BUSSE'S MOTHER ESCAPES.

Occupants of the Walton apartments at 878 North Clark street, were driven to the street in their night clothes early this morning by a fire which started in the basement of the building. Clouds of choking smoke rolled up the ventilating shafts to the sleeping apartments on the six floors.

The fire was discovered by a passerby who saw smoke pouring from upper windows. Six engine companies responded to a still alarm. Firemen ran through the building, bursting open the doors and arousing the sleeping tenants. But few of them were aware of their danger. Others were hard to awake on account of the suffocating effects of the smoke.

Saves Chamberlin Children.

James Ireton, 2042 Warren avenue, was passing by the burning building when he heard screams. He rushed into a flat on the first floor, occupied by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, managing editor of the Record Herald. He carried the two Chamberlin children, Barrett and Jack, to the street. Mrs. Chamberlin followed.

Mrs. Augusta Busse, mother of former Mayor Fred A. Busse, was alert and got out of the building without assistance. Shortly after she reached the street her son, Fred, arrived at the scene and escorted her to his apartments.

Keep Elevators Running.

The elevator was kept running until all of the occupants were out of the structure. Lieut. Culnane and Officers Burns, Horan, Loftis, and Baynes assisted in the work of rescue. The fire was extinguished with slight property loss, although all of the apartments were damaged by smoke.

Among the other residents of the Walton were Mrs. Maria L. Chamberlin, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. D. Montgomery, Charles E. Deane, Robert Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Lull, and Miss Leila W. Lull, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kretzinger, George W. Kretzinger Jr., and Miss Clara Kretzinger.

CHICAGO vs. NEW YORK

The statistics of advertising printed by the New York City papers for April reached us yesterday. Although New York exceeds Chicago in population, Chicago's biggest newspaper has left New York's biggest newspaper behind. Here is the comparison for April:

CHICAGO TRIBUNE . . . 1,257,981 lines
TRIBUNE'S EXCESS . 188,286 lines

In the first four months of 1913 THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE leads the first New York paper by 214,231 lines.

Locally, THE TRIBUNE continues and increases its commanding lead. Five times in April and already twice in May (the second time yesterday) THE TRIBUNE printed more advertising than the three other Chicago morning papers COMBINED. Here are yesterday's figures:

THE TRIBUNE . . . . 102.74 columns
The 3 Other Morning Papers Combined . 100.05 columns
TRIBUNE'S EXCESS . . . . . 2.69 columns

O'HARA ACCUSED IN AN AFFIDAVIT GIVEN TO SENATE

PLAN FOR RIGID INQUIRY

Lieutenant Governor Demands Action and Declares He Will Show Charge False.

RESULT OF CLASH AT HEARING

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard M. Sullivan of Sangamon county produced before the senate this morning an affidavit which, he testified under oath, reflects on the personal character of Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara, chairman of the white slave investigating commission.

The affidavit was produced as the climax of Sullivan's examination by the senate, after he had been brought in under a subpoena duces tecum by Senate Sergeant-at-Arms George W. Zinn.

The action taken in bringing Mr. Sullivan before the senate was a result of the personal request made by Lieut. Gov. O'Hara yesterday morning asking that the senate take official cognizance of an interview published in the Springfield Register, charged to Sullivan, in which he was quoted as having said he had such an affidavit. A page from a Chicago hotel register is one of the features of the case.

Keep Details a Secret.

Sullivan's attorney, C. Fred Mortimer of Springfield, addressed the senate, saying the affidavit contained names other than that of a member of the committee, and no good purpose could be subserved by permitting the affidavit to become public property. He requested that it be furnished only to the four senators—Ettelson, Jones, Dailey, and O'Connor—named by the executive committee of the senate to conduct the investigation.

Senator Ettelson, speaking for the committee, demanded the production of the affidavit without any agreement or condition, but before it was produced the agreement was reached that it be turned over to the custody of Secretary of the Senate James H. Paddock, and that its contents should not be made public and not furnished to any one except to the four members of the subcommittee.

Kept Off Senate Record.

Deputy Sheriff Sullivan then was excused and the committee of four was authorized to seek further light as to the truth or the falsity of the affidavit.

So far as the records of the senate are concerned there is no showing that an affidavit exists, or who signed it, or what charges are made in it.

Under these conditions all sorts of rumors are heard. One Springfield paper in its afternoon edition today printed what is alleged to be the substance of the document. It suggest the registration of "T. D. Duncan and wife" at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on Jan. 17, 18, and 19 of this year, as a basis for the charges.

Denies Knowing Affidavit Signer.

Deputy Sheriff Sullivan disclaims knowledge of the identity of the person whose name is said to be signed to the paper. He testified that it did not come into his possession until last night and that he secured it then, after he had been summoned before the bar of the senate, as a matter of precaution to himself.

He testified that his first knowledge of its existence came to him in his official capacity as under-sheriff of the county. He denied he had said that he had the affidavit in his possession on the night of the interview which caused the investigation. After the subpoena for his appearance had been issued, he said, he obtained the document on the theory that he would be asked for the basis of the interview and that he wished to be fortified.

The report from men in intimate touch with Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, however, is that if further steps are taken by the senate, proof will be produced to back up whatever charges are made in the affidavit.

O'Hara Admits Name Is Involved.

Lieut. Gov. O'Hara acknowledges information came to him connecting his own name with the affidavit, and he says this prompted him to ask that the senate demand its production.

Mr. O'Hara declares that, if found necessary, an alibi is already established for himself on the dates in question.

Men of conservatism on both sides of the legislature are considering the affair from a much higher point of view than the personal angle. They object to having a fight between the lieutenant governor and his enemies staged under a nation-wide spotlight.

Today's episode has relegated to the rear all pending matters of legislation. It is the sole topic of conversation in hotel lobbies tonight and important developments are prophesied for tomorrow.

REGISTER, WITH NAMES, MISSING.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE with Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman, tried to locate the names of "T. D. Duncan and wife" and "J. F. Miller and wife" on

GERMAN DOCTORS RAKE FRIEDMANN

VALUE NOT YET PROVED.

BY FREDERIC W. WILE.
[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, May 7.—Prof. Paul Ehrlich, the discoverer of Salvarsan, commonly known as "606," consented today to give such comments as he was at liberty to make upon certain phases of Dr. Friedmann's turtle vaccine treatment for tuberculosis.

"All medical novelties," said the "Little Excellency," as the wiry, spare scientist is now known, "ought to be handled with the utmost reserve. No good turn is done suffering humanity by the premature or exaggerated publication of this or that alleged panacea. It would be far better to let the diseased section of the community hunger in vain for details of a 'cure' than to feed them with false hopes.

"Dr. Friedmann's vaccine and cultures from which his claims are derived are in my hands. Their analysis is now in progress. It cannot be completed for many months. Until it is it would be impossible, as well as unfair, to pass judgment of any kind upon the merits of Dr. Friedmann's vaccine. My report, when it is ready, will be made exclusively to the Prussian ministry of education, under whose jurisdiction my institute operates.

In Hands of Government.

"The matter was placed in my hands officially, which in Prussia, as you know, means with the utmost secrecy. If the ministry deems it proper to make public the result of my examination it will be for it to do so.

"Dr. Friedmann struck me as an earnest young man. His stanch adherent, Prof. Schleich of Berlin, is a man of unimpeachable standing, whose support of any cause must demand for it serious consideration at the hands of the medical profession. If my tests of the Friedmann vaccine are somewhat delayed it will be partly because I have no human material at my disposal for experimental purposes and must confine my work to animals.

"You tell me Dr. Friedmann has been subjected to some criticism in America because he wants to profit by the sale of his alleged remedy. I personally do not sympathize with such criticism.

Little Reward for Discoverers.

"I have never been able to figure out how suffering humanity benefits from the fact that the discoverer of any given panacea emerges from his work empty handed.

"I, of course, deprecate the sheer commercialisation of medical science and the setting of financial gain as the chief goal of scientific research, but it has never occurred to me that we ought to look upon ourselves as priests laboring exclusively for love.

"The charge of commercialism can only lie with justification in the case of a medical man who exploits a 'remedy' before its efficiency is at least quasi established. I suppose there is no great antidote in medical history which was ever unquestionably acknowledged. There have always been and always will be irreconcilable croakers. My salvarsan is a case in point."

Cases Treated at Frankfort.

When Drs. Friedmann and Schleich came to Frankfort in January, Prof. Ehrlich requested Privy Councilor Rehn, the distinguished chief surgeon of the municipal hospital, and Prof. Schwenkenbecher, director of the medical clinic, to place a number of tubercular patients at Dr. Friedmann's disposal for experimental purposes.

They did so, and injections were given under the personal direction of Drs. Friedmann and Schleich, in the presence of Prof. Ehrlich and the hospital aids. Dr. Friedmann assured the latter at the time that a second injection would be necessary in each case in order to bring about the benignant condition which he asserted his vaccine was capable of producing.

Privy Councilor Indignant.

Privy Councilor Rehn, one of Germany's most famous surgeons, who is celebrated for his successful operations on the heart, said:

"I asked Dr. Friedmann if he was going to remain in Germany so that the subsequent treatment, the necessity of which he was at such great pains to emphasize, could be administered. He said yes. The next thing we saw was that he had arrived in America, since which time we have not heard a word either from him or from his representative and partner, Prof. Schleich, who is still in Berlin.

"I can only say we are frankly indignant over this irresponsible and unscientific procedure, which is hardly designed to foster the confidence of serious minded medical men in the discovery."

Bad Feeling at Clinic.

Almost identical evidence was supplied when information was asked about the condition of the patients treated in the clinic.

"Dr. Friedmann has manifested such indifference and utter negligence toward the cases placed at his disposal," said Dr. Reiss, chief of the clinical ward, "that we ourselves have not paid any further attention to them except to render the ordinary aid at our command."

Opinion at the Frankfort hospital unreservedly condemns Dr. Friedmann's campaign in the United States, particularly in its financial aspect. Although Prof. Ehrlich finds Dr. Friedmann's unwillingness to part with his secrets entirely legitimate, men like Privy Councilor Rehn describe it as "secretiveness not calculated to inspire credence."

They say Dr. Friedmann's entire manner justifies skepticism. If he had unbounded confidence in the merit of his cure he need not hesitate to make a clean breast of affairs, as "not only the Nobel prize but unlimited funds from all points of the compass" would flow his way the moment the cure was proved to be such beyond all reasonable doubt.

BRIDEWELL FREES 'HUNGER STRIKER'

SHE WOULD NOT TALK.

The "hunger strike" developed to a high state of efficiency by the British suffragets imprisoned for militant tactics, has hit Chicago. Yesterday a woman was freed from the bridewell after refusing for ten days to eat. She left with no color in her cheeks, but triumph in her eye. At night she was in a critical condition, due less to her "starving" than previous illness.

The woman is Miss Pauline Hamilton. Eleven days ago she was arraigned before Municipal Judge Hopkins and fined $100. Unable to pay, she was sent to serve it out.

She Refuses to Talk.

Besides her refusal to eat, she refused to talk. The first violation of rules might have been conquered by forcible feeding, but the second example of extraordinary conduct was too much for the bridewell experts to tackle. She was sent to the hospital. Still she would not eat. Her principal remark was "No."

The bridewell physicians went to see John L. Whitman, the superintendent. Mr. Whitman inquired whether the woman could be made to eat, but forcible feeding did not appeal to either him or the attendants as advisable. They agreed to tell their troubles to Judge Hopkins, and appeared before him with a statement of the woman's condition.

"She's obstinate," he was told. "It's a woman, you see. She says she won't eat, and so far she's been telling the truth. It's ten days now and she is getting weak."

Judge Hopkins waved his hands helplessly and signed an order granting freedom.

"It's the only thing I can do," he said. "We can't have the woman dying, and the only way to prevent it that I can see is to ship her out. I have to issue the pardon."

Back to the hospital went a deputy with the order. The woman, still in bed, heard the announcement with a grin.

Freed, She Calls for Food.

"Where are my clothes?" she said. "And bring on my food. I'm a bit hungry."

"Easy now," cautioned the nurse. "You'll have to go slow. One glass of milk you get and that's all."

The successful striker started to yell with rage, then thought better of it and sipped her glass of milk slowly. She was taken to the Dan Martin Memorial mission, 710 Wells street, her spirits keeping her up. She had taken no nourishment during her stay save for occasional drinks of water. Even medicine she refused. On reaching the mission she sipped broth, but had difficulty in retaining it.

"Was she happy?" repeated Mr. Whitman. "I think she was, but why don't you ask about me? I was delighted when she left. She's the first of that breed I have ever seen, and I hope she'll be the last.

"Arguments didn't have any weight with her. She was told she would die if she didn't take some nourishment, but she would just look at us and shake her head. Now and then she would go so far as to say, 'I don't want to talk about that.' Nothing more.

"She's a woman of about 37, I should think, and a bit above the average prisoner in intelligence. I don't know her ideas about the ballot, but she has definite ideas on how to act in jail."

THROUGH ROUTING PLAN PRESENTED; 26,000 MORE SEATS

LOOP GAIN 74 PER CENT

Detailed Scheme Given to Council Committee as the First Definite Action.

ORDINANCE TO BE FRAMED AT ONCE

Real action toward through routing of elevated trains was started yesterday.

As a direct result of the campaign begun by THE TRIBUNE a week ago the men who could speak with full authority for the elevated lines were brought face to face with the local transportation committee of the city council. A concrete plan was submitted and the aldermen asked that the working details and a draft of the legislation believed necessary be presented as soon as possible. The data was promised "in a very few days."

The plan proposed provides for the saving of a vast aggregate of time for users of the elevated roads. It is promised that additional trains that will be accommodated by through routing will give seats to 26,000 straphangers during each of the morning and evening rush hours. Where through routing was not recommended transfers from one elevated line to any other line were promised.

Through Routes North and South.

The "L" road men who met with the aldermen proposed through routing of the Northwestern trains with those of the south side company and the operation of the Metropolitan and the Oak Park trains on a common track on the loop.

The present capacity of the central "L" structure's two tracks now is 700 cars an hour. The capacity under the plan urged by the company would be 1,220 cars an hour. This increase would mean an increase of 74 per cent in the capacity of the loop. The speed on the loop would be raised from an average of eight miles an hour to twelve miles an hour. Fifty-four more trains an hour could be operated over the structure. On the basis of fifty seats to the car, exactly 26,000 more seats would be available during "peak load" periods. Several minutes would be cut off the average trip into the downtown district or out of it.

No Strings to Offer.

No condition was attached to the offer made by the "L" road people except that the city council grant authority for structural changes engineers for the roads say are necessary. It was plainly stated that no agreement for cessation of hostilities against the loop would be asked.

"We are perfectly satisfied with our franchises as we have them," was the "L" chiefs' answer to a question.

The principal changes described would be made in the loop itself, and the most important of these would be the lengthening of station platforms to accommodate two six car trains. A protest from the Loop Protective association against such an extension was filed by two attorneys, but consideration of it was deferred until the working plans of the construction are submitted.

Transfer Stations Needed.

Authority to construct three transfer bridges—overhead crossings from the inner loop track platforms to those adjoining the outer tracks—also was requested, and an important piece of construction to connect the Oak Park and the Metropolitan lines at Paulina street was included in the proposal.

The proposal of the company—the Chicago Elevated Railways—was presented by Samuel Insull, chairman of the executive committee, which has full jurisdiction in all matters of operating policy. He appeared before the council committee on local transportation. Henry A. Blair and Ira M. Cobe, the other members, were not present, but both sent their "regrets" with a statement that Mr. Insull was empowered to speak for them.

Mr. Insull was accompanied by Britton I. Budd, president of the company, who has charge of operation, and Gilbert E. Porter, counsel for the executive committee.

Text of the Proposal.

One typewritten page carried Mr. Insull's statement of the structural changes he asked the committee to consider. It was as follows:

Platforms to be extended to accommodate two six car trains at one time. Alternative: Certain platforms to be extended to accommodate one six car train to be not less than 250 feet long.

Randolph street and Fifth avenue station platforms to be extended, in order to get 300 feet clearance between junction and rear of train standing in station.

Transfer bridges between the inner and outer platforms of stations at Randolph street and Wabash avenue, Van Buren and State streets, and Quincy street and Fifth avenue, to allow transfer of passengers from the Northwestern and South Side to the Metropolitan and Oak Park.

Extend all platforms to accommodate seven car trains.

Platforms on Oak Park to be constructed with connections to stairways at Halsted street station of the Metropolitan at Paulina street, in order that passengers may transfer from the Oak Park to the Metropolitan, or vice versa.

Construct connection involving additional structure at Paulina and Wood streets between the Metropolitan and Oak Park, in order trains of the Metropolitan Logan square and Humboldt park branches may use the Oak Park to the loop and also to make it possible to through route between the Oak Park and the Metropolitan.

Extension of express track of Chicago and Oak Park Elevated railroad.

Mr. Insull explained the increased capacity that would result from the plan of loading two six car trains at each platform simultaneously and said the alternative of extending the platforms to accommodate only one six car train would give an increase of only 400 cars as contrasted with the 520 possible under the other plan.

The routing under either plan he outlined as follows:

"The proposed plan provides for through operation of all trains between the South Side and Northwestern in the rush hours. During nonrush hours some trains will be looped as at present and the remainder through routed. The Metropolitan and Oak Park will be looped as at present. All roads will operate right handed.

"North bound South Side through routed trains would proceed north on the outer loop track in Wabash avenue, thence west in Lake street, and thence north on the Northwestern tracks. These trains would discharge South Side passengers and load Northwestern passengers.

West Side Lines to Loop.

"South bound Northwestern through routed trains would proceed south on the outer loop track in Fifth avenue, thence east in Van Buren street and thence south on the South Side tracks. These trains would discharge Northwestern passengers and load South Side passengers.

"The Metropolitan trains would enter the loop at the present entrance and pass around the loop on the inner track as at present.

"The Oak Park trains would enter the loop at the present entrance and pass around the loop on the inner track in Fifth avenue, with the Metropolitan, instead of on the outer loop as at present.

Before Mr. Insull had completed his statement to the committee, Chairman Block began a cross examination. It was finally cut short by a point blank request from Mr. Insull that he be permitted to conclude.

Ald. Block began asking whether Stone & Webster, engineers for the Elevated Railways, had considered the structural changes outlined by Mr. Insull. The reply was that the changes mentioned had been considered with others.

Through Service by Oct. 1.

After reading the statement Mr. Insull was asked about the length of time necessary to install the improved service.

"I think the probability is we could get in operation about the first of October," he said. "Our work would not be all finished by that time, of course, but I think we certainly could be able to operate the through service by that time."

Ald. Block then asked if through routing could not be accomplished by omitting the extension of the platforms. The answer was that only four or five car trains could be operated, so that the capacity of the loop would be limited to 940 cars an hour, an increase of only 240 over the present capacity.

"It seems to me an unfortunate thing," said Mr. Insull, "if it is possible by adjusting and lengthening the platforms to give 1,220 cars an hour service at rush hours—it seems to me rather unfortunate to be satisfied with 940 cars an hour simply in order to keep the platforms at their present length."

Block Wants Immediate Changes.

Mr. Block explained he was aiming to find out if immediate improvement could not be obtained through routing trains without waiting for all the construction work.

"We couldn't do anything now," said Mr. Insull. "If when you speak of through routing now you mean through routing within the next few weeks. We will do it just as rapidly as possible, but I don't think it possible to put in any scheme of through routing that would be effective before the first of October."

The question of new cars was raised and it was said they could not be obtained in less than six months and that fifty new ones would be needed even for operating 940 cars an hour, as suggested by Ald. Block.

Early Action Requested.

Explaining that little further could be done during the meeting, Ald. Henry D. Capitain offered a resolution that was seconded by Ald. W. F. Lipps. It requested the company to present "at an early date" plans for structural changes and the necessary ordinance to allow that construction. It was passed unanimously, but before the question was put George Weston, the city's representative on the board of supervising engineers, who has made exhaustive investigations of the through routing problem, was called upon.

"From my experience with the subject," he said, "I think they have covered it very completely and I concur in these recommendations."

In response to a question from Ald. W. J. Healy, Engineer Weston said the west side lines would benefit chiefly from the through routing plan because the Metropolitan trains will occupy a track with the Oak Park road, which operates a small number of trains. Mr. Insull said the west side lines would benefit by an increase of about 40 or 30 per cent on the 1,220 car plan.

City's Expert Indorses Plan.

"I believe that to the public as a whole," said Mr. Weston, "and the city as a whole this plan of operation is the best improvement that can be installed. Their proposition is a correct one, and I can recommend it heartily."

"We are not concerned about our legal position," said Mr. Insull later, "and we haven't any objection to anything going into the ordinance to protect any supposed rights of the city with relation to the present loop litigation. That is not keeping us awake nights at all. We are not coming here with any proposition to obtain any advantage except the advantage that comes to us from increased business from serving the public. That is all we are after. We have no ax to grind with relation to ordinances or our situation in regard to our relations with the city."

Ready Within Few Days.

Ald. Capitain asked when the plans could be ready for the committee and Mr. Insull consulted with Mr. Budd.

"Mr. Budd tells me," he said, "the plans can be ready in a few days and Mr. Porter says the ordinance can be ready as soon as the plans are drawn. As soon as the plans are drawn the ordinance will take a very short time to prepare."

Ald. Si Mayer offered a resolution asking the law department for an opinion of the effect of the passage of the proposed ordinance upon the company's rights in reference to the loop, but it was lost for lack of a second.

Morgan L. Davies and Richard W. Clifford, as attorneys for the Loop Protective association, asked for a hearing, but the committee voted to hear them when the company has presented its working plans and ordinance.

MRS. LONGSTREET LOSES POST.

Wilson Nominates Another Postmaster to Replace Widow of the Famous Southern General.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Mrs. Helen Longstreet, widow of the famous confederate general, today lost her fight for reappointment as postmistress of Gainesville, Ga. Mrs. H. W. J. Hamm was nominated to the office after President Wilson had consulted the Georgia senators.

It was learned that Postmaster General Burleson's reports of the condition of the postoffice over which Mrs. Longstreet presided alleged that the office was poorly managed.

STREET CAR LINES WILLING TO MERGE

LONGER 5 CENT RIDES.

Wish to Be Guaranteed as Great a Revenue as They Are Getting Now.

Willingness to take up again the plan for a merger of their lines was expressed yesterday by the two surface traction companies. Leonard A. Busby, president of the Chicago City railway, and Attorney W. W. Gurley, general counsel for the Chicago Railways company, told the city council committee on local transportation they would take up the subject at once. Mr. Gurley was accompanied by John M. Roach, president of the Railways company.

At the request of the committee, an agreement was made that the companies will submit at a meeting on Monday morning an outline plan for the unified operation of their lines. There was some doubt whether the request contemplated a statement of the terms which would be asked from the city in the event of a consolidation, but it is believed this will be included in the communication from the companies.

Ready to Try Merger at Once.

"I am ready and willing," said President Busby, "to proceed at once to attempt to effect a merger. The advantages are manifest."

"I wish to say we are not opposed to a surface line merger," said Mr. Gurley. "Nothing less than a merger can satisfy the situation. At present there are many difficulties in the way of through routing and the like. A merger would be preferable to an operating agreement."

Bion J. Arnold, chairman of the board of supervising engineers, told the aldermen a consolidation of the companies would offer the only real solution to the through routing problem. Asked if he had in mind a method of operation on a unified basis he said he would recommend a system of routing cars from each section of the city to each other section.

Mr. Busby was the only speaker who mentioned the subject of new terms for the companies from the city.

"If a consolidation is effected," he said, "it would mean the elimination of the 10 cent fare beyond Seventy-ninth street and within the loop district. We cannot say just what effect this would have on our earning capacity. Therefore we wish to be guaranteed as great a revenue as we are getting now. We have shown this committee the south side lines are earning 7 per cent."

The committee will take up the matter on Monday.

Favor Lake Avenue Line.

On the recommendation of a subcommittee the ordinance for the extension of a city railway line down Lake avenue from Forty-seventh street to Fifty-fifth street was approved. A property owners' organization has been opposing the extension, and a council floor battle on the ordinance is expected.

DISSENSION IN COMMITTEE FIGHTING CHICAGO RAILWAYS.

Verbal Attack Reported to Have Been Made on Joseph Beifeld at Meeting Held by Insurgents.

Dissension that threatens to disrupt the organization developed yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Chicago Railways Protective association. The meeting was held in the rooms of the association in the City Hall Square building.

At the close of the meeting J. J. Larkin, a member of the committee, gave out a statement declaring he had preferred charges and asked for the resignation of Chairman Joseph Beifeld and J. B. Hogarth, who is employed by the insurgent stockholders as a "special adviser."

Mr. Beifeld, Secretary L. H. Morris, and other members of the committee, later emphatically denied that Larkin had requested the resignations. They insisted that all was harmonious.

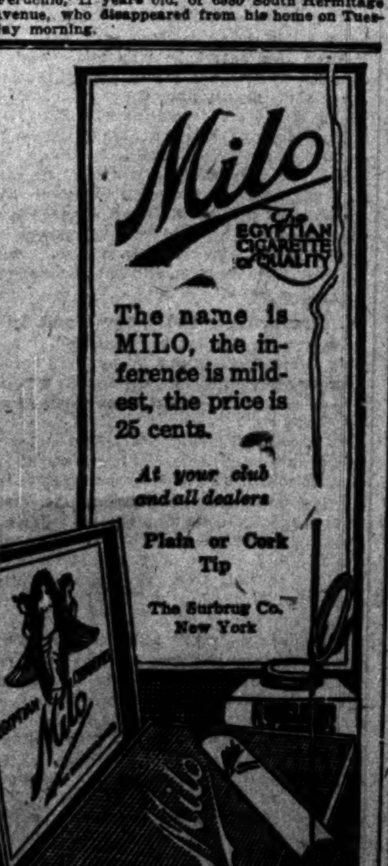
Mr. Beifeld admitted that Larkin brought up a discussion of a suit against him filed in 1908 in the Superior court by William F. Merle, a minority stockholder in the White City Construction company.

"I was astounded when Larkin brought that matter up," said Beifeld. "There are certain influences at work trying to disrupt our association, but they will fail. I have been approached and even threatened, but I am not afraid.

"If there was intended an insinuation that there was anything wrong in connection with the Merle suit I have only to turn to Master in Chancery Mason's report, which reads: 'There was no organized conspiracy to defraud the White City or to take the advertising of it in any way on the part of Beifeld.'"

Police Seek Missing Boy.

Search is being made by the police for Frank Feruchio, 11 years old, of 6930 South Hermitage avenue, who disappeared from his home on Tuesday morning.



BIG P.-O. SHAKEUP PLANNED

WILSON GIVES APPROVAL.

Fourth Class Postmasters Must Face Merit Test to Prove Fitness.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Burleson, acting with the approval of President Wilson, has ordered the biggest shakeup of the postal service that institution has experienced in many years. The moves made in the direction of reorganization are:

Postmasters who have aroused dissatisfaction with the service furnished their communities will be removed before the expiration of their terms and replaced by Democrats. Postoffice inspectors have been ordered to report all complaints to Washington.

All fourth class postmasters appointed without a merit test will be required to submit to an examination of their fitness for retention. Eventually second and third class postmasters will be subjected to a similar test.

Postmasters Face Inquiry.

As a result of the first move the administration of every first, second, and third class postmaster in the country will be investigated.

The scope of the order has astonished Republican members of congress who have begun to hear from the postmasters affected. It appears that the chief postoffice inspector issued secret instructions, known as circular order No. 117, in which postoffice inspectors are commanded to "search diligently" in every community for complaints of the service furnished by the postmaster and to report the findings to headquarters forthwith.

The inspectors are now at work in Illinois and letters describing their operations are pouring in upon Senator Sherman and the Republican and Progressive members of the house from that state. The Republicans charge that the move is merely preliminary to a replacement of Republican with Democratic postmasters wherever the shadow of an excuse for removal of incumbents can be found.

G. O. P. Sees Retaliation.

Removal of postmasters ostensibly "for the good of the service," but really for political reasons, long was a joke among politicians under the Republican régime. It always was possible to get rid of the most efficient postmaster on the ground that he did "not devote all his time to the office." So the Republicans now suspect they are to be given a dose of their own medicine.

The order affecting fourth class postmasters was signed by the president today. As a result of the Roosevelt and Taft orders 49,682 fourth class offices were placed under civil service, but only new appointees are required to undergo tests of fitness.

Thousands Subject to Test.

About 11,000 under the Roosevelt and 1,000 under the Taft order have been appointed after civil service tests. The Wilson order subjects the remaining 37,600 postmasters in that class to the test.

Illinois	1,325	Michigan	1,090
Indiana	947	Wisconsin	896
Iowa	955

Those postmasters receiving $180 or more a year will be required to take a civil service examination, while those under that limit will be selected by inspectors.

FUNK QUITS HARVESTER JOB.

General Manager of International Company Will Go to Laporte, Ind., Concern.

Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, has announced his resignation, as predicted, in order that he may go to the M. His withdrawal is understood to be with the consent of the Harvester officials, who have seen the market suffer from the manner in which the Rumely concern was managed.

UNDERWOOD BILL DELAYED BY MANN

FIGHT ON COMMISSION.

Other Parties Will Try to Force Democrats to Place Selves on Record.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—After all of the fireworks preparatory to the final passage by the house of the Underwood tariff bill had been set off tonight Representatives James A. Mann of Illinois, minority leader, raised a technicality which forced an adjournment until tomorrow with the measure still pending. The vote will be taken at 2 p. m.

Mr. Mann had introduced an amendment providing for a permanent tariff commission. Mr. Underwood opposed a roll call and Mann announced he would demand a roll call of the house after the reading of the "enrolled bill." It was impossible for the enrolling clerk to complete the enrollment of the bill before tomorrow afternoon.

This tariff commission clause is one of the battle grounds of the factions. Both Mann and Representative Murdock, floor leader of the Progressives, have been active in their advocacy of a commission. It is their purpose to place the Democrats on record against it by an aye and nay vote if possible. The Democrats do not want a roll call. If one should be granted there is no doubt the proposition will be defeated.

Steam Roller at Work.

The temporary victory of Mann was the only consolation the minority got out of the proceedings today and tonight. The great Democratic majority trampled on and killed every amendment which the minority members offered to the various schedules.

The only amendments passed were those which were offered by the ways and means committee, and most of these were of small importance. One amended the income tax section of the bill so as to exempt from its provisions the citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines.

The administrative clause allowing a 5 per cent discount in the duty on all goods brought into the United States in American ships brought a hard fight from the Republicans, who declared that it was "political buncombe," and that if it had any meaning it meant an advantage to "foreign vessels and foreign shipping combines." After an hour of vigorous debate an attempt to strike out the provision was defeated by a rolling chorus of Democratic "noes."

Democrats Beat Down Motion.

A parliamentary battle took place when Representative Payne took the floor and presented for the Republicans a lengthy motion which would have carried the bill back to the ways and means committee with instructions to alter various provisions.

It contained the Republican bill for a tariff commission, the Republican substitute for the wool schedule with a duty based on 18 cents a pound on raw wool, orders to prepare a cotton schedule according to the report of the tariff board, orders to change all rates on the basis of the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad and to substitute specific duties for ad valorem rates wherever possible.

Mann Warns House Democrats.

Amid a chorus of cheers and thunderous applause from the crowded floor and galleries the leaders on both sides closed the debate on the bill. Representative Mann told the Democrats that they must accept a tariff commission now, "or we will jam it down your throat in the next congress."

"Your bill has now been before the country for two months," said, "and already has been universally condemned. Business is more or less stagnated in the fear that your rates will injure industry. I hope that fear will disappear. But you are trying to continue prosperity by threatening prosperity, and if you succeed you will have accomplished the impossible. We turn over to you a prosperous country, where the people are happy, where there is work for all to do. Take it and see whether you can do as well as we have, for the country will judge you not by what you say here but by the future."

As the Republicans applauded, Representative Payne of New York arose. Shaking a finger at the Democratic side of the chamber, Mr. Payne shouted:

"If those of you who are voting for this bill and holding your noses because you don't like the odor of it were to vote according to your convictions, there would not be enough votes to insure its final passage."

Cheers Interrupt Speaker Clark.

There was a roar of applause from the Democratic side as Speaker Clark arose to reply. Democrats and Republicans alike rose out of respect to the speaker and stood until the applause subsided.

"In the language of the old hymn," the speaker began, "this is the way I long have sought."

He got no further. Applause that swept the floor and galleries left him silent in the midst of pandemonium. After some time the noise subsided.

"A few of us have been fighting for twenty years to accomplish what we are going to do in a few minutes," Mr. Clark continued. "We have faced a majority of 124 on the other side of the aisle. You now face a majority of 191."

The speaker congratulated Representative Underwood and the Democrats of the ways and means committee for their work in the preparation of the bill, and congratulated both sides of the house for the "courteous kindness and good feeling" that marked this consideration.

Says Manners Are Improving.

"It seems our manners as well as our politics are improving in this house," he said. "No tariff bill was ever so thoroughly considered in the house. Two weeks in the Democratic caucus—and they can say what they please about that caucus—brought about unanimity in the house. We brought in no rule to limit debate or amendment. You can't kick or squeal that you did not have an opportunity to offer your ideas as to what should be in the bill.

"The unanimity in the house was not brought about by the lash of the taskmaster. You Republicans say that the last time we passed the tariff bill we split up. This time we will pass the tariff bill and stick together.

"This bill is the consensus of the opinions of 218 men in the house, forty-nine in the senate, and one man in the White House. We've got a bill on which we can go to the country and the country will rise up and call us blessed. We want a wider market for our surplus products, and that's what this bill is going to give us."

Want Trade Agreements.

With the purpose of urging the senate to restore some of the protection removed in the Underwood tariff bill, a score of representatives of manufacturers have arrived for a conference tomorrow. They will propose an amendment giving the president authority to negotiate trade agreements increasing as well as decreasing duties.

Among the participants in the conference are John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and J. R. Watson of Chicago.

"The president is authorized and empowered to negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations, wherein mutual concessions are made looking toward freer trade relations and further reciprocal expansion of trade and commerce," said Mr. Glenn. "The manufacturers contend that if the president is given power to negotiate concessions he also should be given power to negotiate an increase when the situation demands it."

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Met at noon. Senator Bacon reintroduced his bill to define authority of president for intervention in Cuba in future. Attorney General McReynolds refused request for correspondence regarding Brazilian coffee valorization dispute. Passed sundry civil bill, carrying $117,000,000, after voting down Senator Gallinger's amendment to eliminate clause exempting labor and farmers' organizations from anti-trust prosecutions. Adjourned at 6:53 p. m. until 2 p. m. Friday.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 a. m. and resumed reading of tariff bill for amendment, taking up income tax provision. Representative C. B. Smith introduced bill to register lobbyists in congress.

FAT NEW YORK JOB GOES TO MITCHEL

Wilson Nominates Him to Succeed Loeb as Collector of the Port.

AVOID FACTIONAL WAR.

President and Rival Democrats of State Come to an Agreement.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—John Purroy Mitchel, independent Democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York City, was nominated today by President Wilson to be collector of the port of New York to succeed William Loeb Jr.

The selection brought about the White House termed "a happy solution" to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months. Candidates for the post, which pays $12,000 and carries with it the appointment of an army of employés in the country's biggest custom house, were numerous. Recently the president practically determined to appoint Frank K. Polk, a friend of Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, but Senator O'Gorman objected, saying a more active Democrat should get the place.

Break Was Expected.

For a time political circles expected a break between the administration and the New York senator. Within the last two days, however, friends of Mr. Mitchel, whose candidacy had been dropped at his own wish a month ago, renewed their efforts in his behalf and when the president went to the capitol today to talk with Senator O'Gorman about it the New York senator suggested Mr. Mitchel as the best man for the position.

The president was gratified to find that Mr. McAdoo, who originally had favored Mr. Mitchel, and Senator O'Gorman and himself were in agreement and he promptly sent the name to the senate.

Silent on Illinois Men.

Senator Lewis tried to interview President Wilson today on the question of jobs for Illinois Democrats. The president listened to Mr. Lewis with his well known attentiveness, but did not commit himself as to the particular Illinois Democrats who will get the jobs when they are distributed.

The senator asked the president whether he intended to pick a banker or a lawyer, like Eckels, for controller of the currency, whether the appointment was to go to Illinois at all, and if so, whether Chicago or the country would be recognized.

Mr. Wilson did not vouchsafe any information on these points, but referred Mr. Lewis to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo.

Senator Lewis said that personally he would prefer the selection of a Chicago banker, but he presented no candidate. Among the downstate candidates he indorsed Irving Shuman of Sullivan. He also recommended H. M. Pindell of Peoria for assistant secretary of the treasury.

The senator urged the appointment of Ira Nelson Morris of Chicago as minister to Spain, Portugal, or Belgium and of Charles J. Vopicka as minister to the Balkan countries.

and you will appreciate the luxury of a perfect fitting corset, giving readily to every movement of the body. Not only at first, but as long as it lasts, your corset will be the same; for a Warner is designed to fit comfortably and to give long wear. Every bone—in fact every seam—is placed to give the wearer ease.

All the Boning Is Double—

two thin strips in a single cover gives Warner's Corsets the suppleness so necessary, with less possibility of breaking than is possible with any single steel of equal weight.

Then the "Interlinings"— the strips that hold the bones in place are double. The boning cannot push through or tear the corset, or can it slip from place.

CITY PLANNERS HEAR C. H. WACKER

TALK CLOSES CONFERENCE

Outlines Local Ideals and Declares That Future of Project Is Assured.

"Our appeal is a human appeal, a moral appeal, an appeal to make Chicago better, not for the money that is in it, but for the sake of the higher mental, moral, and physical people that a perfectly arranged city will produce."

Thus did Charles H. Wacker, president of the Chicago plan commission, last night sound the keynote of municipal betterment. His address, a trenchant résume of the aims and achievements of the movement to improve the cities of the United States, was delivered at the banquet of the national conference on city planning at the Hotel La Salle and brought the fifth annual session of that body to a close.

Urges Removal of Obstacles.

As the first step to the achievement of better cities Mr. Wacker demanded the removal of what he called the four great obstacles that stand in the way of the movement through the country. These he tabulated:

Laws forbidding cities from condemning more property than is actually needed for an improvement.

Laws restricting the powers of cities to acquire property for the purpose of condemning insanitary districts.

Laws that prevent the issuance of long term bonds and prohibit the taxing of future generations, who will really get the full benefit of better cities.

Realty speculation and the absence of laws prohibiting land booming in municipal centers.

Must Follow Beaten Line.

"Our experience in Chicago," said Mr. Wacker, "has given the strongest possible conviction that the plan of a city must be in no way indefinite. The motto must be: First know you are right and then go ahead.

"The promoter of a city plan should be equipped with a scheme of development as nearly perfect as can be created. Then he must cling with bulldog tenacity to the essential features of the plan.

"City planning cannot succeed unless it has public support, and public support can be gained only for a single and definite plan. The people must believe the plan will stand every test of time and circumstance. The entire foundation upon which the superstructure will rest must, I believe, be completed before a single effort is made to secure public support for the city plan.

Would Put an End to Eyesores.

"In presenting the plan of Chicago we are doing all we can to emphasize the matter of improving living conditions. We hope through this doctrine to create a public opinion so strong that the authorities will give the required legislation. Such legislation will confer the authority to condemn insanitary districts for the purpose of rearrangement.

"The experience of Chicago has proved that there are four important legal obstacles to be removed before the science of city planning can become effective. One of these is the law forbidding cities from condemning more property than is actually needed for an improvement. Second—Our cities should have the power to acquire property for the pupose of eliminating insanitary districts. Third—The law should provide for issues of long term bonds, under proper restrictions, so that the citizens of the future who will get the benefits of the great improvements may contribute toward paying for such improvements.

Asks Curb on Speculation.

"Fourth, to provide for economy, legal means should be had to stop realty speculation based upon the certainty of increased values growing out of improvements under a city plan.

"Our appeal is a practical appeal to secure the interest and sympathy of a most practical people. It is a human appeal, a moral appeal, an appeal to make Chicago better, not for the money that is in it, but for the sake of the higher mental, moral, and physical people that a perfectly arranged city will produce. That is the kind of an appeal that wins in Chicago and will anywhere in America.

Plan Proved Vital Issue.

"We clearly see victory ahead. We have overcome public indifference. We have shown that the plan is a vital issue. We have won the confidence of administrative Chicago. Upon the plan of Chicago will surely be built the structure which we believe will make Chicago the most scientifically arranged, the most economically administered, and the most healthful and attractive great city in America."

POLICE SEIZE CAR AMBULANCE.

Two Stations Send Wagons to Escort Traction Victim in Company Charge to Their Hospital.

GARMENT UNION MAY STRIKE.

Business Agent Threatens to Call Out 10,000 Workers Today—400 Quit West Side Plant.

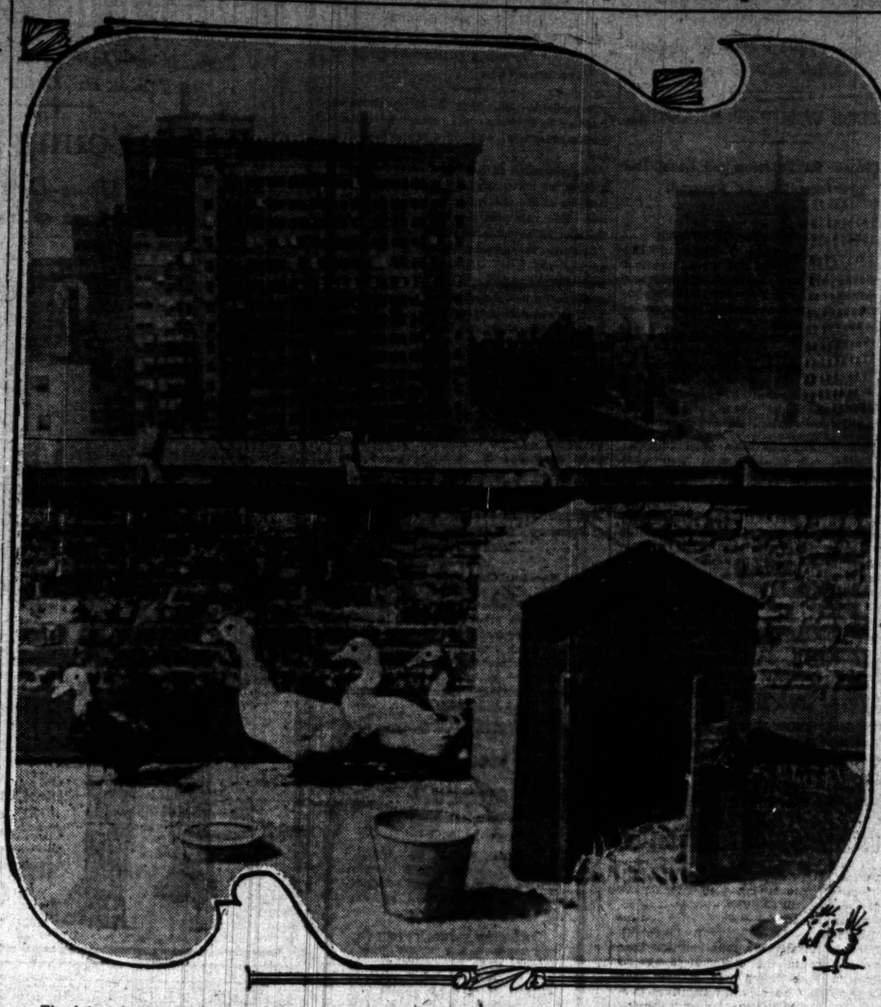
Ten thousand garment workers may be called out in a sympathy strike today, according to Samuel Levine, business agent for the United Garment Workers of America.

The tailoring houses affected will be twenty-five which belong to the same association as M. L. Oberndorf & Co. Four hundred workers were called out of the Oberndorf plant yesterday at 911 West Jackson boulevard.

The question of an open shop caused the strike. The officials of the United Garment Workers of America say their members who were organizing the shop, were ejected from the building.

Frank Brill, who lives at 1537 Elston avenue and is employed in the casting department of the L. Wolff Manufacturing company, 325 North Hoyne avenue, was assaulted and probably fatally beaten last evening by three fellow employes because he refused to go on a strike with them, according to the police.

Real Duck Farm on Roof of Loop Skyscraper.



The latest is the skyscraper duck farm. Six vigorous, healthy ducks are quacking happily on the roof of the Majestic Theater building. They were rescued recently from the trick bag of "the Great Raymond," who appeared at the theater, by A. Jacobs, the stage manager.

The ducks appeared to be crippled for life when they were picked up by Jacobs. He took them to the roof and hired the janitor to feed them. A duck house was built and a pool of water installed. The ducks grew and prospered.

"The elevation seems to agree with them," said Jacobs yesterday. "They are fat and husky. It is my intention to raise a whole roof full of ducks."

BURGLARS MUCH TOO SOCIABLE

F. S. Webber Objects to Four Visits of Robbers to His Flat.

Burglars last night made their fourth and most disastrous raid in less than three weeks on the apartment of F. S. Webber, 848 East Sixty-fifth street. Webber and his family returned at midnight from dining with friends and found the furniture overturned and everything of value that could be removed gone.

On April 20 the apartment was entered through a rear window and a purse and handbag with $10 in currency taken.

A week later Webber heard some one at the window and started up with his revolver, but the burglars left. Monday night they entered the room of Mrs. Webber's mother, Mrs. F. Otis Gould, threatened her with a revolver, made her give them $14, tied and gagged her, and escaped. She beat on the wall and roused her daughter.

Before leaving last night Webber left all the silver with a neighbor, Mrs. G. W. Hickox. Had he not he would doubtless have lost it. No one heard the burglars at work, and the responsibility placed on Mrs. Hickox kept her awake through the evening.

"They seem to be laying for me," said Webber when he got home. "No one else in the building is touched. They've taken about everything except the piano now, and I hope they're through. Four times is a little too often, and I think this part of town is entitled to a little police protection now and then. I have work to do and don't feel like sitting here with a gun all day."

IMMIGRANTS' LEAGUE SAVES POLISH GIRL FROM EXILE.

Wife of Young Woman's Brother Causes Proceedings to Deport Her, Which May Be Dropped.

Through the intervention of the Immigrants' Protective league and the woman's auxiliary of the Polish National alliance deportation charges against Hedwiga Borejszo, 18 years old, a Polish girl, may be dropped. After spending three days in the woman's annex at the South Clark street police station the girl passed last night at the Hotel Sherman under charge of Mrs. Paul B. Lipinski of Hammond, Ind., who agreed to sign her bond and give the girl work at her home in Hammond.

The charges against the girl were filed three weeks ago by Mrs. Sophia Borejszo of Boston, wife of Hedwiga's brother. Hedwiga arrived at her brother's home in Boston about a year ago. Three months ago the girl was ordered out of the house by her brother's wife. Her brother then took her to Chicago, hoping to find work for his sister here among the Polish residents.

Having little money, the brother engaged a furnished room at 1722 West Monroe street, where they lived until the girl obtained employment in a grocery store at 943 South Wood street. The basis of Mrs. Borejszo's charges are that her husband and the girl lived in one room and that they are not brother and sister.

A half hour later Cate saw a familiar suitcase in a pawnbroker's window, and proved by its contents it was his. Horace Durrett of 841

NEW TROUSERS LEAD TO WOE

Motorman Falls Downstairs in Hallway "Dressing Room."

GETS DAMAGES OF $125.

Jury Hears Injury Tale, but Disallows $1,000 Claim.

A new suit of clothes almost led to the death of Martin F. Barry, 707 South Forty-fourth court. Limping and holding his hand to his back, he appeared before Judge Martin.

Wishing to visit his mother in Iowa in some of the glory ascribed to Solomon, he first joined a "suit club." He drew a suit and went to the tailor shop of Frank J. Svoboda at 2029 Milwaukee avenue.

On June 11, 1912, he made a second visit to the shop to try on his new suit. The coat and the vest caused no difficulty. He could see they had the correct lines without inconvenience. But he wished to try on the trousers. There was no vacant room for the accommodation of particular customers. So the tailor shoved Barry into a dark hallway to disrobe.

No sooner had Barry thrust his right foot into the right leg of his new trousers than he lost his balance. He fell down stairs leading to a cellar and lay a bruised, crumpled heap on a hard cement floor, one foot in his new trousers and one in the old.

Fifty-six days passed before Barry could take up his work as a motorman, and his visit to his mother in Iowa was postponed. He nursed his back and his grievance until he appeared in court craving $1,000 in damages from the tailor.

The jury returned a verdict awarding Barry $125.

PRISONER TAKEN ON TOUR BY HOYNE

GIVES DETAILS OF JAUNT.

Says He Sought Clew to Higher Ups from Alleged Spook Trust Swindler.

After a three day jaunt through three states, State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne and his secretary, Edward Fleming, returned to Chicago last night with their prisoner, James T. Ryan, alias "Prof. Charles T. Crane," the clairvoyant who was brought back from Wyoming on Monday on extradition as an alleged spook swindler.

Associates and attorneys of the prisoner have been combing the jail and police lockups of the city for the prisoner for the last three days. Strenuous efforts have been made to serve a habeas corpus writ on the men in whose custody Ryan has been held. The mayor and heads of the city police department were summoned yesterday before Circuit Judge Kickham Scanlan, and a threat of contempt of court proceedings was made against those responsible for the man's detention.

Tells of Journeyings.

"We—Mr. Fleming, Crane, and myself—left Chicago at 11:30 Monday night," said Mr. Hoyne. "We took the prisoner from the Hyde Park station. We got a train at the Englewood railroad station and rode to St. Joseph, Mich. We reached there at 8:30 on Tuesday. I saw some lawyers and friends of mine there who recognized me and we decided to leave. I didn't want to have to extradite Ryan from Michigan.

"We left St. Joseph at 8:30 Tuesday night and went to South Bend, Ind. We traveled by interurbans. This morning I read in the Chicago papers that we were wanted back here, so we took a train. I telegraphed to Mrs. Hoyne and she met us at the Englewood station with an automobile. Ryan is not in a police station tonight. He is in my personal custody and will be turned over to the sheriff in the morning, or I will present him in Judge Scanlan's court as soon as it opens.

Tells Reason of Trip.

"We took the trip, because we wanted to talk to the man before his associates in Chicago could get to him. We are after the higher ups. Ryan is just an instrument. He knows nothing about this Attorney Davis acting in his behalf. Davis must be retained by some one else to act for Ryan.

"I understood before I left that Ben Short was to represent him, but Ryan knows nothing of this, either. I'll take the responsibility from the shoulders of Detective Murnane. In turning his prisoner over to me instead of the sheriff he followed what has been the custom of the office for years."

Threatens Contempt Action.

"If I find any one is willfully withholding the prisoner from this court, I will consider him in contempt of court," said Judge Scanlan yesterday at the court hearing on the writ of habeas corpus.

Acting Superintendent of Police Schuettler was called and asked if he knew of the whereabouts of Mr. Hoyne or the prisoner. He said he did not.

First Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston told Judge Scanlan he had not seen Mr. Hoyne since Monday.

Detectives Plead Ignorance.

Assistant State's Attorney George Hiss and Detective W. Murnane, who brought Crane back to Chicago from Wyoming, declared they did not know where Mr. Hoyne or the prisoner had gone.

"It looks as though you were the 'goat,'" said Judge Scanlan to the detectives. "You should have obeyed the law and turned this man over to the sheriff, no matter what your orders were. Mr. Hoyne had no right to break the law."

AUTOISTS AVERT RIVER PLUNGE.

Car Swerves After Breaking Chain at Clark Street Bridge and Owner Is Arrested.

Lack of safety gates last night nearly resulted in an automobile plunging into the river at the Clark street bridge.

C. W. Hagemann, manager of the Chicago branch of the Pabst Brewing company, living at 1912 Lincoln avenue, accompanied by a friend, failed to notice the red light warning at the south approach and struck the loose hanging chain across the roadway. The chain snapped, but the car fortunately swerved to one side, narrowly missing several pedestrians.

Mr. Hagemann was arrested, but was released on a cash bond.

LAWMAKERS FOOLED BY BOUT?

Young People's League Says Exhibition Was Rehearsed.

LEGISLATOR NOT A BOXER?

No Record of Representative Hilton Having Been Fighter.

Protest against the bill at Springfield to permit boxing was not diminished by the "pink tea demonstration" arranged for the edification of legislators at the state capital Tuesday night. On the contrary, the Young People's Civic league yesterday attacked not only the bill, but also the demonstration.

A statement of the league, appearing over the signature of Miss Mary F. Balcomb, general secretary, and directed to the state legislature, calls attention to such little features as discrepancies in the merits of the contestants, Johnny Coulon, for example, barely half the age of his veteran opponent.

Hilton No Boxer?

The letter continues: "Representative George Hilton, we understand, claims to have been a professional boxer at one time. So far as we can find, his name does not appear in the records. We are privately of the opinion the search of records might be extended to the time of Noah without bringing to light the name of Representative Hilton as a boxer. Peter Boyle, with whom he boxed, is about 45 years old, and has not fought for fifteen years. Another fine match to show what the real thing is, wasn't it?

"Mickey Sheridan boxed with his instructor, Fred Gilmore, and if any one ever knew a boxer to hurt his instructor we wish he would kindly inform us. Besides, Gilmore is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, and Sheridan is only 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 120 pounds.

McFarland Bout Rehearsed?

"Packey McFarland, one of the best boxers at present, went up against Willie Schaefer. Willie Schaefer has for some time been a trainer of McFarland. Would it be too much to suppose the bout they pulled off was well rehearsed and planned out beforehand?

"We sincerely condemn the boxing exhibition of Tuesday evening. We condemn it because it was indeed a sorry spectacle to see a legislative body attend an exhibition that is absolutely prohibited by a law passed by the same legislative body. It was a farce, a pink tea affair, compared with the genuine article.

"It in no way illustrated the chief dangers of legalizing boxing, namely, the practical permission of prize fighting; the running of prize fight picture films on our nickel theaters; the graft connected with the giving of no decisions; the viciousness of the politico-commercial feature, and the criminality of the state in encouraging its young men to go into the profession of prize fighting."

BONFIRE FATAL TO LITTLE GIRL.

Burned from Head to Knees in Front of Home, Dies at Hospital.

Rosie Skertsky was playing with a half dozen children of her age last night in front of her home at 11725 Sangamon stret. A bonfire was started. In a few minutes Rosie, burned from head to knees, was being carried into her home unconscious. The other little children ran as she screamed and the flames burned her little dress. A few hours later policemen were taking the report of her death at the Pullman hospital.

HOUSE AGREES ON JUUL AMENDMENT

Downstate Legislators Demand and Get Clause They Advocated.

COMES UP AGAIN TODAY.

Rapid Passage Expected Once It Is Presented for Reading in Lower Branch.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Agreement between the downstate and Chicago city hall interests was reached tonight, which means, probably, no further hindrance to the rapid passage of the proposed amendment to the Juul law.

Tonight's conference agreed that the county tax rate maximum shall remain at 45 cents instead of 60 cents as was inserted in the original bill in the senate committee on judiciary.

The township rate, which was excluded from the exempting clause in the senate bill at the request of a Will county delegation, is to be restored by the house, and as a counteracting proposition in behalf of the southern Illinois counties the district school tax in all counties of less than 150,000 population is to be excluded from the scaling process, not applying to Cook county.

This agreement seems to satisfy all concerned, and the bill will be amended on second reading tomorrow. The downstate representatives voted together today and stopped action on the bill as it then stood on a test vote of 75 to 50.

CONFIRMS DUNNE CANDIDATES; OPPOSITION TO SOME SHOWN.

Senate Postpones One and Puts O. K. on W. F. Grower of Chicago as Park Commissioner After Debate.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—The senate went into executive session today to confirm the appointments of Gov. Dunne presented to the senate April 29. For the first time objection was raised to some of the candidates. The appointment of William F. Grower of Chicago as West Chicago park commissioner was separated from the others and that of Van D. Roughton of Sullivan as a member of the board of managers of the reformatory at Pontiac was postponed until tomorrow. The other appointments were confirmed by a vote of 44 to 0. Grower's appointment, after a lengthy debate, was confirmed by a vote of 34 to 3.

Bill to Appropriate $10,000 for Expenses Passes Second Reading in Illinois House.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—The house appropriating bill, carrying $10,000 for the expenses of the committee to investigate the voting machine deal in Cook county, went through second reading in the house this morning, and may be up for passage on third reading tomorrow if it is engrossed in time. Much of the opposition which was manifested in the earlier fight for the adoption of the Butts resolution of investigation has been dissipated, and if it is called up the probabilities are that it will be passed.

The registers for January, four of them, are kept in the auditing department of the hotel on the second floor. Three of the registers for January were found on a desk near the door of the room. Search through the three failed to show the foregoing names.

The fourth register could not be found. None of the clerks knew where it was. Mr. Bering called Louis Schopin, auditor of the hotel, and inquired about the registers.

How Book Was Stolen.

"Two weeks ago," Mr. Schopin said, "two men came to the hotel and asked to see the registers for January and I laid them out for the men. They didn't ask any questions or state any reasons why they wanted to see them. It is customary to show the registers to persons who inquire and I paid no attention to them.

"They told me, after they had looked some little time and apparently found what they wanted, that they wanted to take one of the registers downstairs to show the clerk. I let them take it. That's the last that I thought about the books."

Mr. Bering and E. W. Danahy, assistant manager, searched through the "arrival" book, where all the names are listed, for the information clerk on arrival. The names "T. D. Duncan and wife" and "J. F. Miller and wife" were found. They had gone to the hotel Jan. 17.

They were assigned to the parlor suite, consisting of a parlor and two bedrooms, according to the entry in the arrival book.

Disclaim Knowledge of O'Hara.

Mr. Bering, Mr. Danahy, and J. Conway-Hutchins, also assistant manager, said that they did not know Barrett O'Hara, lieutenant governor, until about two weeks ago when he was pointed out to them. None of the clerks knew him until recently. A picture of Lieut. Gov. O'Hara was shown to the clerks, but none could recall having seen Mr. O'Hara until a few weeks ago.

None of the clerks could recall even the appearances of the four that made up the party in the parlor suite.

Mr. Bering said that he knew Tom Vredenberg of Springfield and that he often stopped at the hotel. He said he didn't recall that Vredenberg had been at the hotel recently.

"The register undoubtedly has been stolen," Mr. Bering said. "We always let persons look at the registers when they want to and never before has one been stolen. It's possible that the auditor may be able to locate the register in the morning, but it can't be found now."

NEGRESS' BURIAL UP TO COURT.

Chicago Husband Takes Case Against Forest Home Cemetery Before U. S. Supreme Tribunal on Appeal.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Whether Chicago cemeteries are violating the constitution of the United States in excluding negroes from burial is a question that will be decided by the supreme court in consequence of an appeal filed today by John B. Gaskill, a Chicago colored man.

Gaskill buried four children in Forest Home cemetery between 1890 and 1906. In 1912 his wife died, but the cemetery company refused him the burial privilege as a result of a rule it had adopted in 1907 excluding negroes.

Mandamus proceedings were brought against the company by Gaskill, but Judge McGoorty dismissed his petition. This decision was affirmed by the Illinois Supreme court. Gaskill then appealed to the federal Supreme court while the body of his wife lies in the receiving vault of Waldheim cemetery awaiting permanent burial.

'HARMONY' DINNER ANGERS M'GOVERN

SLAPS LA FOLLETTE AIDS

Foe of Senator Declares Meeting Is Not "Republican," but a Factional Rally.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—[Special.]—Gov. McGovern, who is, contrary to the wishes and consent of Senator La Follette, a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Stephenson, today threw a bomb among the La Follette political lieutenants when he publicly announced that he would not attend the so-called Republican harmony banquet being arranged by the La Follette men.

He declared it an insult for a member of the arrangements committee to request him to buy a ticket to it.

Never Consulted About Banquet.

In his statement the governor says:

"No one has at any time consulted me about such a banquet. Until today no one had ever mentioned the matter to me, directly or indirectly.

"This morning Sol Levitan came in and asked me to buy a ticket to the banquet. I replied that I had not been invited, that for him and others to arrange a 'Republican banquet' in Madison without consulting me in any manner until long after invitations had been sent out broadcast through the state and the matter advertised in the newspapers and then to approach me for the first time with the request that I buy some tickets was little better than an insult, that I wanted no tickets, and should not attend the gathering.

Had No Interest in Dinner.

"Mr. Levitan replied that he did not expect when he came in that I would attend, but he wanted to give me a chance to buy a ticket anyway. I said that the enterprise he had in hand would not be a 'Republican' banquet at all, but a factional rally instead; that I did not care to have anything to do with it, and that he and his friends would have to play the political game they were in without me."

"The statement of the governor was issued as a result of an item in a Madison newspaper hostile to him, which declared that "several weeks ago Gov. McGovern was asked to participate in this banquet, but refused." As a result of the governor's statement his followers generally will not attend the banquet.

DELAY ACTION ON HEARST CASE.

H.-H. Democracy Will Take Up Merrion Resolution at Session Next Wednesday.

Efforts by James V. Merrion, 5621 South Peoria street, to have the Harrison faction of the local Democracy drop W. R. Hearst and his two newspapers because they have been attacking President Wilson were sidetracked yesterday by the executive committee of the H.-H. County Democracy.

President Miles Devine announced, however, that consideration of Merrion's resolution would come up before the entire organization next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Merrion says he and his friends will make a battle for the adoption of the resolution. The friends of Mayor Harrison, who are said to be lukewarm toward Hearst, do not relish reaching the break so soon, and it is possible that another effort to sidetrack the resolution will be made.

REPORTS OUTER HARBOR BILL

Kleeman Urges Hurry Up Action After Agreement.

GUARDS CALUMET MEASURE.

No Chance for Friction and Local Improvement Seems Assured.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—The O'Connor outer harbor bill, already passed by the senate, was reported favorably late this afternoon by Representative Kleeman, chairman of the house committee on drainage and waterways.

After the committee had acted Representative Kleeman made the statement that he had urged hurry-up action in order to demonstrate to the people of Chicago and the state generally that he is not attempting to hold up the outer harbor bill by putting up the Calumet harbor measure against it.

Harbor's Friends Make Agreement.

Kleeman said an agreement had been reached between the South Chicago people in the Calumet region and with the city authorities of Chicago, that there shall be no opposition on the part of the city hall administration to the passage of the Kleeman bill in the senate. Upon this assurance, had presumably with the city hall men who are in Springfield, the house committee action was taken today.

An amendment was inserted in the O'Connor bill, by agreement of all concerned, Chairman Kleeman said, to make it conform strictly to the outer harbor bill which passed the senate two years ago, affecting the section which provides that the outer harbor might be financed by the sanitary district and then turned over to the city.

Sees Bill's Early Passage.

This agreement, Mr. Kleeman said, had been omitted from the senate bill by mistake. He gave it as his impression that the O'Connor bill will be passed by the house without delay. The Kleeman bill in the senate is in the senate committee on drainage.

"UNCLE JOE" SELLS FURNITURE.

And One of the Chief Objects Is a Well Worn "Whist" Table.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—The last material tie that bound "Uncle Joe" Cannon to his career of thirty-eight years in Washington was severed today when a large part of the furniture in his residence at 1014 Vermont avenue was sold at auction and the remainder packed up and shipped to Danville, Ill.

"What am I offered now for this beautiful table?" demanded the auctioneer at one stage of the sale. "It is not often you find so rare a table—one that will be specially prized by the devotees of whist."

All the bidders sat up and took notice immediately. Some of them said it was a poker table if they ever saw one, and one that had seen hard use.

"I'll bet history has been made around that table," said one man as he raised the last bid a half dollar.

DELAY ON ELECTION CONTESTS.

Illinois House Committee Postpones Indefinitely Action on Cases of McCormick and Hennebry.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—The house elections committee today postponed indefinitely the election contests in the cases of Medill McCormick, Progressive, and Michael Hennebry. The meeting was called to dispose of these two cases, the only ones remaining before the committee.

HOUSE KILLS GORMAN'S BILL TO REPEAL CIVIL SERVICE.

Motion of Representative Hull to Strike Out the Enacting Clause Adopted by Viva Voce Vote.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—Representative Thomas N. Gorman's bill, repealing the state civil service law, was killed in the house today.

The test came on Representative Gorman's motion to table Representative Hull's motion, to strike the enacting clause from the bill. The vote was 45 yeas to 86 nays, and the motion to table was declared lost.

Pending the announcement of the result of the roll call, Representative Gorman moved that further consideration of the measure be postponed. On a rising vote this motion was defeated—57 yeas to 68 nays. The Hull motion was then carried upon a viva voce vote.

Browne, Democrat, said the civil service appointee, no longer responsible to political party, becomes mildewed, careless, and no good.

Grunau, Progressive, said in its present form in Illinois civil service is a farce, but he would vote for it because his party platform advocated it.

Home Made Recipes For Beauty Seekers

TRY THIS, IF TOO FAT.—The following well-known fat-dissolvent costs little to prepare and is unfailing in results: Dissolve 4 ounces parmotin in 1½ pints hot water. The dose is a tablespoonful before each meal. This is harmless, acts rapidly and does not leave any unpleasant after effects. Furthermore, when the weight is reduced to where you want it, the flesh is not flabby nor is the skin wrinkled. Seldom does the weight increase once it is reduced by this method.

FOR DANDRUFF OR OILINESS.—In a half-pint alcohol stir one ounce quinsoin, then add ½ pint water. This makes a reliable and inexpensive tonic for hair and scalp, and its use overcomes dandruff and oiliness as well as makes brittle, "stringy" hair soft, fluffy and lustrous. Continued using produces a luxuriant growth and keeps both scalp and hair in a healthy condition.

EYE-TONIC.—If eyes feel tired and are dull and inflamed, you need an eye-tonic. Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. One or two drops of this in each eye every day is all that is needed to strengthen your eyes and make them bright and sparkling. This tonic will not smart or burn and is a great aid to those who wear glasses. It makes the eyes appear brilliant and full of expression. Women on the stage keep their much-admired eyes beautiful by using this tonic. All find it very strengthening to weak, inflamed, dull and tired eyes and for granulated eye-lids.

TO REMOVE WRINKLES.—A sure wrinkle-cure which can be made at home at very little expense. It is unlike creams containing oils or animal fat as it neither grows hair or makes the flesh loose and flabby. Just dissolve an ounce of almoxoin, which you can get from any druggist, in one-half pint cold water, and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand for one day. To remove wrinkles, apply a thick coat of this cream-jelly and leave on over night. This protects the skin and allows all the blood action to be used in constructing new texture. Then wash it out of the pores and massage thoroughly with more of the cream. It makes the skin soft and velvety, while it is unequaled in reducing large pores.

A MAGIC HAIR-REMOVER.—Make sufficient paste with powdered delatone and water to cover the hairy surface, apply, and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is harmless and will not discolor the skin. Any druggist can supply delatone, but be sure you get it in an original package to insure purity and strength.—Advertisement.

2236 E. 79th St., Cleveland, Ohio.—"I had a very bad white scale on my forehead and scalp. I first noticed trouble with my face when it always got very red spotted whenever I washed. My face burned and itched and I could hardly keep my hands off it. It got red and inflamed in a small place and my eyes swelled shut for three days. Then this trouble went to my hair. It came in a hard scale on the scalp and itched terribly and when I scratched the water came out of the scalp and made my hair all wet. Then the hair fell out in handfuls until I was very bald in spots. After a while my ears got a scale on them and they cracked open until the blood came out.

"Then I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some more. I had used the Cuticura Soap for some time, but not the Cuticura Ointment. SENATE APPROVES VOTES FOR WOMEN

NO AMENDMENT IS ADDED.

Mrs. Sherman Booth of Illinois Equal Suffrage Association Voices Her Joy.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—The senate this afternoon, 29 to 15, passed the bill which grants to women the right to vote upon all offices in Illinois which are not created specifically by the constitution.

It passed, not in the mangled form in which a similar measure went out from the senate two years ago, but precisely as the women, as represented by Mrs. Sherman Booth, chairman of the legislative committee of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, and Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the association, wished it to pass.

It is to be reported to the house tomorrow and it is likely prompt action will be taken by the house committee on elections, to which the bill will go. The developments today and the strong speeches made by prosuffrage senators caused the women in charge of the bil lto be optimistic over the prospect for ultimate enactment.

Mrs. Booth and Mrs. Trout say every senator who pledged himself to the support of the bill was recorded on the right side of the roll call.

Senator Juul a Recruit.

There was one notable recruit, Senator Juul, who had opposed all suffrage measures heretofore. In a speech on the passage of the bill Senator Juul declared by reason of his connection with the O'Hara commission his insight into wage conditions and the condition of women generally in Illinois had changed his view of the situation. He said he is convinced the men of Illinois are not performing their duty toward the women of the state.

Senator Hugh S. Magill of Princeton called the bill up immediately after the third reading order had been reached. Opposition was manifested from some of the Chicago senators, represented by Senator Denvir, who wanted the bill recalled to second reading and an amendment inserted providing for a state wide referendum on the measure.

Senator Magill pushed the bill to a roll call. Senator Cleary of Galena spoke strongly for the bill, asserting it to be the duty of the legislature to enact it and not a favor to the women.

Lineup of the Senators.

Denvir,

Mrs. Booth Tells Her Delight.

Speaking for the women, Mrs. Booth, who handled the campaign before the legislature, said:

"Illinois has taken the first step which may place it as the first state east of the Mississippi to grant the right of franchise to women.

"Through the personal influence and the keen legislative sagacity of Senator Magill and the fair treatment given it in committee, the bill passed the senate without amendment. This is the first time the unamended bill has passed either house. Senators Magill, Juul, Clark, and Cleary backed it by forceful speaches.

"A great help has been the attitude of the press.

"The suffrage clubs in Chicago and Illinois have given constant support. Statewide organization of suffrage forces is becoming an accomplished fact under the able direction of the state president, Mrs. George Wilbur Trout."

SUFFRAGETS TRY TO BLOW UP ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, LONDON

Place Bomb Near Altar, but Mechanism Fails to Work—More Buildings Are Fired by Militants.

LONDON, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to the militant suffragets.

The verger who conducts sightseers through the edifice was making his rounds this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigation he found a heavy parcel done up in brown paper. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffraget newspaper wrapped up with the bomb.

Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral the police found a similar bomb like package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street and a tin canister believed to contain explosives was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

Suffraget "arson squads" were also busy early this morning. They burned down a pavilion on the cricket field at Bishops park, Fulham, in the west end of London, and also set fire to an unoccupied house at Finchley in the north of London. Suffraget placards and quantities of chemicals were found in the vicinity of both fires.

"What right have you to pose as an American citizen when you are registered as a voter in the parish of Dornoch in the county of Sutherland, Scotland? You are voter No. 11 on the official list received by me today from the sheriff of the county. Why did King Edward offer you a dukedom?"

Mr. Carnegie is described on the voting list as "Occupation, gentleman. Place of abode, Skibo castle."

SAYS CARNEGIE IS AMERICAN.

New York, May 7.—"Mr. Carnegie is an American citizen," James Bertram, his private secretary, said today. "He became so without naturalization because he came here as a minor when he was 11 years old and his father was naturalized before he became of age. If he is registered as a voter in Scotland, he had nothing to do with it personally."

'ROLLER' CRUSHES SENATOR SHERMAN

MAKES MAIDEN SPEECH.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—With the Democratic steam roller demolishing all proposed modifications the senate this evening passed the sundry civil appropriation bill with the proviso that labor unions and farmers' organizations shall be exempted from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Practically the entire fight on the bill was over this exemption, and the feature of today's discussion was the effort of Senator Sherman to put through a compromise in his maiden appearance in debate. He offered an amendment providing that the appropriation for enforcing the anti-trust law should not be used to prosecute unions seeking to increase wages or better laboring conditions "without violence or interference with the lawful rights of another" or farmers' associations seeking to maintain reasonable prices for their products.

Have Right to Strike, He Says.

Senator Sherman, in defending his amendment, said that labor unions have the undoubted right to strike, to combine to obtain better wages, safer and more sanitary working conditions.

"If they go beyond that," he said, "if they seek rights by secondary boycott that are quite well known—if they go beyond secondary boycotts and insist upon the rights to trespass upon private property to reach their ends through a picket into public places and public highways, and intrude upon the private possessions of others, I do not concede they have that right.

Points Out Amendment's Strength.

"If they undertake by secondary boycott to destroy the employer in his business and going beyond the immediate organization that demands an increase of wages, the shortening of hours, or improved sanitary conditions and the safeguarding of the machinery or condition under which they work—going beyond that so that they embrace within the area of their operation not only a state but the entire country, and affect every employer who may be situated in a like manner, although no controversy exists as to him that becomes a secondary boycott; it is an interference with the rights of others and it is covered by this amendment."

Landlady Smells Gas, Forces Door, and Calls Aid.

Two years have passed since the wife of Jacob A. Lund first lost her reason. Lund took her to the asylum at Kankakee, and returned to Chicago to be both father and mother to his two children, Arthur, 14 years old, and Lillian, four years younger. Lund is a jeweler.

For two years he continued the struggle, meanwhile brooding over the misfortune that had robbed him of a helpmate and his children of a mother.

Attaches Hose to Gas Jet.

Lund lived with the children at 6327 South Peoria street. Early yesterday he attached the end of a rubber hose to the tip of a gas jet in the room where he slept with the children. The other end he wound around a post of the bed and placed it under the bed covering.

At 6:30 in the morning Mrs William N. Tyler, from whom the Lunds rent an apartment, detected the odor of gas.

After an hour and a half of work the pulmotor revived Lund and his children. Mrs. Lund is recovering her reason. Lund will be prosecuted.

Love Unrequited; Kills Self.

Despondent over his unrequited love for Miss Mabel Snow, Millard G. Fletcher early yesterday morning sent a bullet into his right temple in front of her home, at 5631 Normal avenue. He died in the German Deaconess hospital two hours later, and letters in his pocket gave the reason for his act. In a note to the girl's parents he asked that the funeral services be conducted from their home. Fletcher was a salesman in Hillman's department store and earned $12 a week. He lived at 227 East Thirtieth street. He was 24 years old.

OIL SCANDAL RUMORS AFLOAT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 8, 3 a. m.—The Times says that circumstantial rumors are current regarding the oil contracts for the navy which involve allegations as to the connections of members of the cabinet and others with intending contractors. The Times appeals to the government to take the house of commons into its confidence in the matter of the oil contracts and avoid the suspicion and exaggeration which have arisen from the Marconi shares speculation affair.

HUMAN TISSUES CLING TO LIFE

PROVED BY MANY TESTS.

Regular Growth, Not Merely Degenerative Movement, Seen in the Substance.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Life remaining in parts of the human tissue after the organism has died, like the snake's tail, which the school boy believes does not die until after the sun has set, was discussed today at the closing session of the congress of American physicians and surgeons.

According to papers read by eminent authorities, life in cells taken from a living animal organism has been sustained under certain conditions for more than four years after the animal from which they were taken ceased to live.

May Live Several Years.

That it ultimately would be demonstrated that life in severed cells could be sustained for as long a period as the organism would live under normal conditions was the view taken by Dr. Ross G. Harrison of Yale university, who spoke on "The Life of Tissues Outside the Organism from the Embryological Standpoint."

He was the first speaker on the general topic, "On the Development of Tissues in Vitro." He was followed by Drs. Montrose T. Burrows of Cornell University Medical college and Robert A. Lambert of Columbia university.

Regular Growth Goes On.

The discussion was participated by Drs. Leo Loeb of St. Louis and Warren H. Lewis of Baltimore. All maintained that life could be maintained in severed cells and that there could be regular growth in the actual cell divisions and not merely degenerative movement. It also was declared that life could be suspended and made active again through the application of a proper medium.

Ella Ledy, Who Disappeared from Home on May 5, Sought by the Police.

Police last night were asked to look for Ella Ledy, 3 years old, who has been missing from home since May 5. Parents of the child, who lived at 2501 West Van Buren street, say they believe she wandered from her home and became lost and that some one picked her up and is caring for her.

THE KLEEMAN BILL.

There are nineteen senators from Cook county.

The Kleeman bill proposes to tax the constituents of every senator for the benefit of a gigantic fraud to be perpetrated in the form of a "harbor" to be located in Lake Calumet at the extreme south end of the city of Chicago.

The passage of the Kleeman bill will bring millions of dollars into the pockets of far-sighted speculators who have picked up real estate for a nominal figure in anticipation of this legislation.

The harbor stealers have arranged a cabal to defeat the bills of all senators who oppose their scheme.

It is not to be expected that the nineteen senators from Cook county will rob their constituents to enrich the promoters or to save their personal legislation.

EDUCATING ARTHUR.

There is a temptation to suggest that the police do not overwork themselves searching for the "assailant" of Prince Arthur, son of the Hon. James Aloysius Quinn. What the "assailant" did to Prince Arthur was a bit irregular, but no doubt it did him good. Ordinarily society shudders when a miscreant bounces a water bottle off the head of a citizen, but in this case society is philosophical.

Arthur is such a restless boy that the application of water bottles to his head might be educative. If James were not such a fond and doting parent he might employ a water bottle carrier to follow Arthur and bounce the bottle at regular intervals.

NEVER PRECIPITOUS.

Springfield, Ill., May 6.—[Special.]—The Ettelson private bank bill was considered at length today by the senate committee on banks and banking. No desire was manifested to press the measure unduly, and the committee postponed action until next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

If there be anything of which the private bankers in Illinois must be certain, it is that there is no desire in the legislature "to press the matter unduly." In spite of the "yellow journalism" of which Private Banker Cole of Bushnell, Ill., spoke with such decorous and whiskered indignation (undoubtedly Mr. Cole has the side variety temperamentally, whether physically or not), and in spite of the collapse of uninspected and unregulated institutions using the word "bank," in spite of scandal, and in spite of expostulation, the progress of this particular reform is the most placid, glacierlike movement known to legislation.

THE TRAIL OF THE QUACK.

There will always be people who will prefer the crooked highway to the straight and narrow path in both the legal and medical professions. The quack doctor and the shyster lawyer will always find gullible persons to prey on in spite of all efforts made to discredit and eliminate them.

Nevertheless the action of 500 leading surgeons in founding the American College of Surgery, with headquarters in Chicago, will go a long ways toward protecting the public. This institution will act as an examining body and will issue certificates to practice surgery only to those practitioners who are properly qualified. While this body has no legal power to eliminate the bungler or quack, it furnishes the public with a standard by which to distinguish between the quack and the reputable surgeon.

The curb on the shyster lawyer, announced simultaneously by the Chicago Bar association, is fully as important. Members of the association are now planning to establish a bureau which will offer legal aid free to poor prisoners in the county jail and in police stations. Such a step will discourage legal quackery by making it unprofitable and even risky.

WILD WOMEN AND VOTES.

The wild women of England merely outlaw themselves when they continue militancy after a hearing and a vote on the measure they advocate. A people or a part of a people denied either are justified in using violence. If Mr. Asquith were in position to refuse and did refuse to permit a suffrage bill to come before parliament, or if the government majority supported him in this refusal, the wild women would be warranted in attacking the government.

Dynamite may be a fair instrument to make Mr. Asquith give consideration to a suffrage bill, but it is not an argument to make him change his opinion of it. The wild women are without excuse. If they were rational they would not be without hope. The division on the suffrage bill apparently was influenced by causes not inherent in the bill or provoked by its purposes. Irish members may be opposed to suffrage, but evidently their object in opposing it on the vote of Tuesday was to prevent the possibility of interference with the home rule bill.

The division in the cabinet shows how nearly the suffrage cause, in spite of the wild women, has captured the Liberal government. Rationalists in the suffrage ranks will be encouraged.

APPLYING THE ARGUMENT.

Mr. Charles H. Hamill's statement of defects and absurdities in the application of the initiative and referendum, made in argument against the resolution pending in the house of representatives, will not stand analysis.

"On a federal referendum the Swiss refused to vote a salary for the secretary of the legation at Washington," he said. "In Zurich they rejected the law reducing the hours of work in factories and protecting women and children; they also refused to sanction a law for compulsory insurance for working men. The initiative was used to prohibit the slaughter of kosher meat and the orthodox Swiss Jew now has to import his meat.

"In 1908 the single tax was rejected in Oregon; in 1910, approved; and in 1912 the amendment of 1910 was repealed—all by initiative. At the instance of Portsmouth, on the Upper Rogue river, an initiative bill was adopted forbidding 100 farmers in a small county below to earn a part of their livelihood by fishing with seines. The legislature repealed the act, but the governor vetoed the repeal on the ground that he was bound by the initiative."

It is hardly to be supposed that Mr. Hamill or any other opponent of the initiative and referendum wishes to judge any degree of popular government by its absurdities.

The people elected the Bartzen-Burg outfit to the county board. They elected the Smyth outfit to the sanitary district board. They elect Michael Kenna, John Coughlin, John Powers, Edward Cullerton, etc., etc., to the city council time after time.

They turned the care of their sick and dependent over to men whose language makes the record of the county board unprintable and whose intelligence does not go much further than to recognize the importance of a pay roll.

They turned the district which protects their water supply over to men whose only demonstrated desire is to spend a surplus and eat up the excessive returns from taxation.

What then? Shall it be proposed that suffrage be restricted in a community which can do these foolish things or that it shall be taken away from this community entirely?

If we are to judge the value of the initiative and referendum by whatever results seem or are inconsistent or ridiculous, spiteful or inconsiderate, shall we also judge the electoral system of a free government by the same measure and reach the same conclusion in condemnation?

The Illinois legislature for years has refused to pass a law protecting the name "bank." It has passed and now again endeavors to pass (its other act having been vetoed) a bill to compel the building of a harbor in a land locked lake at the far southern end of Chicago and tax the city of Chicago millions of dollars for an enterprise beneficial and perhaps vastly beneficial to a few. Many of its important acts of two years ago were passed with disregard of the processes which the legislators knew perfectly well, and thereafter and for that reason were pronounced invalid by the Supreme court.

The Illinois legislature has enough employes on its pay rolls to supply all the legislatures of the country with necessary labor. The Illinois legislature is unable or refuses to reapportion the state into new congressional and senatorial districts in accordance with the census now three years old. The Illinois legislature sends 200 of its 204 members to a boxing exhibition but cannot get enough men in committee meetings to make quorums.

What then? For these and a hundred other defects, shall representative government be abolished? Is it possible for any opponent of the initiative and referendum to name one absurdity committed under that system which cannot be surpassed by one committed under the system of representative government?

Argument of this sort cannot be directed effectively against the principle of the initiative and referendum. It may be used against methods by which it is proposed to apply the principle.

The short ballot movement aims to correct some of the obvious defects in the electoral system, but so aims without challenging the system itself.

The initiative and referendum aim to correct some of the obvious defects in the representative system and aim to do so without challenging the principle of representative government.

SOME fight their battles as bravely as men, and some take it out on Sir Christopher Wren.

INCITED thereto by the warm weather of last week, hundreds of busy householders laid aside their other work and hastened to put up their door and window screens. Ain't it a bloomin' shame!

THE municipal omnibus line in Detroit has failed. This seems to teach the great lesson that a municipal omnibus line cannot succeed—in Detroit.

CONCERNING the prevailing styles of feminine apparel, the opinion of one First ward alderman may have some significance, but it is far from being conclusive. The Hon. H. Dink's pronunciamento is awaited now with breathless suspense.

FURTHERMORE, Representative Mann should remember that he is not the only "bewhiskered gentleman from Illinois." There is Another.

IT is scarcely necessary to explain that Secretary William Jennings Bryan's brief visit to Chicago yesterday had no political significance. In which respect it did not differ greatly, as may be remembered with regret, from his visit to San Francisco.

A WATCHFUL contemporary notes an increasing tendency among leaders of public opinion to "call a spade a spade." This is cheering. Too many of them have seemed unaware of the distinction between a spade and a shovel.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. DUMPS.

I KNOW of no American city without dumps. Some have fairly well kept dumps, and of others, the less said the less abusive one is. A dump, to be an unmixed blessing, must receive nothing except excavation material, wrecking material, and ashes. Such dumps secure drainage, banish mosquitoes, and improve appearances.

Dumps that receive street sweepings are moderate fly breeders. Street sweepings have a fair fertilizer value, and it is wasteful, as well as insanitary, to put this material on dumps.

Rubbish dumps are generally fly propagators. In the miscellaneous material which goes on them there is much fly food. Cans are always present. A colony of flies can live a week on the syrup or salmon left in an empty can. Scraps of bread and other food remnants are certain to find their way into the rubbish.

On the other hand, flies can only travel a block or two, and not so far as that, except as the wind blows them. Food probably never draws them more than 400 feet.

Therefore, a well kept rubbish dump will furnish a moderate excess of flies to the neighboring houses, but it will never people them with swarms of flies as will a garbage or a manure dump.

Rubbish dumps cannot be treated with crude oil as a fly repellent. As it is, they are afire a good part of the time. If they were oiled they would be a neighborhood menace. To treat them with a copperas solution [two pounds of iron sulphate to a gallon of water] might be feasible, but I doubt it. Probably fifty gallons to each ton would be required, and that quantity would be prohibitive. To cover with ashes and excavation material would be the best plan.

Fly larvae will burrow through several feet of soil to escape, but that does not greatly concern us in dealing with rubbish dumps. They feed flies; they do not breed them; that is, not in quantities. Flies will not go through ashes or dirt to feed. A few inches of covering will suffice to keep a rubbish dump in order.

The great trouble comes from dumps that get store refuse, saloon sweepings, and kitchen waste. Around such dumps flies swarm.

The walls in the neighboring homes are black with flies. The cars on the neighboring lines fill up with flies as they pass along the street. The garbage wagons drive away from the dumps carrying loads of flies.

The near by children comb the field looking for food. Some of this is for chickens, ducks, and pigs, some of it is for human use. Around the dumps two death rates are always high—summer complaint and typhoid. Such dumps should not exist at all. If they are allowed they should be treated with copperas solution or chloride of lime. They should be covered several feet deep with excavation material. Such a dump is nearly always on fire. Probably this is a wise provision. If the fires could be encouraged the neighborhood would be better off.

Clean up day, to have a punch to it, must include plans for the dumps. If a plan for keeping the dumps right could be offered, pushed and adopted in clean up week, it would be enough of itself to make the week worth while.

DIFFICULT TO RECOGNIZE.

G. F. writes: "What causes a slight wheeze, probably once or twice a day? This has been noticeable for about two months. It followed a severe cold contracted early in the winter. The cold left me some time ago. Occasionally there is a tendency to cough, but I raise nothing when I cough. Then, too, for the same length of time I have noticed a continual ache, or dull pain, throughout the entire left side, and a sort of a fluttering sensation just above the left breast occasionally. Would this indicate lung trouble or pleurisy? My general health apparently is good—sleep well, can eat well, when not in a nervous mood. However, I worry considerably over this affliction. I have consulted a physician, who does not seem to think much of this complaint. Sometimes the breathing is bad. There is a sort of smothered feeling at times. Can tuberculosis be easily recognized by a physician?"

REPLY.

Your symptoms do not suggest tuberculosis strongly. Have you watched your temperature range? Have you had a tuberculin test? Have you had a careful examination of your chest when bared? Very early tuberculosis is difficult to recognize.

NAILS HAVE DISEASES.

E. A. writes: "May I ask you to give a few lines concerning the cause, but more especially, the cure for brittle finger nails? My nails are so brittle that I am obliged to keep them cut down to the quick, because if allowed to grow longer they soon split or crack and become annoying. My thumb nails are so troublesome that I am obliged to wear adhesive plasters on them for months at a time. If one of these plasters comes off in the night I have to get up and put on a new one, as the nail is otherwise sure to catch in something and tear the tiny rent farther down. The nails grow slowly."

REPLY.

The nails have about as many different diseases as the other parts of the skin. If you can discover any disease of your skin around the root of the nails have that attended to. If you have diabetes, gout, or Raynaud's disease have that looked after. If you work in a place where the air is extremely dry see that the air is humidified.

Keep you nails well greased. Once a day at least soak the ends of your fingers in water for a half hour or more; then dry them and grease your nails. Grease them well. Repeat the greasing process several times a day.

Can you not work out a way to protect your nails that will harm them less than adhesive plaster? Adhesive plaster is good enough for them in that it protects them; otherwise it harms them, it makes them more brittle.

HOW TO FUMIGATE ROOM.

H. E. B. writes: "Please tell me how to fumigate a room used by a person with an infectious disease so the pillows, mattress, and clothing will be perfectly safe."

REPLY.

Close all doors, windows, fireplaces, etc. Strip all cracks with paper. A roll strip paper for the purpose is on the market. Ordinary newspaper and ordinary paste will answer. Sprinkle everything in the room; saturate the air with moisture as thoroughly as possible. String a clothes line across the room; dip several sheets in formalin (use one pint for each 1,000 cubic feet of air), and hang on the line. Leave the room sealed tightly for eight hours. Open the windows and doors wide. Air the room thoroughly for from four to eight hours. Scour all the woodwork with soap and water. Sun the mattress, bedding, rugs, etc. Boil all towels and other washable fabrics.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright, 1913, By the Brentwood Company.]

LORD CAMPDEN, who has been appointed attaché of the British embassy at Washington, was with Sir Cecil Spring-Rice at Stockholm in a similar capacity, and had been previously connected with the British legation at Christiania.

Although his name is pronounced in the same way as that of the Marquis of Camden—that is to say, as if written without the letter "p"—he must not be confounded with him.

Whereas the marquis is a peer of the realm and the head of the house of Pratt, Lord Campden, the new attaché of the British embassy, is a viscount only by courtesy, a commoner in the eyes of the law. He is the eldest son and heir of that Earl of Gainsborough who is chief of the Noel family.

Lord Campden holds a commission in the territorial battalion of the Gloucestershire infantry and was at one time engaged to the daughter of Egerton Castle, the novelist and champion fencer.

Educated at Downside, the great educational establishment of the Benedictine order in England, and at Exeter college, Oxford, he is, like his parent, a Roman Catholic.

The Noels have not always been Catholics. Indeed, the late Earl of Gainsborough, renowned for his piety and for his philanthropy, was the first to turn to the Church of Rome, being received into it by Pius IX. himself.

Lady Blanche Noel, the aunt of young Lord Campden, died in the United States, where she made her home from the time of her romantic marriage with Thomas Murphy. Mr. Murphy was the organist of her father's private chapel at Exton park, the ancestral home of the Noels in Rutlandshire.

Through Lady Blanche's interest in the chapel music, she was brought into daily contact with the organist, a handsome, fascinating young Irishman, and, in the most natural and simple manner, it came about that, after the service was over and the rest of the family and the household had left the chapel, she should remain to practice the music with him.

It is nothing strange that in the hours sitting together after matins and vespers at the organ the young, enthusiastic Lady Blanche and the impulsive young Irish organist should fall in love with each other.

After their marriage Lady Blanche found the prejudices of her family and of her relatives against her husband, on account of his birth, to be too strong to admit of their remaining in England without being subjected to all sorts of humiliations.

So they came to the United States to embark upon a new life and to earn their own living, Lady Blanche in the realms of literature and Thomas Murphy, first as organist at New Rochelle, L. I., and then as organist at North Conway, N. H. He also taught music at the Rev. Frederick Thompson's boys' school at Three Elms.

Lady Blanche wrote a good deal for the Atlantic Monthly, for Scribner's, the Catholic Review, the Catholic World, etc., yet found time to do all her housework. She and her husband were too poor to keep a servant.

William Dean Howells was their firm friend and mentor in literature, and was wont to declare that she had the most analytical mind of any woman he had ever known.

She died suddenly from pneumonia in 1881 at the age of 35. Her husband survived her until 1890. While his remains have found a resting place on this side of the Atlantic, hers were taken over to England and repose beside those of her parents in the family mausoleum at Exton park.

The Noels constitute one of the oldest houses in England. Some idea of its antiquity may be gathered from the fact that when, in the fall of 1908, Charles Perrott Noel, squire of Bell hall, near Stourbridge, last male representative of the elder branch of the family, died, it was necessary to go back to the reign of Henry VIII. in order to establish the connection with the junior and only remaining line, headed by the Earl of Gainsborough.

Charles Noel would have left his extensive estates to Lord Gainsborough had not the earl been a Roman Catholic.

One of the most notable members of the house of Noel was Sir Andrew Noel, who figures in history as the favorite of Queen Elizabeth.

The queen, when he ruined himself by his extravagance for her sake, showed no appreciation of his devotion, and of the sacrifice of his patrimony to satisfy her caprice, dropping him with the following distich upon his name and at his expense:

The word of denial and the letter for fifty,
Is the gentleman's name who will never be thrifty.

From Cairo I hear that on the occasion of the recent wedding of Turkish ex-Grand Vizier Ferid Pasha's son, Djellal-Eddin Pasha, to Princess Attijat, second daughter of the khedive, she received a gift of $100,000 from her father, the same amount from her mother, and a similar sum from her father's mother, the dowager khedivah.

In addition she has been granted for life an allowance of $20,000 a year, paid monthly, as pin money.

Society reporters are looked down upon by the remainder of the newspaper profession, as engaged in a form of journalism that is lacking in dignity and which usually must be performed with a loss of one's self respect.

There was, though, a society reporter on the other side of the Atlantic who ended by becoming the most influential and powerful personage of his native land—namely: old Señor Sagasta, who was prime minister of Spain throughout the greater portion of the minority of Alfonso XIII., and to whose paternal affection and great sagacity the young king may be said to largely owe the preservation of his throne from republican revolution and Carlist rebellion.

He was society reporter for the Madrid Epoca. It was merely the illness of the parliamentary reporter of his paper that led him to take up political work.

His work, however, in the reporters' gallery of the cortes gave so much satisfaction to his managing editor that he was sent down to a country town to help to elect the Liberal candidate.

The results of his mission were not altogether those expected by his employers. His speeches in behalf of the candidate pleased the electors so much that they insisted on returning him to parliament as their representative in the place of the man whom he had been sent to help. That caused him to give up journalism for politics with the result that he eventually landed in the premiership.

Señor Sagasta always refused any title of nobility and lived in the simplest, quietest fashion with his charming old wife, who had no social pretensions and who was as wholly free from all pose and affectation as himself.

On his death his son was created a count by King Alfonso in recognition of the old gentleman's services, and has since held office in two or three cabinets.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO

—La Rochefoucauld.

DR. HAGEMANN of Berlin was talking to the conference on city planning. The Chicago plan, he said, is wrong because it is copied after the Paris plan. Europeans have built their cities within a city wall idea, with no regard to transportation. "City planning should be outward," said the visitor from Berlin.

INSTEAD of considering the problems peculiar to Chicago, it would appear, we sit around admiring blue-print plans for beautifying the Randolph street station of the I. C., and discussing what Paris has done. Imitation, toujours imitation. Since we must imitate why not imitate the city laws of Berlin, which compel the individual to respect the peace and quiet and the property rights of his neighbors?

THE "City Beautiful" is not possible under a municipal government that allows an individual to erect any kind of building he pleases, however out of harmony with neighboring structures it may be; to disfigure with a tall apartment building a street flanked with fine houses. The City Civilized should precede the City Beautiful.

LADIES AND WHAT GOES WITH YOU.
Hurry, but don't you worry a day,
For Swanson is coming with his little dray
And carry your troubles all away,
So you can go visit while hubby "makes hay."

There's a trunk and a grip and a country trip,
Some goods to ship without a slip—
We'll leave them all for Swanson.

Swanson is busy, but he's the man
Who will get there on time if any man can;
And when the train goes, it's more pleasant by far
To know that your trunk's in the baggage car.

EVEN a person not interested in names would regard it as singular that Mrs. Abel and Miss Cain are milliners for Lord in Evanston.

BUT only a German would be interested to learn that Mr. Unterkircher is an undertaker in Burlington.

GETTING PARCEL POST STAMPS.

Chicago, May 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me what you would consider a reasonable amount of stamps to ask a subpostal agent to sell me. I have repeatedly sent my man to a subpostal station drug store in this vicinity for $1 or $2 worth of stamps, and they always refuse, saying they are just out, or cut down the order to a quarter, and sometimes less than we want. Is not the druggist paid to run the substation, and is not the selling of stamps part of his duties?
HUMBOLDT.

There is no fixed rule in this regard, but at no time should a patron be unable to buy $1 worth, and ordinarily there should be no difficulty in procuring $2 or $3 worth. Clerks in charge may sell $5 to one customer, though late in the afternoon or evening, when the stock may be depleted by some unusual demand and cannot be replenished until the following morning, this would not be advisable, for it might later necessitate the refusal of a few stamps to several customers. Substations do not carry a reserve stock, such as is maintained at carrier stations; they purchase daily, an allowance being given them which is supposed to be ample for the needs of the vicinity, and the stamps are delivered by letter carrier from the nearby carrier station. Substations are expected to satisfy ordinary retail demands from patrons in the vicinity, and if the complainant in this case will address this office directly the instances cited will be investigated.

D. A. CAMPBELL, Postmaster.

WILL NOT BE ASSESSED.

Chicago, May 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—An alley between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets, running east and west between Champlain avenue and Langley avenue, one block long, has been paved recently with brick. Please tell me the cost of this alley and what the assessments will be to one owning property 19 feet wide by 60 feet, fronting on Langley avenue 19 feet, but the third lot of about the same width from Forty-fourth street.

This lot is 60 feet long, running in the same direction as the alley; but there is no alley in rear and nowhere near this alley.

MRS. W. ODENDAL,
4742 Fifth avenue.

I beg to advise you that the property referred to is not assessed for the paving of the alley between Forty-fourth street, Forty-fifth street, Champlain avenue, and Langley avenue.
EDWARD J. GLACKIN,
Superintendent of Special Assessments.

WILL BE DONE SOON.

Chicago, May 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is the alley lying between De Kalb street and Ogden avenue, from Flournoy to Polk street, to be paved this year?

A CONSTANT READER.

Peter J. O'Brien has the contract for paving this alley under warrant No. 40066, and he assures us that he will start in on this work in the course of a week or two. EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary.

SERGEANT NOT ELIGIBLE.

Chicago, May 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me if, under the new police ordinance, a first class detective sergeant is eligible to take an examination for police lieutenant, uniform rank.

A POLICEMAN.

This will not be allowed under the reorganization ordinance for the police department. The positions of second class detective sergeant, first class detective sergeant, lieutenants of detectives, and chief of detectives are not included in the uniform service.

ST. PAUL TRACK ELEVATION.

Chicago, May 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Can you inform the people of the north shore how long they must endure the dangers of the grade crossings on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks from Wilson avenue to the city limits, and used by the Northwestern Elevated railway? Are these tracks to be elevated, and, if so, when? F. H.

The St. Paul road has under its ordinance until 1917 to complete the elevation of its tracks. Some work will be done this year.

BAD CONDITIONS REMEDIED.

Chicago, May 2.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is it lawful for garbage cans to be placed in hallway of an apartment building where parties have to pass to get to their apartment? This condition exists at 3826 Rhodes avenue. There is only one can to each floor, ten apartments to a floor. This can is screened from view from people by a piece of cloth. Several times lately paper has caught fire; also odor is unbearable. J. W. DEGNAN.

An inspection was made of these premises and a notice served upon the owner today as per copy attached. THOS. J. CLAFFY,
Assistant Chief Sanitary Inspector.

The notice referred to ordered the owner to provide garbage cans with tight metal covers, to provide ventilation to alcoves on each floor where garbage is kept, and to remove accumulations of cans and cinders from lot directly south.

CONDUCTOR SHOULD GET "HIS."

Chicago, May 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I now have a complaint to make against conductor 3,944, in charge of south bound South Halsted street car 2,741, which I boarded at Halsted and Twenty-first streets. He positively refused to let me off at Wayer street and took me to Archer avenue and told me I could get off there. I told him to keep on going and showed him the clipping. By that time we were at Halsted and Thirtieth streets, when I got off and had to walk back one-half mile. He answered he did not work for the Chicago Railways company. W. H. GRADY, 606 West Twelfth street.

The conductor should have stopped the car and allowed the passenger to alight at point requested. The matter will receive immediate investigation and such action will be taken as the facts warrant. CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY COMPANY.

BATHING BEACH AT JACKSON PARK.

Chicago, May 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—For several years Hyde Parkers and other residents of the south side have enjoyed the beautiful bathing beach between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets, east of Everett avenue, but this year they are to be deprived of this pleasure, as the property has been sold and is closed to the public. The only other available bathing beaches between the river and South Chicago are a very inferior one at Thirty-ninth street and the one just north of the Chicago Beach hotel. This latter one is crowded at all times in the bathing season and there is no accommodation except for the guests of the hotel and their friends.

But in Jackson park, south of the German building there is one of the finest white sand beaches to be found on the lake shore in Chicago. It looks as though it was provided by nature for a bathing beach, and all that is lacking in some temporary accommodation. Tents would answer for the present, or until such time as the south park commissioners could build permanent and attractive bathing houses, that would be a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and be enjoyed by tens of thousands of our south side residents, both old and young, who for different reasons or circumstances are compelled to spend the summer in Chicago in place of at the sea shore or the other expensive summer resorts.

If every south sider who reads this article would write to the chairman of the south park commissioners at Fifty-seventh street and Cottage Grove avenue, or to Mr. J. F. Foster, superintendent of parks, at the same address, requesting that temporary accommodations be provided for bathers at the lake shore in Jackson park, the matter would be acted upon favorably at the meeting of the commissioners to be held the 21st inst.

W. K. YOUNG,
Chairman of the Bathing Beach Committee of the Business Men's Association of Hyde Park.

LIGHTS ON MOTOR CARS.

Chicago, May 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If newspaper reports are correct, a bill pending in the legislature at Springfield provides that motor cars shall carry red and green lights forward—the former on the port and the latter on the starboard side, I presume. Many motorists have anticipated this law. An ordinance pending in the city council forbids the carrying of red and green lights forward.

The situation is typical of the condition of the laws regulating motor cars and also of the manner of the enforcement of the laws by the police. Riding across Jackson boulevard with a friend the other night, a man in "plain clothes," who was probably an officer, stopped him and objected roughly to his red and green light forward. My friend leaned forward and switched on his powerful headlights. That satisfied the supposed officer.

But the powerful headlights should not have been turned on. They should not be used in lighted city streets. They are unnecessary. They not only dazzle and confuse pedestrians, but they blind the drivers of approaching cars. It is a fact that when cars carrying such lights are about seventy-five feet apart, their drivers cannot see each other at all because of the glare. If the street is at all crowded, there is positive danger.

Why can't there be some common sense in motor car regulations? I don't own a car, but it seems to me that those who do are generally rational citizens who wish to obey the rules and who know pretty well what the rules should be. S. B.

DR. ABBOTT AND THE PEACE SOCIETY.

Chicago, May 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is regrettable that in this age of universal publicity and information there should be living in our midst a man so imbued with the spirit of peace among men and inspired by such a burning desire to have this spirit inculcated among all the nations of the world, should not be more generally known by his fellow citizens.

And yet one of our Chicago fellow citizens, Charles E. Beals, at the National Peace society convention in St. Louis yesterday, in pursuit of this worldwide work, had accomplished no less a feat than to have removed from the list of vice presidents of the Peace society Dr. Lyman Abbott of New York because he favored the building of two battleships for the American navy this year.

In addition Mr. Beals and his Peace society regard it as a sacred and solemn obligation on their part to put an end to the training of our sons for the army and navy of the United States. West Point and Annapolis must be closed, and the records of the men who came forth from these institutions and made our country illustrious in the assertion and defense of freedom for mankind must be obliterated from the pages of our country's history.

This is rather hard to endure for those in whose veins there flow strains of the fighting blood that supported our army and navy since the firing of the shot that "reverberated round the world," and the result of whose patriotic labors we are all enjoying in our day, including even Mr. Beals and his Peace society.

Our army and navy must be destroyed and not by an enemy at our doors armed to the teeth, but by visionaries in our own midst. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are lauded for allowing the building of only one battleship, that being regarded as a step in the right direction of crippling our army and navy. Human credulity has had its victims in all ages of the world, but considering the "armed peace" of the world today those who advocate the destruction of our army and navy at this time beat that time honored record. P. T. BARRY.

THROUGH "L" ROUTING.

Chicago, May 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Please keep up the agitation of through routing on the elevated roads until it is an accomplished fact—and this ought not mean for long, because the need is imperative and the citizens as a whole want it. You lead the fight and they will demand it.

There is no reason why the city should not have through routes. Besides all the reasons that you have given in favor of through routes, these might be added:

1. Tired people ought to be handled fully as well as sheep.
2. Conservation of the public health.
3. Because it would result in a financial gain to the stockholders. If the management realized that this were so, it would be sufficient; that they have not the vision to see it will not affect the result if there is a fixed change.

I am but an occasional user of the elevated roads during the rush hours—just enough to know what I avoid and to feel that there is an injustice in imposing such service on the public when it might readily be bettered to a considerable degree. I wish to express my appreciation to THE TRIBUNE for starting the fight, and to express the hope that you will continue it to a finish. P. G. KENNEDY.

CONVICT AVIATOR CAN FLY FOR KIN

Iowa Court Grants Him Right to Fill Contracts and Help Family.

NEW TRIAL NEXT FALL.

Man Won Fame Under Another Name After Being Sentenced for Life.

Des Moines, Ia., May 7.—[Special.]—That he might fill contracts to fly this summer, which will net $5,000 that may be used in the support of his family, Earl C. Lindsay of Colfax, sentenced to serve a life sentence in the Fort Madison penitentiary, gained postponement of the rehearing of his case until next fall.

Lindsay was convicted of an attack on a little girl at Colfax in 1908. Since his conviction he has become an aviator, flying, it is said, under the name of Earl Wormswith. Several months ago the Supreme court refused to reverse the finding of the lower court, and imposed a life sentence. A petition for a rehearing was filed.

Explains Position of State.

Attorney General Cosson today explained the position of the state with reference to the action of the court.

"The Iowa department of justice feels strongly the injustice of the state of Iowa in exonerating a prisoner from all obligations to his family," he said. "Not only does the prison system of the state allow a prisoner to leave his family to its own devices, but it makes it impossible for him to carry out his natural obligations.

"The department feels that Lindsay has had more than a reasonable time in which properly to present his case. It has allowed the case to be set back for new trial by the supreme court, and there was no objection to a second trial in the lower court.

Aid to Family Support.

"By the granting and postponing of a rehearing, however, Lindsay is given an opportunity to make some provision for the support of his family, and for this reason the state makes no objection to continuing the hearing on the petition for rehearing until the September term of the court, nor to allowing Lindsay until July 1 to file an amendment to his petition for rehearing."

Lindsay already is understood to have signed contracts to fly all over the country during the coming summer, and it is claimed he has only to fulfill contracts already made to become possessed of $5,000, which he may turn over to his family.

REPORT TURK ARMY STARVING; AVLONA FEARS GREEK ATTACK.

Situation Causes Greatest Anxiety, Notwithstanding Friendly Reports from Athens.

BRINDISI, Italy, May 7.—Advices from Avlona say that the situation there causes the greatest anxiety, as the army of Djavid Pasha, encamped a few miles from the town, is in a starving condition.

The Greek army is encamped three miles to the south and ready to take the slightest pretext to attack the city.

This probable action may be taken notwithstanding assurances by the Greek government that it does not intend to move against Avlona.

'CAT' WITH HANDS WHERE FEET SHOULD BE FRIGHTENS MAID.

Animal Swinging from Chandelier Proves Monkey, Believed to Have Been Trained to Rob.

The sight of a "cat" with hands where its feet ought to be, swinging from a chandelier, scared Rose Berge, maid at the residence of H. B. Wheelock, 1040 Hinman avenue, Evanston, so much that she asked for a new room yesterday morning.

The phenomenon had been identified as a monkey a few hours earlier by Mrs. Wheelock, whose room it also invaded. The animal had shoved a small tray of trinkets across the dresser, but as Mrs. Wheelock cried out leaped from the window sill.

She believes the monkey has been trained to rob houses, but could see no human accomplice near the house. The Evanston police are looking for organ grinders with particularly active monkeys.

JAPAN'S PROTEST MAY BE DELAYED

Ambassador First Wishes to Know Administration's Attitude on Land Bill.

PROBLEM UP TO WILSON.

Talk of Preparing New Treaty to Eliminate Any Charge of Discrimination.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—First among Secretary Bryan's callers when he reaches Washington from Sacramento tomorrow morning probably will be Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador.

It had been assumed that the ambassador would deliver personally a protest from his government against the California alien legislation, but it is now believed his first effort will be to get from the secretary some idea of what the administration purposes to do after Gov. Johnson signs the land bill.

Before answering this question Mr. Bryan must report and confer with President Wilson, so he probably will suggest that his conference with Viscount Chinda be postponed for a short time.

This will simply delay the presentation of the Japanese protest unless Secretary Bryan is able to suggest some means of dealing with the present phase of the question that will make the protest unnecessary.

May Adopt New Treaty.

A new treaty expressly disclaiming the right of citizens of either country to acquire real property in the other might meet the needs of the case and save Japanese pride by removing ground for the charge of discrimination.

Some of the legal minds of the administration have come to the conclusion that in the event the California law is contested in the courts the case must rest not upon the existing treaty, which, they say, the law does not technically violate, but upon the broad principles of international law.

No treaty specifically describes all of the rights which an alien may enjoy in the country of his residence, and in the opinion of some of these international lawyers the disregard or violation of a right common to all civilized peoples is as much a discrimination as a willful disregard of a treaty provision.

China Preparing to Protest.

China is preparing to follow Japan in protesting against the California alien land bill. Ownership of lands in California by Chinese has diminished considerably within the last few years, but many Chinese land owners still are there and it is with the purpose of protecting them against loss of their property that the Chinese government is contemplating a protest.

BRYAN DUMB ON ALIEN LAW.

Secretary of State Bryan spent fifteen minutes in Chicago yesterday on his way to Washington from California. During that time he held hasty consultations with William L. O'Connell and R. R. McCormick, discoursed about the initiative and referendum, announced he was "feeling fine," and then boarded an east bound train without saying anything important concerning the California-Japanese situation.

The secretary expressed his pleasure at the prospect of the Illinois legislature passing the initiative and referendum amendment.

Mr. Bryan was cautious when even mentioning the California situation.

BULLET AND KNIFE WOUNDS FOR MAN WHO SAT WITH 'LUCY.'

A man whose identity is not known to the police walked into the rear room of a cigar store at 1108 West Lake street and found Pasquale Panico of 614 Forquer street sitting with a girl called "Lucy."

Without warning the intruder whipped out a revolver and fired twice, the bullets entering Panico's elbow and chest. The man then drew a knife and slashed Panico across the neck.

"Come on, Lucy!" he shouted to the girl. Lucy joined his flight.

Panico, in Eastern emergency hospital, admitted he knew the identity of the assailant, but refused to divulge the name.

"I'll settle with him when I get well," he said.

TELL VALUES OF THROUGH ROUTES

WILL CREATE CENTERS.

at 5 cents will tend to stop congestion in New York, so through routes in Chicago will tend to straighten out the business district of the city.

LONG rides are now given in New York for 5 cents; some of them seventeen miles. Under the new system even longer rides at 5 cents will be provided.

This is made possible by the cultivation of short rides in Manhattan for 5 cents. For instance, a person will ride from One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street to Seventy-second street. Another person will get on the same train and ride to Twenty-third street, and so on—a single train carrying several full loads in the course of its trip. The great profit on any rapid transit line is the short riders. The profit from the short riders at 5 cents each permits the long rides.

This is a field which Chicago has done practically nothing to cultivate. Nearly all of the rapid transit riders are long distance riders. If, however, through routes—either by the present elevateds or by a new system of combined subways, depressed roads, and elevateds—could be laid out, an enormous short travel would be created.

TODAY if you want to go from La Salle hotel to the Railway Exchange building you walk, because you can walk faster than a surface car will carry you. But if there was a proper rapid transit system thousands would pay 5 cents for a quick, short ride.

These 5 cent fares for short rides would be so numerous that they would support long rides to the extent that Chicago hardly dreams of.

There is a distinct relation between rapid transit and height of buildings. President McAneny of Manhattan, who has taken an active part in the handling of all these matters in Greater New York, considers that the natural sequence of radial rapid transit by through routes is a limitation on the height of buildings, because when rapid transit is provided in every direction numerous centers will spring up, and there is not the same reason for congestion that there is where people must walk or ride on surface cars. In New York City the barrier of the East river will be wiped away by more tunnels, and there will not be the reason for congestion in Greater New York that there has been in the past.

BY DR. WERNER HEGEMANN.

Among the things that impressed me most during my present visit to Chicago—is the admirable work done by the Chicago Plan commission for promulgating the idea of better city planning in Chicago.

We thought in Germany we had tried about everything that can be done to bring a better knowledge of this important matter to our people; but still I do not think we found as efficient methods as the Chicago Plan commission.

In different cities I came to in this country, visiting people interested in city planning, I found Wacker's Manual on the table, and everybody present was convinced that similar methods must be applied in every city for distributing the knowledge of city planning.

MANY times I have been told by Americans that good city planning can be performed more easily in Germany because Germany is supposed to be benefited from a paternal form of government. I believe the opposite is true. Every man who has worked in practical city planning knows that no lasting reform can be pushed through without educating the people up to it.

Since, however, the democratic form of government—as America has it—necessitates a good deal more of educating the public, America, it seems to me, in the long run, is better adapted for obtaining good city planning results.

I ALSO was greatly impressed by the altogether openmindedness of the different members of the Chicago plan commission I had the honor to meet. They confirmed me in my belief that the international exchange of ideas is highly desirable and effective as a means of getting good city planning.

I am in America in order to learn new ideas for my work. On the other hand, I believe that Germany—since the making of the original plan of the Chicago commission—has produced some new contributions to city planning that may prove suggestive to the people of Chicago.

One of these contributions is the authoritative recognition of the high value of through routing by German city planning science.

THOUGH Berlin had a most efficient system of through routing since the '80s, for all the far distance and local trains when run from west to east, the high value of this system for the satisfactory outlay of the city plan was recognized only by the result of the competition of 1910 for the new plan of Greater Berlin.

In fact, the three leading transportation experts of Germany, independently of each other, and in connection with three different sets of city planners, asked in their prize reports for through routing of all Berlin railroads—that is, not only the trains running fom west to east, but also for the connection of the northern and southern terminals by through routing instead of having stub ends.

THE Greater Berlin competition also brought about an interesting change in the attitude of the best German city planners towards transportation. Up to that time it had been customary to attribute to the question of transportation less importance in making a city plan to the problem of laying out the streets or creating beautiful vista or civic centers.

Since 1910 the German city planners acknowledge that the definite settlement of the transportation problem must be found before the city plan can be made.

For structural and economical reasons the transportation problem must be handled first. The money to be invested in this element of the city plan is too large to allow any other element of the city plan to take the first step. The satisfactory settlement of the transportation problem can never be achieved without taking into consideration the problem of water and land transportation; on the land, at the same time, both rapid transit and standard railroads.

FOR a comprehensive transportation plan of a large city the opinion of the leading transportation experts of the country—if not of the world—must be asked. At the competition for Greater Duesseldorf, in 1912, nearly all the competitors worked in cooperation with some transportation expert.

On the basis of a good solution of railroad problems a satisfactory development of housing can be worked out. The main thoroughfares, the parks, and the public buildings can be put in their right place without being endangered by resettlement of railroad troubles.

The creation and protection of desirable districts for the homes of the people can be worked out on this basis. The well to do will be able to invest his money safely without fearing the deterioration of the neighborhood, and the man of modest means can get good connections with pleasanter little houses—far enough away from the heart of the city to give him ample opportunity to have all the garden he may desire. The basis of the city beautiful is the business-like handling of transportation.

Modern transportation, if thoroughly applied to city planning, will produce a new type of a decentralized city which will contain many more green spaces, gardens, and parks—with a corresponding improvement in the health of the people—than the crowded cities we have known up to date.

FIRST WITNESSES HEARD AT "JACK" JOHNSON TRIAL.

Prize Fighter's Former Chauffeur and a Pittsburgh Woman Give Testimony in Carpenter's Court.

The trial of "Jack" Johnson for violation of the Mann act opened yesterday in Judge Carpenter's court with a statement from Assistant District Attorney Parkin.

Testimony of the first two witnesses in the case was taken in the afternoon. The first of these was W. Jacobowaki, the fighter's former chauffeur. The second witness, Lillian Henderson, former owner of a Pittsburgh resort, told of Belle Schreiber's leaving her place in August, 1910.

This date about coincides with the time when, according to Jacobowski's story, Johnson began meeting the Schreiber woman, whose transportation by Johnson from Pittsburgh to Chicago is the basis of the government's charge.

YOUNG BAKER'S DEBTS PAID BY FATHER, ATTORNEY SAYS.

Attorneys for Estate of Former Board of Trade President Introduce Letter as Proof.

Attorneys for the estate of William T. Baker, one time president of the Chicago board of trade, yesterday introduced what purported to be a letter written seven years ago by Thomas B. Hardin, attorney for Charles H. Baker, who is suing for an equity in his father's estate.

The letter sets forth that the son once was in debt and the father turned over an amount of water power company stock and $2,500, the former to be used when possible to pay off the debts.

"One of the heaviest judgment creditors was the Boston National bank of Seattle," says the letter. "On Jan. 28, 1902, and after negotiations extending over a long period of time, the bank accepted 113 shares."

Mr. Baker is suing his father's estate for the profits of the water power companies in Tacoma and Seattle, to which he lays claim as a sort of partner with his father, who died intestate.

REFUTES ATTACK ON HAY INQUEST

Lutheran Minister, Foreman of Coroner's Jury, Gives Facts of the Case.

ANSWERS 'THE DAY BOOK'

Says Verdict of Accident Was Reached After Full and Careful Hearing.

The inquest held last Monday by Deputy Coroner George A. Webster into the death of Albert Hay has been attacked by a publication called the Day Book, published by N. D. Cochran, at 50 South Peoria street.

Hay, a man of 69 years, of impaired eyesight, was struck last Saturday night by an auto truck of The Tribune company, driven by John Bowman. The accident occurred at 8 o'clock, at Kedzie avenue and Twenty-second street. Hay, who lived at 2258 South Forty-third court, died two hours later in the Frances Willard hospital.

The coroner's jury consisted of five pastors of churches and of one laymen. The foreman was the Rev. Edward Hoelter, who for seventeen years has been assistant pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church, of which his father has been pastor for thirty-five years. He has six children. The jury exonerated the driver, finding as the cause of the accident that Hay walked into the side of the truck and fell under the rear wheels.

Coroner Writes to Foreman.

The "report" of the coroner's proceedings in "the Day Book" dated May 6 caused Coroner Hoffman to address a letter to the foreman of the jury in which he called his attention to the publication and said:

"If you think it advisable to take this up with your fellow jurors you may do so. I call your attention to this to show you that no matter how just and fair we try to be, some one often writes articles of this kind and sends them out to poison the minds of people and to set so-called masses against the classes.

"I do not know as anything can be done. I, however, approve of the jurors' findings in this case and thank the jurors for their services rendered."

Says Description is a Lie.

The Rev. Mr. Hoelter, when seen last night at the residence of his friend, Dr. Albert W. Seidel, 742 Fullerton avenue, was asked for his opinion of the insinuation in "the Day Book."

"In taking up a controversy against this kind of publication one never is treated fairly," he said. "One never sees the end of it." He branded the description of the inquest as given by "the Day Book" as lies. When asked to point out specific instances where the testimony had been distorted, he referred to the complete transcript in the coroner's office.

"The fact is that we five pastors on the jury would have welcomed an opportunity to express ourselves against reckless driving of newspaper wagons," he went on. "In my own neighborhood I have often been provoked by their mad rush, but I will say that the drivers criticised were not from THE TRIBUNE.

Eager to Stop Lawless Driving.

"We were all eager to do something against this lawless driving, yet it is significant that as soon as we conferred after the testimony had been taken each of us agreed that there could be no charge against the chauffeur in this case. I felt sorry for Hay's fate, and assured his daughter, Mrs. Mayfield, of my sympathy. So did the other jurors. While the verdict was being written up she stood with John Bowman, the chauffeur, on the sidewalk. The two had a long conversation, apparently without ill feeling.

"The girl who testified at the inquest was the only one who said that the front wheel of the truck had passed over Hay. All the other witnesses were firm in their testimony that he had walked against the slowly moving wagon, and had fallen under the rear wheel. The jury put many questions, because we were determined to sift the case to the bottom. We were so inquisitive that the stenographer scolded us and said, 'You make me crazy,' and the deputy coroner remarked, 'You are all right, but you ask too many questions.'"

GREET ALFONSO WITH FREE FIGHT

SCORE TAKEN BY POLICE.

Troops to Number of 25,000 Lined Up in the Capital of France.

PARIS, May 7.—King Alfonso of Spain reached Paris this morning with Premier Count Alvanro de Romanones for a two days' official visit.

President Raymond Poincaré and Premier Louis Barthou, with all the rest of the cabinet, received the royal party at the station. The king's temporary residence is at the Palais d'Orsay.

Twenty-five thousand troops, including infantry and cavalry, lined the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne and the Avenue des Champs Elysées, and artillery salutes were fired in honor of the Spanish monarch. An immense crowd greeted the king with loud cheering.

The Communist Anarchist federation attempted to carry out its threatened demonstration as a protest against King Alfonso's visit, in front of the Spanish embassy, but police scattered the 300 anarchists and syndicalists as soon as they began to shout "Long live Ferrer! Down with the assassin king!"

Groups of manifestants then began to smash street lamps and tear down the decorations of the houses. Twenty persons were arrested.

MEXICAN REBELS' AIRSHIP SOUGHT BY U. S. CAVALRY.

Aeroplane Destined to Aid Sonora State Troops at Guaymas Vanishes in Transit.

Nogales, Ariz., May 7.—A war aeroplane, designed to assist the Sonora state troops investing Guaymas, is being sought tonight by three detachments of United States cavalry and automobile parties of deputy sheriffs and federal officials. The machine was lost in transit between Tucson, Ariz., and this point, where its passage into Mexico was denied.

Still another flying machine is reported smuggled over the border, arriving safely at Ortiz, the base of the state troops operating against the California gulf port.

In the expectation of the assistance of aeroplanes state troops are mobilizing tonight before Guaymas in greater numbers than ever. A train arrived from the Cananea district with 400 men, artillery and much needed rifle ammunition. The state troops below Ortiz are being deployed into advancing formation.

W. P. NINE VICTOR IN CLOSE BATTLE

Defeats University High, 6 to 5, by Bunching Hits with Rivals' Errors.

LA GRANGE WINS EASILY.

BY PREP.

Two contests were played in the southern section of the Cook County High School Baseball league yesterday. Wendell Phillips took a close game from University High at Webster field, 6 to 5, and La Grange swamped Morton, 14 to 6.

Wendell Phillips won its game early by mixing timely hits with University High errors. University High played a consistent scoring game, securing one run in every one of the first five innings. Three of Wendell Phillips' runs were due to homers, two by Pitcher Pethybridge.

Morton held the lead for two innings, then La Grange hammered the ball for the next four innings. Caspar led the onslaught with four singles—two singles, a double, and a homer. Score:

SENATE PASSES BEALL BILL

Provides Theaters and Ball Parks Must Seat Patrons.

MURPHY SCORED IN DEBATE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Branded by Senator Jones as a bill which legalizes absolutely ticket scalping in the state, the Beall bill, providing that baseball parks and theaters must furnish seats to holders of reserved seat coupons, was passed by the senate today. It had just enough votes to get it by. The vote was 26 to 11.

The bill was introduced by Senator Beall, after he and members of the O'Hara white slave committee failed to get seats at the Cubs baseball park one Sunday afternoon in Chicago.

President Murphy of the Cubs was scored roundly during the debate. Senator Waage roasted him for sending season pass books to members of the legislature good only while the legislature is in actual session. The west side magnate was treated roughly all the way.

THREE TROT CLUBS SUSPENDED

Racing Associations Draw Penalties from National Body for Failing to Pay Premiums.

New York, May 7.—At the closing session today of the board of review of the National Trotting association the following organizations were suspended until money due for premiums is paid: The Elkins Fair association, Elkins, W. Va.; King's County Fair association, Seattle, Wash.; Santa Clara Fair association, San José, Cal.

The Nutwood Driving club of Dubuque, Ia., was ordered to return entrance money for races it failed to hold. Frank Carroll, who acted as flagman at the Hartford, Conn., races last September, was expelled for making a false report to the judges.

George Washington Spear, an old time trainer and driver, was temporarily reinstated, pending good behavior. He was expelled in December, 1906, in connection with the gold cup race at Memphis, Tenn., in which Lou Dillon ran. The mare, then holder of the world's record for wind shield trotting, lost the race to Maj. Delmar, and Spear later made an affidavit that he conspired to dope the mare before the race. The charge was later riddled in the courts.

SECOND VICTORY BY CHICAGO NINE

Keeley's Federal League Team Easily Defeats St. Louis by Count of Ten to Five.

LOSERS' ERRORS COSTLY.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—[Special.]—In the second game of the Federal league season today, Chicago won by the topheavy score of 10 to 5. Though St. Louis outhit the visitors, errors by the locals were costly and their hits were scattered.

Only a small crowd turned out, as the Philadelphia Athletics furnished a counter attraction. Score:

ENGLISH POLO PLAYERS SAIL TO COMPETE IN CUP EVENTS.

Leave for America Confident of Retaking Prize—Capt. Ritson Sees an Even Chance of Victory.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 7.—Five of the polo team which is to represent the British isles in the contest for the International cup at Meadowbrook, Long Island, in June, sailed today on board the Oceanic for New York. They were Capt. R. G. Ritson, Capt. Leslie St. George Cheape, Capt. Vivian Lockett, and Capt. A. Noel Edwards, and Capt. F. M. Freake, who is one of the reserves.

Before leaving Capt. Ritson said: "The British team is in perfect trim. I believe it has an even chance of retaking the cup." Capt. Cheape also expressed the opinion that the British team stands a good chance.

Capt. Ritson's leadership of the team depends on the position in which he plays. If he plays No. 3 he will be captain, while if some one else plays in that position that player will command the team.

A large crowd gathered at the station in London to bid the players farewell as they boarded the boat train. Lord Wodehouse, the other reserve player, was among them. He intends to sail later.

MAROON ATHLETES ON EDGE FOR DUAL MEET WITH PURPLE.

Candidates Finish Three Weeks of Hard Work for Annual Struggle with Northwestern Team.

Track athletes of the University of Chicago will open their outdoor season on Saturday, when they lock horns with Northwestern on Marshall field. The candidates have been working hard for the last three weeks preparing for the coming event, and the next two days will be used in putting on the finishing touches. Never before in the history of the university have the coaches had as much difficulty in selecting the team as this spring. Over thirty candidates have been showing up well, and in several instances it seems a tossup between those who were selected and those discarded.

LAUBEN VICTOR IN CUE MATCH

Defeats Al Wessling in Second Block of Series, 64-39.

TAKES GAME IN 106 INNINGS.

Winner and Partner, Kandul, Now Lead in Three Cushion Contests.

After being outplayed in the early stages, Walter Lauben ran away from Al Wessling in the second block of the 250 point four handed three cushion match at Weeghman's rooms last night, and won, 64 to 39, in 106 innings. The victory wiped out the deficit of fourteen points sustained by Lauben and Kandul in the first block, and gives them a lead of eleven points over Wessling and Huey, the totals being 100 and 89.

Huey was to have played last night, but owing to sickness in his family Wessling went in again. Huey will play in the next two blocks and the final will be between the players who have made the best showing for their respective sides.

TRUCCO ENTERED FOR MOTOR GRIND

LEAVES FOR AMERICA.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Vincenzo Trucco, one of the most noted of European racing drivers, is another foreigner who will compete in the 500 mile international sweepstakes to be run over the Indianapolis motor speedway on Memorial day. The news was announced officially yesterday by the Isotta-Fraschini Motors company, which has entered three cars in the big race.

Trucco left Milan yesterday with the three racing cars, and will sail with them from Havre on Saturday. As soon as he lands in New York he will ship the machines to Indianapolis, where they will be tuned up for the international event. Teddy Tetzlaff and Harry Grant, who will drive on the same team with the Italian, already are in Indianapolis establishing training quarters. As soon as Trucco arrives with the cars practice will be commenced. The Isotta team will be one of the strongest in the race. The three pilots are expected to put up a great fight for the $50,000 prize money.

Strike Cause of Delay.

With the announcement of Trucco as the third driver came the explanation of how the Isotta people managed to enter three cars instead of the two originally named. There was a strike in the Milan factory, and the workmen, knowing the company was particularly eager to have the racing cars finished, held up the work on them in an effort to bring their employers to terms. The company was able to settle the difficulty, however, and held up shipment of the two cars until the third one could be made ready.

Trucco has done little race driving since 1908, when several of the Italian makers got together and agreed to abandon racing for a few years, because of the expense. It was in 1908 that Trucco, driving an Isotta, won the Targa Florio in Sicily, finishing in 7:49:25, fourteen minutes ahead of the second car. In 1907 Trucco drove an Isotta into fourth place in the Targa cup race and won the Count of Salami's cup.

Foreigner May Land Prize.

It will be the presence of the foreign drivers and cars in the coming race that assures the greatest contest in the history of the 500 mile speedway races. For the first time it looks as if international speed honors might go abroad. In the race, in addition to Trucco, will be Guyot, the Englishman, with a Sunbeam; Goux, French pilot of a Peugeot; Zuccarelli, Italian driver of a second Peugeot, and Pilette, the Belgian pilot, who has been entered by E. C. Patterson of Chicago in a German Mercedes equipped with a Knight sleeve valve motor. All five foreigners are expected in Indianapolis within the next two weeks.

A meeting of representatives of the Chicago Automobile club and the Elgin Road Race association, joint promoters of the Elgin races to be held the last week in August, will be held at the Plymouth place clubhouse this evening. Chairman C. G. Sinsabaugh and his associates on the contest committee of the C. A. C. will hear the proposition of Manager Fred W. Jencks and the rest of the Elgin delegates, and it is likely a contract similar to the one in force last year will be signed. Prospects for the 1913 renewal of the Kane county races look better than ever. The promoters look for entries from several foreign stars in addition to most of the leading American ones. The entry of Pilette, the Belgian driver of the Mercedes-Knight, already has been pledged by E. C. Patterson.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Edward Smith, the heavyweight pugilist, known to fight fans throughout the country as "Gunboat" Smith, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., May 8, 1888. At the age of 17 he entered the United States navy and learned the boxing game while in the service of Uncle Sam. After completing his service in the navy he became a professional boxer and in his first bout, in 1908, he knocked out Charley Horn in six rounds. During 1908-09 and 10 "Gunboat" won eighteen battles and lost only one, a nine round bout, to Jim Barry. In 1911 he knocked out Walter Monahan, Joe Lang, Jack Jeffries, Charley Miller, Mexican Pete Everett, and Bill Watkins. Last year Smith added twelve more knockouts to his record. The list included Battling Brooks, Jack Smith, Jack McFarland, Hugh McGann, Andy Morris, George Geoffrey, Jim Savage, Jim Stewart, Porky Flynn, Tom McMahon, Al Kubiak, and Jack Twin Sullivan. In his two most recent battles Smith knocked out Bombardier Wells, the English champion, and Fred McKay, the Canadian heavyweight.

HOUCK VICTOR OVER K. O. BROWN

Frequent Use of Left Jab and Agility in Evading Swings Give Quaker Boy Big Margin.

New York, May 7.—[Special.]—Leo Houck of Lancaster, Pa., outboxed George ("Knockout") Brown of Chicago by a considerable margin in the semi-final ten round bout at the St. Nicholas club tonight. The first two rounds were even, with neither of the men landing any hard blows. From the second round to the eighth Houck fought a careful fight. He landed a hard left jab frequently and managed to step away from Brown's long swings. In the last three rounds the Pennsylvania boy showed plenty of speed and vim. The Chicagoan fought back desperately, but could not find a resting place for any of his swings.

LUTHER M'CARTY VISITOR IN CITY

MAY BOX JESS WILLARD.

Heavyweight Champion Luther McCarty and Manager McCarney blew into town last night from New York and will remain until tonight, when they will leave for Calgary, Alberta. In that far northwestern city McCarty will tackle Arthur Pelkey, of more or less renown, on May 24, before Tommy Burns' club. This bout, according to McCarney, will be nothing more than a training affair for the champion.

On his arrival here McCarty's manager received wires from Promoters Coffroth and McCarey of the coast clubs asking the champion to meet the winner of the "Gunboat" Smith-Jess Willard fight. This battle will be staged in San Francisco town on May 20, while the championship affair probably will be held on Independence day.

McCarney is not particularly anxious to have his scrapper meet Smith, as he does not consider the latter a great attraction on the coast. Neither does the champion's manager regard Jess Willard with much awe, but of the two fighters prefers a match with the Kansan.

Manager Fred Gilmore will leave this morning for Terre Haute with Mickey Sheridan, who is scheduled to battle Danny Goodman, another Chicagoan, in a ten round contest tomorrow night. This will be Mickey's thirteenth scrap this year, but Sheridan is not the least bit superstitious. Sheridan also is booked to meet Harry Donahue in Peoria next Wednesday.

Chicago's delegation of fistic talent and fans who went to Springfield for the boxing show Tuesday night returned to Chicago yesterday and reported the entertainment was satisfactory. As a result of the exhibitions it is the general impression that one of the boxing bills intended to open up the sport in Chicago and in other cities throughout the state will stand a better chance of successful passage in the legislature.

WOLGAST MAY MEET DUNDEE.

Ad Willing to Box Easterner on June 3, but Will Not Make Weight for Rival.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Ad Wolgast's manager, Tom Jones, today replied to a telegram from a Los Angeles fight promoter asking him if the former lightweight champion would meet Johnny Dundee of New York in a twenty round bout in that city on June 3. In his reply Jones said Ad would meet Dundee at catch weights, but would not attempt to make any specific weight for Dundee.

[L]ONG TOM HUGHES [S]PILLS WHITE SOX

...Heave by Weaver Gives [Gr]iffites a Pair of Tallies in Second Session.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

[To]m Hughes, a long rakish young pitcher [from] Goose Island, Ill., choked the White Sox [wi]th six highly diversified base hits yes[ter]day, enabling Washington's crippled Sen[ators] to annex the opening game of their [seri]es here by the slender margin of 3 to 2.

There was no time at which the White Sox [were] not thereabouts because Cicotte and [Lan]ge kept the enemy's counters to such a [lo]w figure, but so far as their treatment of [To]m Hughes was concerned the Callahans [wo]uld not have been in the hunt at all. He [wo]uld have handed them a spotless coat of [whit]ewash but for holes in his support [thr]ough which filtered both of Chicago's [run]s.

[B]y the same line of reasoning the visitors [oug]ht to have made only one tally, for the [tw]o they manufactured in the second grew [ou]t of a wild heave by George (formerly [Bu]ck) Weaver. It was the only slip of the [da]y on the home side and blew a pair of [tal]lies over instead of retiring the side. What [pro]ved the winning run in the third was [W]ashington's by personal endeavor on the [par]t of its own athletes.

Easterly Fails in Pinch.

Cicotte hurled for the White Sox until he [wa]s taken out in the last half of the fourth [to] let Easterly attempt to knot the score with [a] single, which was not forthcoming. That [bro]ught Ald. Lange into the picture and he [fulf]illed to the uttermost his task of holding [ba]ck the Senators. In the five innings he [wor]ked only three safe clouts were made [an]d not another run came over. It was [futi]le endeavor, however, for the Callahans [could] not reach the plate unaided and when [it] came to helping them to a tie score the [Se]nators under Clarke Griffith balked.

Once the White Sox came within half a [chance] of averting defeat. Lange tried to [sco]re from second base on a wild pitch which [hit] the grand stand in the seventh inning. [Bu]t Ainsmith retrieved the ball in time to [ta]g the alderman-pitcher on the wrong side [of] the pan. Again in the ninth with two [me]n out there was a lingering chance to pro[long] the battle. Rollie Zeider, running for [Sc]halk, put the Sox within striking distance [of] the plate by a clean steal of second and [it] was up to Lange to w. h. o. g. or at least [ti]e it up. Lange played his string out to the [en]d and watched a third strike dent the mitt [of] Ainsmith for the final count.

Hughes Fans Eight Men.

With Gandil and Foster off the infield the [visi]tors presented a slightly patched ap[pear]ance before the battle, but appearances [pro]ved slightly deceptive. Holes were found, to be [sure], but when there was any danger of the White [Sox] doing anything, the patches proved as good [as n]ew. Hughes did not require a lot of assistance [for] that, for he struck out eight of our boys, show[ing] great impartiality in his distribution of the [fa]ns. Schaller and Weaver were the only men [wh]o escaped the wiles of the youngster from Goose [Isla]nd, Ill. Three of Hughes' strikeouts were [reg]istered with a runner on second waiting to ride [hom]e on a single.

After Lange got warmed up to his task he started [to o]vertake Hughes' strikeout record, and might [hav]e done it if the game had lasted long enough. [The] alderman set down six Senators in five in[nings] by the vacuum process, striking out two [of th]em in the sixth inning with two visitors on [the] runway.

[Tro]uble began like a hurricane, breezing two [run]s in the opening inning, after which the [Sox] were treated to one run by the Senators. Rath [str]uck out, then Lord whaled a single to right and [wen]t going to second because Moeller juggled the [ba]ll. Collins hit to McBride, whose throw [to] first eluded Sub Williams' one handed attempt [to] stop it. Lord scored and Collins reached second. [Collins] was nipped trying to steal third just [as] Borton walked, so Mattick's roller retired [the] side.

Weaver Makes Wild Chuck.

The Senators forged into the lead in the second [with] Weaver's assistance. Laporte drove a three [bag]ger along the right foul line with only one [out]. In this hole Cicotte grabbed Morgan's little [tap] and helped run Laporte to death, while [Mor]gan reached the middle station. Shanks rapped [to] Weaver, who came up with the ball and hurled [it a]gainst the stand, losing the chance to retire [the] side. Morgan scored and Shanks made second, [fro]m where it was a walk home for him on Mc[Bri]de's screamer over left center for three bases. [Scha]lk tried to rally the Sox in their half with [a] two base drive to right, but there were two [out] when it arrived and Cicotte fanned.

Washington won in the third when Milan ex[tracted] a pass with one out, stuck around first [whil]e Ainsmith fouled out to Borton, then stole [seco]nd and scored on Williams' single to right. [I] always shall believe Collins' throw would [hav]e beaten the runner to the plate if Cicotte had [not] intercepted and relayed it. That let Williams [reach] second, but Laporte was an easy third victim.

The visitors rapped Cicotte for two singles in [the] fourth, but did not get a man to second base [as] Weaver and Rath collaborated in a double [play] with Borton as receiver, which eliminated [Mor]gan's opening single from the equation. The [Sox in the] fourth saw the Sox accept another gift run. [Borton] started with a walk and Schaller whaled [a si]ngle to right. Weaver gracefully sacrificed [to] advance his pals to second and third, [but] Schalk wished he had saved his double for [that] occasion. Instead of duplicating it Schalk [fli]ed out. Easterly was hustled in to bat for [Cicotte] and rolled to Morgan.

Lange Gets Out of Hole.

Lange found himself in a hole right at the start [of the] fifth because Moeller singled and stole second [before] anybody was out. Milan flied and the next [one] grounded out, leaving the threatening run on [se]cond. In the sixth there was a deeper hole for [Lange] to lift himself out of. Laporte started by [beat]ing out a rap to Weaver back on the grass. [Morgan] walked and Shanks tried to sacrifice but [was] crossed and compelled to fly out. Lange tight[ened] his belt and struck out McBride and Hughes.

[The] rest of the way the visitors were decidedly [unable] but could afford to be.

The Sox had chances in every round except the [seve]nth. Lord singled with one gone in the fifth [and] perished trying to steal after Collins flied. [Schaller] walked with two gone in the sixth and [Weaver singled] cleanly, but Weaver flied the side out. [Lange was] given a pass and Lange beat out a bunt [with] only one down in the seventh. Lord flied to [Milan] after a wild pitch escaped Hughes, and [Lange] was sent home on a desperate chance of ty[ing] the count. He was nipped by an unquestion[able] margin. Two went out in the last half before [Schalk] worked Hughes for a pass. Manager Calla[han sent] Zeider on to run and Rollie responded by [stealing] second, but Lange was not there with the [necessary] hit to keep the crowd out in the fresh [air longer].

[Minne]apolis, Minn., May 7.—"Rube" Waddell, [the veteran] ball player, who recently announced [that he] had quit professional baseball forever, is [suffering] from blood poison in his right leg. Wad[dell rec]eived a slight bruise on the knee while [playing] with the Minneapolis team of the Northern [league] last Friday, but paid little attention to it. [It] stiffened on Monday, and yesterday he [was com]pelled to go to bed. According to the phy[sician] Waddell is in a serious condition, but be[lieves he] can save the leg.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Washington again today, tomorrow, and Saturday.

The west did not stack up particularly strong in yesterday's opening clash of the two sections. Cleveland was the only team to uphold the western end.

Lord picked Moeller's foul fly off the rim of the boxes in the seventh inning after a long chase for the ball. He barely missed one from Hughes' bat in nearly the same spot earlier in the day.

Gandil is out of the game nursing a sprained toe, contracted in a desperate slide to a base a few days ago. He was in uniform yesterday and may break back into the lineup during this series. Foster is laid up with fever.

Nicholas Altrock and "Middle Germany" Schaefer obliged with an exhibition of grand and lofty juggling just before the conclusion of the fielding practice. They are seeking a new sketch to take the place of the shadow bout which they presented last season.

Morgan pulled the prettiest fielding play for the visitors in the seventh, and, judging by succeeding events, it saved a tie score. The second sacker extended himself back of the base and pinched Schalk's hit, then fired to first for the out. It was the opening play of the inning, and a pass and single followed it.

Pitching of Carpenter, Who Holds the Rival Team to Three Hits, Responsible for Shutout Victory.

BY MAROON.

By playing its first errorless game of the season the Maroons baseball team defeated Rock Island Commercial league nine, 3 to 0, yesterday on Marshall field. Except in a few instances the game was well played. Carpenter did the twirling for the Midwayites, performing in clever style, as he allowed the opponents only three hits, while his teammates got to Paluski for seven safe ones. Score:

BROWN TAKES GAME IN NINTH.

Three Singles in Row After Two Down Responsible for Victory Over Princeton Team, 3 to 1.

Princeton, N. J., May 7.—Three singles in a row after two men had been retired in the final inning enabled Brown to defeat Princeton for the second time this season, 3 to 1. In the ninth inning singles by Dukette, Crowther, Loud, and Snell, and Johnson's sacrifice gave the visitors three runs. Sayre, Brown's freshman pitcher, held the Tigers to three hits, and would have registered a shutout but for a wild pitch in the seventh, which allowed Rhoads to score.

Elis Continue Winning Streak, Swamping Amherst, 14-1—Rout Proudfoot in the Third Inning.

New Haven, Conn., May 7.—Yale won its twelfth straight game today, swamping Amherst, 14 to 1. Yale found Proudfoot a puzzle at first, but in the third inning drove him from the slab. Robinson, who succeeded Proudfoot, was wild. Brown pitched well for Yale after the first two innings.

Cleveland, O., May 7.—The Boston Red Sox, the first of the eastern clubs to play on the local grounds this season, were defeated today, 4 to 1. Cy Falkenberg, who "came back" from the minor league this year, won his fifth consecutive game. Five Boston regulars were unable to be in the game because of injuries.

Boston's only score came in the fourth on doubles by Engle and Janvrin. In the second, with men on second and third, Falkenberg struck out three of the next four batters, purposely passing Carrigan. Score:

YANKEES BLANK TIGERS, 6 TO 0.

Chance's Team Starts Western Trip with Victory, Keating Allowing Detroit Only Two Hits.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—Frank Chance began his first western trip as an American league manager today with a victory, New York beating Detroit, 6 to 0. Keating, the recruit who won the two other games New York has captured this season, allowed Detroit only two hits. On several occasions his support wabbled, but sharp fielding came to his assistance when it was needed most.

Mullin was hit hard only in the second and fifth, Detroit's errors helping New York to several tallies. Zamloch, who replaced the veteran in the eighth, began his major league career by fanning Sweeney. He held the visitors scoreless.

Cobb, who declared a severe headache affected his eyesight, struck out twice and then retired from the game. In the last half of the third Mullin collided with Midkiff at third base. Midkiff was knocked senseless, but returned to his post after being revived. Score:

BRAVES VICTORS IN 12TH, 2-1

TYLER BIG PUZZLE ON SLAB.

Miscue by Sweeney in Second Gives Pittsburgh Its Only Run.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—Boston won another extra inning game from Pittsburgh today, the score being 2 to 1. The winning run came in the twelfth. It was a pitchers' battle between O'Toole and Tyler, the latter having the better of the argument.

Pittsburgh's single run was due to an error by Sweeney, Wilson scoring when the former dropped Whaling's throw to get Butler, who had started to steal. Boston tied the score in the fifth, when Whaling was hit and got around on singles by Maranville and Myers.

Each team had several opportunities to make another run, but strong pitching and fielding always prevented until the final inning. Maranville singled after one down and went to third on Myers' drive to center. Connelly put a high one to left and Carey muffed the ball, Maranville scoring. Score:

The Giants did not get a hit off the youngster after that round. Ames was wild and ineffective and was relieved with the bases full in the second. SAM WELLERISMS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 7.—[Special.]—After playing two more combats in Brooklyn the Cubs will resume war in this country.

George Pierce is slated to deal out left handed spitters to the Dahlen tribe in the game tomorrow.

Heinie Zim sat on the bench today because he was too ill to play up to his standard. He expects to be back on the job tomorrow.

Through the genial secretary, Charles Williams, the eating difficulties at the new lodging house were fixed up today so that none of the athletes had to seek food outside.

Several of the athletes had a unique experience last night. They attended a vaudeville show right on Broadway and were able to walk up to the box office, procure excellent seats for 35 cents, and enjoy the show with no tips to hat bandits.

A big beach dinner is to be given to Charley Ebbetts Saturday night, and more than 1,500 fans have bought tickets. The occasion is the thirtieth anniversary of the Brooklyn ball team. Charley Murphy, boss of the Cubs, will be on hand.

Young Mr. Cutshaw is playing a great game at second base for the Dodgers and seems likely to stand up well with the stars of the league. He robbed Bridwell of a hit in the fourth by a daring running catch of his short fly back of first base.

Outfielder Stengel gained a prize of $50 for his two base drive in the eighth inning because it hit the bull sign in right field on the fly. Frank Schulte got close to it, and in another stride he would have robbed Stengel of both a hit and the prize.

Bresnahan's home run might have been held to a double if Zack Wheat hadn't experienced great difficulty in picking up the ball. The drive struck fair back of third base, then rolled away out on foul ground against the left end of the grandstand. Wheat ran a long distance to get in front of it, then it hit the stand just right to carom past him and he had to chase again.

Players Clash, Following Tight Game, in Free for All Fight, Tris Speaker Suffering Most Damage.

Cleveland, O., May 7.—[Special.]—Ill feeling that cropped out between the Red Sox and Naps during the game today ended in a free for all fight under the grandstand after the contest was over. While none was seriously hurt, there was quite a little blood spilled, and Tris Speaker was spiked three times during a rough and tumble mixup.

An attempt was made to hush the matter, and none of the players would talk about it tonight, but the facts leaked out.

The trouble began when Carrigan blocked Graney off the plate and knocked him almost unconscious early in the game. This angered the Naps, who no longer are the meek and lowly players of yore, and they played like fiends after that.

STOVALL HERE TO PLEAD CASE.

Manager of Browns, Suspended for Row with Umpire, Seeks Interview with Ban Johnson.

George Stovall, suspended for conduct during the Cleveland-St. Louis game last Saturday in the Mound City, came to Chicago yesterday to seek an audience with President Johnson of the American league. He was unable to see the league head, who was detained at home by illness. "I am simply going to tell President Johnson what happened. I lost my head during the excitement and did something I shouldn't have done," said Stovall in commenting on the case.

CUBS' BACKSTOPS BEAT INFANTS, 4-3

TONEY PUZZLES DODGERS

BY SAM WELLER.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 7.—[Special.]—Timely swatting by the Cubs' two star catchers won a game of ball today against those enlivened Brooklyn athletes. Roger Bresnahan walloped a home run in the sixth inning which tied the count, and Jimmy Archer produced a single in the seventh which drove home the winning run. The score was 4 to 3.

The reason the two stars happened to be in the game at the same time was because Manager Dahlen had one of his active southpaws on the slab, Mr. Frank Allen, who has been almost unbeatable this spring. Manager Evers shifted his team a bit so there would not be so many left handed hitters to fall victims to the benders of Mr. Allen. He permitted Vic Saier to sit on the bench and put Archer on first base, while Roger did the backstopping. Tommy Leach, another right handed swatter, performed in the center garden in place of Ottie Clymer.

With the revised array of batting talent the curves of Mr. Allen did not look so distressing. As it turned out, Manager Evers made a wise move.

Fred Toney Hurls Well.

If any other Chicago athlete deserves special mention for the victory attained it is big Fred Toney of Goat Hill, Tenn. The big fellow was on the slab, and not only handed out a stiff assortment of curves and shoots but also displayed brilliant fielding ability, that helped in gaining the honor of suppressing the rushing Long Islanders.

It is worth while describing a clever piece of fielding on the part of Al Bridwell, too, for if he hadn't turned the trick the score would have been tied again in the eighth and possibly the game would have been lost. The Cubs were leading by one run in that round when, with one out, Stengel lined a ball against the right wall for two bases. Wheat was retired on a pop foul that brought Jake Daubert to bat.

Instead of giving Jake anything to hit, Toney deliberately walked him, preferring to take a chance on Smith, who followed. Then came the Bridwell trick. Smith cut a red hot smash between Phelan and Bridwell. It looked like a sure base hit, but Brid made a lunge to his right and stabbed the ball with his bare hand. There was no chance to make a throw to first base, but he shot it to Phelan on third just in time to force Stengel and retire the side.

Tie in Number of Hits.

The Cubs made the same number of base hits as the Dodgers and made all of them in seven innings. Mr. Allen gave his place at bat to a militiaman in the last of the seventh, when the fans were howling for a rally, and then Eddie Stack, the former Logan Square idol, took the slab and finished the game.

When the Cubs got off in front by scoring once in the opening inning it did not bother fans at all. When the Dodgers scored two in the second the rooters went mad, taking great delight in howling terrible things at Johnny Evers because Johnny had done some vicious protesting during the inning when he thought the Cubs had been given the worst of a couple of close plays on the bases.

More delight came for the home fans in the fifth, when the Cubs defense cracked twice in succession, permitting the Dodgers to get another tally. But Evers got even with the gang in the sixth, for he was coaching at first base when Roger Bresnahan drove out his home run that sent in two runs and tied the score.

Trojans Count in Opener.

The Cubs scored in a hurry, one run coming in before three minutes of the game was over. Leach led off with a walk. Schulte fouled to Daubert. Mitchell lammed to the fence in right center for two bases, scoring Leach. Phelan rolled out to Cutshaw, and Archer ended the round with a foul to Miller. In the second the Brooklyns whaled in a couple of counts, taking the lead. Wheat began with a single to right. Daubert followed with one to left, Wheat stopping at second. Smith sacrificed.

Fisher bounced to Bridwell and Wheat was nailed between third and home, Daubert going to third, while Fisher stopped at first. The latter then stole second. Bresnahan pegged to Evers, and Fisher was trapped; but Evers shot to third, thinking he could nail Daubert off the bag. The decision went the other way, and the Trojan protested with great fury. O. Miller then pulled a safe one inside of third, scoring both Daubert and Fisher. Miller tried to make a double of his swat, and was nipped at second.

Two errors put Toney in a bad hole in the fifth, but he crawled out with only one run counting. Fisher led off with a bunt toward first, and was safe when Archer muffed Toney's toss. Miller shot one which Phelan booted, and two were on. Allen bunted after two strikes were called and beat it for a single, filling the bags. Moran grounded out to Bridwell, Fisher scoring. Cutshaw bounced to Evers, who held Miller on third, then tossed Cutshaw out at first. Stengel fouled to Archer, ending the round.

Roger Puts Knot in Score.

Bresnahan's big bat tied the score in the sixth. Evers, first up, grounded out. Bridwell drew a base on balls, then Bresnahan clouted one inside of the third base, and while Zack Wheat was wrestling the ball out in the corner of left field, Roger legged it all the way around for a home run, driving Bridwell in ahead of him. Toney and Leach died on ground balls.

An error gave the Cubs an opening in the seventh, and they got one run. Two were out when Fisher fumbled Phelan's bounder. Phelan then stole second and scored when Archer drove a single to right field. Evers followed with a single to right, sending Archer to third. Johnny stole second, but the round ended when Bridwell bounded to Cutshaw. Dahlen called out his pinch hitters thereafter in an effort to get another run, but every attack was repulsed.

TAX ASSESSORS CALL ROSENWALD

He and Other Sears-Roebuck Officers Must Explain Why Stock Is Not Listed.

PFAELZER HELPS WIDOW.

Also Clashes with Wolff Over Examination of Schedules in Meeting.

Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and other officers of that firm will be summoned today to call personally on the board of assessors and explain why they have not listed their mail order shares in their personal property schedules. All have ignored the invitations by mail and none ever has listed Sears-Roebuck stock, according to Secretary Frank W. Koraleski of the assessors.

Other Sears, Roebuck & Co. officers who also will enjoy personal summons will be Albert H. Loeb, vice president; Richard W. Sears, one of the founders; Max Adler, O. C. Doering, A. N. and M. S. Rosenwald.

Julius Rosenwald returned yesterday from New York and declined to discuss the subject, although aware of the details. Mr. Sears was reported in Minneapolis.

Pfaelzer Aids Widow.

Assessor David M. Pfaelzer assumed the rôle of humanitarian when he struck from the rolls the schedule of a widowed mother and her two sons, the youngest less than 3 years old. The father left $6,000 to his widow and $12,000 for the babies. Mr. Pfaelzer found the woman had paid heavy taxes last year, and rapidly figured the sons' estate would be eaten up by taxes, even though at interest, before they arrived at legal age.

Friction developed between members of the board, notably Mr. Pfaelzer and Adam Wolff, when Wolff did not think schedules he had passed should be subject to review by other members of the board. He offered to agree to it if the other assessors would let him review the schedules they had approved, and said he would bring it before the board at the next meeting.

Pfaelzer Tells New Plan.

"At the first meeting of the board in January," said Mr. Pfaelzer, "we decided one assessor should not pass on schedules without the approval of the entire board. This was reaffirmed on Friday. I have made it a practice since March 25 personally to look over every schedule of more than $5,000, no matter who accepted it. If it is not accurate, I send a notice to the taxpayer to call and confer. I have sent out about 6,500 notices and have seen the recipients at the rate of 20 daily. This never has been done before because there has not been a business man in this office up to this time."

Mr. Pfaelzer was asked if he intended going after wealthy tax dodgers, who, it is said, are amenable to back taxation under the Jones decision handed down by the state Supreme court at the instance of some tax reformer. He said he was not, as assessments "raised to the ceiling" were invariably cut by the board of review. He was persuading wealthy taxpayers to increase their schedules, he said.

Reluctant Brewers to Be Called.

The large brewers of Chicago have failed to file schedules and will be summoned by the assessors. At a conference two weeks ago the brewers' association, through Attorney Austin A. Doyle, showed its favor of the old method of scheduling personal property at the rate of $1 a barrel, with 25 cents a barrel for firms outside the county. Such a schedule included the bar furniture and the assessors consider it unfair to the county.

An opinion submitted by County Attorney Carl R. Chindblom declared the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund, of which Sherman C. Kingsley is trustee, to be not exempt from taxation. The opinion held the fund could be used for private as well as public charity, and consequently was liable to taxation. The fund is about $1,000,000.

The Continental and Commercial National bank agreed to raise its schedule $1,000,000. The original sum was $20,848,246.

"EGYPTIAN" CORN BRINGS SUIT.

Papers Which Print Story of Illinois Grain Being Sold as Foreign Sued for Libel.

Whether James A. Everett of Indianapolis actually sold twelve grains of "Egyptian" corn for 25 cents, alleging he found a few grains in the casing of a mummy, will be thrashed out in a libel suit for $10,000 instituted by Everett before Judge McDonald. Attorneys are examining a jury. The suit is directed against the Peterson Linotype company and the Regan printing house, publishers of the Equity Farm Journal.

In January, 1908, they published, according to the bill, an article accusing Everett of buying red corn in Chicago for 65 cents a bushel and selling it for about $1,283 to farmers who wanted "Egyptian seed corn."

5:45 p. m.—"Social service" supper in banquet hall for women and men.

A Bohemian woman and her ten small children were deported yesterday from the Ellis island at the Coliseum, and all because she refused steadfastly to tell her age.

This section of the World in Chicago exhibition was crowded with women and children anxious to see how immigrants are questioned, treated, passed, or rejected by the government officials at the island.

"Where were you born?" the interrogator asked of another woman.

"In Germany."

"Married or single?"

"Yah, twice."

A number of immigrants were passed and a smaller group were booked to return to the other side.

The Ellis island station was not the only place to attract attention. The medical missionaries, who showed how patients in other lands were treated and cared for, compared the skillful scientific methods employed by the white man, to the crude and barbarous customs of the African witch doctor and the Indian medicine man, drew almost as big a gathering.

Mrs. McKee to Visit Mrs. Carter Harrison.

MRS. CARTER H. HARRISON is expecting an interesting guest on Saturday in Mr. Harrison's cousin, Mrs. J. R. McKee, who will come from the east for a family visit. Mrs. McKee is the daughter of the late President Harrison. She has made many friends among Chicagoans on her previous visits to Mayor and Mrs. Harrison. Mrs. Harrison has asked a few of these friends to 5 o'clock tea on Monday afternoon and other events will be given for Mrs. McKee during her visit.

Chicagoans, too, will be interested in knowing that Mrs. McKee's son, Benjamin Harrison McKee, the famous "Baby McKee" of the White House during his grandfather's administration, now is a Chicago resident. Mr. McKee has become affiliated with a Chicago business house. He is living at the University club.

Now there is a real company of "Lake Forest Players." Heretofore the group of men and women who have given society plays under this title have greeted the company name in a facetious spirit. But the title has clung to them and yesterday announcement was sent out to the effect that an executive committee of three had been selected to run the playhouse, arrange for the production of suitable plays, and look after the company's interests. Charles Atkinson is chairman, his associates being J. Allen Haines and Charles S. Dewey.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aldis, on whose property in Lake Forest The Playhouse is located, and by whom it is owned, have gone abroad for the summer. Their country estate has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. McMullin, who have turned over the Playhouse for the use of the Lake Forest players during the summer. The first of a series of plays will be given on Friday evening, June 6, and repeated on Saturday evening, June 7. After the return of Mr. and Mrs. Aldis three plays already arranged for by Mrs. Aldis will be given.

Among those in the company of players are:

Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin,	Miss Lucy Blair,
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atkinson,	Miss Katherine Jones,
Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey,	Miss Olive Farwell,
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Poole,	Miss Mabel Linn,
Mrs. Samuel T. Chase,	Miss Dorothy Linn,
Mrs. Laird Bell,	Benjamin Carpenter,
Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Haines,	J. Dorr Bradley,
Countess Gizycka,	Ernst von Ammon,
Mrs. Walter S. Brewster,	Frank Henderson,
Mrs. J. Arnold Scudder,	Alfred Hamill,
	Wallace Rice,
	Uri B. Grannis,
	Noble B. Judah Jr.,
	Murray Nelson Jr.

Miss Eva Crane Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Vail, 5001 Sheridan road, and Lawrence G. Hallberg Jr. will be married on June 3 at the Blackstone hotel. One thousand invitations have been issued. Miss Mary Glenn of Evanston is to be maid of honor and Miss Helen Glenn, Miss Gladys Kennedy of Dayton, O., and Miss Corinne Cowdery will be bridesmaids. The bridegroom will be served by John Childs of Evanston as best man and George Hollett, Samuel Crane Vail, a brother of the bride, and Norman Hallberg will be the ushers.

Miss Louise Mann Frost, daughter of Col. and Mrs. A. S. Frost, 810 Davis street, Evanston, who will become the bride of Peter Olson of Vermillion, S. D., on June 10, has chosen her bridal party. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Miss Myrtle Frost, the bride's sister, will be maid of honor, and Miss Ethel Frost, another sister, and Miss Helen Paddock of Chicago will be bridesmaids. Mildred Mann of Evanston, a cousin of the bride, will be flower girl. William Mann of Evansville, Ind., will be best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Miller of Grand Rapids, Mich., announce the marriage of their daughter, Bertha, to Charles Frederic Schoonmaker of Chicago. The wedding took place yesterday at noon at the residence of Mrs. B. F. Stone, where the bride has resided for the last two years. The bride was attended by Mrs. Albert Victor Chase of Milwaukee and the groom by Hugh J. Gray of Chicago, formerly of Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker will be at home after June 1 at 1028 Dearborn avenue.

How to Earn Money at Home

> The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions, The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published. Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.
>
> The exhibit room in The Tribune building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., except on Saturday, when it closes at noon.

What Are You Doing?

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

WHAT are you doing with yourself these fresh spring days?

I wonder if you are busy answering telephone calls and letters in regard to orders for your home work!

That is what a lot of home women are doing in Chicago, in the country, in the small towns all over the United States.

Home women they are, too!

Home women who never before have sold a single dollar's worth of the work that they now are so busy making to order.

Don't you realize what a lot of time you are wasting when day after day you intend to make a start and then don't do anything about it?

"O I am too old!" you say, "to start now to earn money at home."

Would you be surprised if I told you that there are grandmas and great-grandmas who are enthusiastically earning money at home through the assistance that this department offers to them?

Or perhaps you say, "I am surely too young —I am just a schoolgirl!"

I could tell you of dozens of high and grammar schoolgirls who have earned their own graduation dresses this year through the help of the Tribune Home Workers' Market place!

Are you a business woman and so think that there is no place for you to earn money through the Tribune Home Workers' Market place?

So many business women have earned extra money in the evenings and on Saturday afternoons during the past months.

So many of them earned their Christmas money and are now earning their vacation money in this way—just by the use of their extra time.

The How to Earn Money at Home department and the Tribune Home Workers' Market place are for every single woman who wants to have more money.

For every woman—young or old, married or single—who wants more money and who is willing to coöperate with me to earn it.

It is for the woman who wants to earn a regular income and for the woman who wants simply extra money.

For the woman who is exceptionally talented and for the woman who has simply the home talents to use.

This is what I want you to realize—that this department is for you if you want to earn money.

If you want little or you want much, if you live in the city or in the country.

Won't you stop reading of the success of other home women and start to make a success of your own?

The success of other women is inspiring, but your own success is far more so and you can make just as great a success as they have made if you will make the same effort they have made.

Will you become one of the many successful women who have won that success through their determination to succeed and through the help that was offered to them by this department?

Canvassing.

I have a family of six, and here is the way I have earned quite a little money, gained in health, and found many kind people: I took out an agency for the best magazines, also a well known lot of toilet preparations not sold in stores. I felt I could spare the time to go out. I never cleared less than $1.25 to $2 per half day. I did my own work, too. Mornings are best to go out. Almost no money is required to start with. MRS. ADAH TILDEN, Brookfield, Ill.

Recipe for Coffee Cake.

A neat little sum of money is made by selling coffee cakes at 50 cents each. The recipe makes two cakes, baked in bread tins, and is as follows: Two cups of brown sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of molasses, one cup of strong cold coffee, four eggs, one teaspoon of soda, two teaspoons of cinnamon, two teaspoons of ground cloves, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg, one pound of raisins, one pound of currants, four cups of flour, and lemon flavoring.

MRS. L. A. SCHWAGER, 4 Fifield row, Ashland, Wis.

Cares for Children.

I am a high school boy and take care of furnaces in our neighborhood, empty ash cans, etc., but the way I make the most is by taking care of little boys whose mothers want to go out for an afternoon or evening. The children would rather have a boy to play with, and besides being sport for me I make 25 or 50 cents an afternoon, which amounts to something by the end of the week. There are three families in our neighborhood who have one son each, and sometimes I take care of all three at the same time and get 25 cents for each boy. I often stay with them in the evening, too. The children go to bed early and I do my studying the same as though I were at home.

Makes Her Own Spending Money.

I have a friend who makes all her own spending money besides helping her husband to buy them a home. One of the ways she has of doing this is by making and selling home made bread and doughnuts. This is a bread recipe that never fails: Put to soak in two cups of lukewarm water one 2 cent cake of compressed yeast, add enough flour to make a sponge, let rise until light. Take one and one-half quarts of lukewarm water, add one tablespoon melted lard, one tablespoon sugar, salt to taste, then add the sponge and enough flour to make stiff, knead well, and set in a warm place to rise. When light knead again, and when light make into loaves. This will make six loaves of bread or five loaves and a pan of biscuits. She sells her bread for 10 cents a loaf and her doughnuts for 10 cents a dozen or three dozen for a quarter. When there is a small family one finds it cheaper to buy than bake.

MRS. J. A. WIAN, 7335 Evans avenue.

Arranges Menus for Luncheons.

I have a friend who does well by arranging luncheons and teas. She charges $2.50 for luncheons and $1.50 for teas. She sets the table and prepares the food. For one of her luncheons she gave as a starter butterfly salad. Slice oranges and grapefruit, remove the rind by cutting it off with scissors, also the core, and let them stand with sugar sprinkled over them. Take a can of pineapple and cut a slice in half, placing it on the plate it is to be served in, putting the round edges together. On top of this a slice of grapefruit cut in half, round edges together. Do the same with the orange. Then put a cherry in the center for the body and two thin pieces of angelica for the feelers. This looks just like a butterfly.

K. M. WOOLF, 90 Morningside drive, New York.

Sunberries.

Now that the berry season is on again, the following delicious strawberry preserve is something unusual and unique, and will prove to be a good seller:

Hull and wash berries. Measure pound for pound of fruit and sugar. Put sugar on to cook with one cup of water to each pound. When the liquid is cooked clear add berries and let all come to a boil, then remove from stove, place on large platters, sirup and all, and let stand in the sun for three days. Then put in jars and seal.

CHICAGO WOMAN PLEADS FOR WELFARE OF THE CHILD.

Jacksonville, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—The fourteenth annual child welfare convention of the Illinois Congress of Mothers convened here tonight. Twenty-five delegates are present from Chicago and other portions of the state are well represented.

After the annual May day fête at the Illinois Woman's college Mrs. L. D. Doty of Chicago, president of the congress, called the delegates to order in the State Street church.

President Rammelkamp of the Illinois Woman's college gave the address of welcome. The principal speaker of the initial session was Mrs Mary Boomer Page of the Chicago Kindergarten institute, who spoke on "The Duty of Society to the Young Woman."

She declared that the problems, possibilities, privileges, and tremendous duties of every member of society in the direction of the conservation of human life were just beginning to be realized. The time had arrived when society must face the problem of the conservation of human life, but not until the child life in the home and in the school was properly cultured would the solution be possible. Here was the place to begin, and only on such a foundation could humanity hope to reach a higher level and realm of more enduring strength.

Robert G. Warfield Explains to Judge Fry He Needs Money, So Fine of Only $10 Is Imposed.

Municipal Court Judge Fry does not believe in interfering with marriage plans. Yesterday Robert G. Warfield, 22 years old, 4831 Kenwood avenue, appeared in the speeders' court.

"I was arrested two years ago for speeding, your honor, and was fined," he said. "Since then I have been doubly careful, especially as I am going to be married in two weeks and need the money. Be as easy as you can, judge, every dollar counts."

"Well, this court doesn't believe in blocking any wedding plans, so I'll let you off with a $10 fine and costs," said the court.

Failure to locate the motorcycle policeman who arrested the chauffeur for Dr. T. W. Brophy, 6007 Kenmore avenue, resulted in the case being dismissed for want of prosecution. This is the third case within the last few days dismissed for want of prosecution. Dr. Brophy announced that he would prefer charges against the officer with the civil service commission. He said the policeman was abusive.

See These Exquisite Viennese Models, They Will Be Widely Copied This Fall

Graceful and artistic in the highest degree, it expresses the utmost development of the Viennese coach-maker's art, with centuries of royal and aristocratic lineage behind it.

So marked is the preference shown this exquisite car by American women of refinement and good taste that other makers are being forced to alter their present severe and ungraceful lines in an attempt to copy it.

You will see many such efforts within the next few months. But every one should be simply another reason for your choice of the Ohio Electric—for no imitation can approach the original.

News of the Theaters.

Chicago Theater Society to Change Its Plan.

CHANGES are to be made in the organization of the Chicago Theater society for a more comprehensive campaign next season. A definite body of members is to be secured to back the productions brought to Chicago under the society's auspices. There will be no membership fee and the members will consist of those who purchase $50 worth of the society's coupons before the opening of the season. These coupons are made up in books of fifty each and may be exchanged for any of the society's productions at their full face value. These coupon books are to be sold at 10 per cent discount. By this arrangement purchasers obtain $50 worth of tickets to the society's plays at a discount and also a membership in the society.

During the year lectures by actors will be given under the society's auspices for its members. Those purchasing only $25 worth of tickets will be known as associate members and will be admitted to these lectures for a small fee. The members and associate members will receive all the announcements and literature of the society and their names will appear upon the society's programs.

In addition to this membership there will be a group of supporting members consisting of those who guarantee the work of the society to the extent of $100 or more. These supporting members will be called upon for only such proportion of their subscriptions as may be necessary to make good the expenses of the society's season. There will also be a group of associate supporting members consisting of the younger men of Chicago who, while interested in the work of the Theater society, feel unable to guarantee more than $50.

During the season a series of dinners will be given for the supporting and the associate supporting members at which they will have the opportunity of discussing the various productions. The officers and directors of the society will be elected by these supporting members.

By means of this organization it is hoped next year to develop the influence of the society so that much more may be accomplished than in the season just ended. During the present season forty-five plays have been produced. Last year the society's experiment with the Drama Players cost approximately $35,000. Only nine plays were produced through a season extending over ten weeks. This year five times as many plays have been produced, the season has been twice as long, and the expense less than half.

The present scheme of the society to give the Chicago theater going public the opportunity of enjoying the various plays which might not otherwise be brought to Chicago by the regular managers has been found to be a practical one. The best example of the successful operation of this scheme is that of "Hindle Wakes," which failed in New York and was about to return to London when it was brought to Chicago by the society.

Already the Theater society is recognized by the producers as a live institution, and negotiations for next season are now under way with a number of managers in the east and also in England. The society probably will open its season some time in September or early October with a revival of "The Yellow Jacket." Negotiations are also in progress with Mr. Brady for the production of a series of short plays by a company which will alternate between New York and Chicago.

Other plans of the society include a season by an English repertoire company in a series including several of the recent London successes and several revivals.

Miss Dwyer's last previous appearance here was as the picturesque Frisco Kate in "The Deep Purple." Now she is the gracious old gentlewoman of the minor romance in the play at Powers'.

Fifty Cent Seats Continue at Powers'.

Fifty cent seats of $2 value will continue at Powers' theater, it was decided yesterday after a conference between Manager Harry J. Powers and Charles L. Wagner of the Morosco-Wagner company, owners of "The Money Moon," now playing in Chicago.

The conference was so amicable that Mr. Powers later announced a revised schedule of summer prices, which included the holding out for each night and Saturday matinée performances of 100 seats on the lower floor and 200 in the balcony for the half-dollar-after-eight patrons, irrespective of the quantity uncalled for. The $2 seats have been abandoned entirely for summer and the prices will be $1.50 and 50 cents, except the Wednesday and Friday matinées, which will be $1 to 50 cents.

"We will continue the run of 'The Money Moon' indefinitely," said Mr. Powers. "There has been no complaint as to receipts, and my eastern associates, after looking things over, have concluded I have a pay lead in this 'after eight' discount scheme. They are watching it with great interest in New York and other parts of the country."

Benefit to Aid Ambitious Girls.

Girls without means who have aspirations to become ballet dancers will be given a benefit performance tomorrow night at the Whitney Opera house. The proceeds will go for scholarships for students who have applied for training but have not been able to pay their tuition.

The program will be under charge of Mme. Josephine Hatlanek. Students will perform the ballet operatic toe, classic, national, character, and historic dancing. One of the young dancers will be Miss Ada O'Donnell. She is on the program for the Mendelssohn "Spring Song" as danced forty years ago and today. Miss Marie Soldanova will give an exhibition of Russian ballet and Miss Lillie Ross of Hungarian dancing. Miss Erna Reburg will perform the Greek classic and esthetic dances.

Drama League Entertainment.

The Drama League of Chicago will give its first entertainment to members Saturday, May 10, at 10 a. m., in the Fine Arts theater, with a program calculated to illustrate the educational work of the organization.

There will be a one act play by E. C. Erlich called "The Return of Spring" and acted by a group of children from Stanford Park, De Banville's "Gringoire," acted by children from Bessemer Park, and one scene from Laurence Housman's "Chinese Lantern" by a group from Hamilton Park. Addresses will be given by E. D. De Groot, John Morrill, and Messrs. Samson, Allison, and Daily.

Americans Presented at Court of St. James.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 7.—Among the Americans presented at court tonight were Adrian Iselin, father-in-law of Irwin Laughlin, secretary of the American embassy, and his daughter Louise, who wore a gown of plain blue satin with a court train of gold material; Mrs. Charles Greenough, daughter of F. W. Whitridge, who was presented some time ago, but was again presented on her marriage, and who wore a gown of ivory satin vestale, the corsage draped à la Diane over the palest rose, and edged with rows of diamonds, the skirt draped to the side with a floating bias of ivory tulle hemmed with diamonds, the back being draped with a cascade of tulle fringed with crystal diamond dewdrops. A court train of blue nattier charmeuse lined with cloth of silver and draped with soft folds of nattier chiffon was strung from the shoulders by diamond clasps. Her ornaments were diamonds and pearls.

Others presented were Helen Marie Stuart, daughter of W. G. Stuart of New York, who wore silver tissue brocade and a court train lined with pink satin, and who carried a bouquet of pink roses; Ella Wheeler Wilcox, who wore a white chiffon gown, hand painted, with water lilies. The train, which was of English panne velvet, was made by an English dressmaker.

Plan Memorials to Peace.

New York, May 7.—Memorial arches at the points where the proposed international highways will cross the border between the United States and Canada, a memorial bridge across the Niagara river, and historical monuments on both sides of the boundary were among the plans formulated today by the Canadian and American delegates to the conference to arrange for the celebration by English speaking people of the centenary of peace in 1915.

The Canadian and American delegates agreed to urge that their respective governments erect the arches where the proposed international highways—the Quebec and Miami in the east and Los Angeles and Vancouver in the west—cross the boundary.

It was felt that the suggestion to erect a memorial bridge over Niagara river required the advice of engineers and definite action on this proposal was postponed until tomorrow.

The delegates were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie at a garden party today and tomorrow they will be entertained at luncheon by Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

"Drys" to Invade South Side.

The "prohibition and forward" meetings, said to be the most extensive ever attempted locally, and aiming at a dry majority in Cook county within five years, will be transferred to the south side tomorrow.

The campaign is now under way on the west side, tonight's meetings at the Second Swedish Methodist church and the Irving Park Christian church, with Aaron S. Watkins, Charles J. Hall, and Fred W. Corbett speaking, and the Humboldt Park Baptist and Bethany Presbyterian churches, where Eugene Chafin, E. E. Lobeck, and James H. Woertendyke speak.

On May 17 the meetings are to be transferred to the north side.

May Merge Two Denominations.

Decatur, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Action calling for a joint conference of the Methodist Protestant and United Brethren churches following the United Brethren conference opening here Thursday is forecast by the presence of twelve members of the Methodist Protestant church, who probably will take the floor to discuss the merger.

University Club to Present Play.

Next Tuesday evening the Musical and Dramatic association of the University club will present a musical play called "The Discovery of La Salle by Chicago," or "Now and Then," at the Blackstone theater. The entire production is the work of members of the University club. Preceding the play there will be a dinner at the club for members, their families and friends.

De Paul Students to Debate.

The De Paul university debating team will go to Kankakee, Ill., on Saturday to debate against St. Viator college on woman suffrage. The university, upholding the affirmative, will be represented by Harry D. Taft, J. A. Kalnin, and J. J. Coughlin Jr.

Fighting Cost of Living.

BY MARY ELEANOR O'DONNELL.

Six Boys in a Flat.

There are six of us boys going together and until recently only one was living at home. About two months ago his folks went east, and instead of selling or storing the furniture they let us take the flat, which is a light five room one. We have a piano and graphophone, and where formerly we used to be on the corner or in a poolroom until late every night, we are now in every night and occasionally give a party or go to a good play. A neighbor woman comes each morning and night to cook and clean up for us, for which we pay her $12 a month. We are all about 19 years old and average $11 a week in salary. We each give the housekeeper $4.50 a week, or about $108 a month, and she expends it as follows:

Rent	$ 30.00
Groceries	45.00
Housekeeper	12.00
Gas and electricity	6.00
Laundry (household only)	6.00
Phone	1.50
Total	$100.50

The balance is distributed evenly each month, and we have about $6.50 left each week for car fare, clothing, and miscellaneous expenses. We carry our lunches, and all have a small bank account now. "TORCHY."

On $15 a Week.

I would like to give my experience how to reduce the high cost of living. My husband is only a cigarmaker, making $15, sometimes $16 a week, but he does not help the saloonkeeper to live. We have two boys, one 6 and the other 8 years old, and managed to save $500 in four years. We pay cash for everything. My boys have never had a suit, coat, or underwear bought ready made. I make all their clothes from my husband's and brother's old clothes. I do all my own sewing, also make my husband's shirts and night shirts, trim my own hats, and I seldom have a new one, but make my old one over. I do my own baking, make all kinds of jelly, and put up fruit when in season, also make pickles. I do not wash or iron, but give that out and it costs me $2.25 every two weeks. We have meat, two vegetables, pie, pudding, or cake every day. I do not order by telephone, but go to market myself. I have a home made fireless cooker which saves gas. We seem to have everything to eat, drink, and wear; besides we go to Chicago once or twice a year, also go to a show once in a while, and then save a little money. I always make it a point to live within my income. My rent is $16 a month. J. F., Peoria.

Specializes on Comforts.

The fight against the high cost of living seems to be waged largely against the grocer, the butcher, and baker. In going back and forth on the elevated trains I see much bedding out on the lines to be aired. Most of the comforts are of the ready made varieties. One rarely if ever sees the old fashioned, home made, large-enough-to-be-tucked-in kind. I find one can piece tops out of scraps of goods and out of old waists and skirts, and make good comforts. One can easily be knotted in a couple of hours. Also pretty cotton tops and cotton batts can be bought for very little money. At the top of my comforts I put a strip of flour sacks or cheese cloth about eighteen inches wide to keep the top from getting soiled. This can be ripped off and washed whenever necessary and is a great saving to comfort tops.

I buy the wide, unbleached Pepperill sheeting at sales and it is bleached easily by hanging out in the sun a few days. Also my plain kitchen aprons. I can get gingham at 4 and 5 cents and for 10 cents can make a good work apron in a very short time. Instead of buying holders for kitchen use, one can make them in the same way as comforts—out of scraps at little cost. Dish towels can be made from bleached flour sacks and old table cloths, and dish cloths from salt sacks sewed together. The worn out knitted underwear makes fine wash rags, and old worn out black hose make excellent mops. M. M.

Superstitions About Stones.

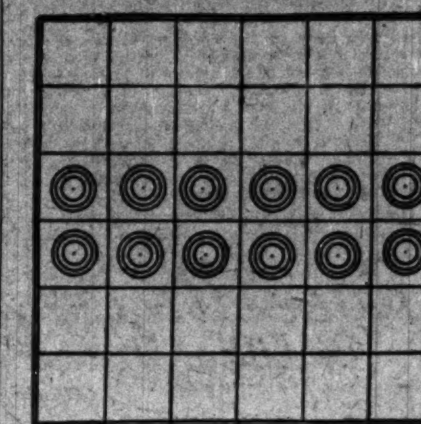
There is hardly a precious stone that has not some superstition connected with it. Italians wear coral necklaces as charms to avert the evil eye, and some people in our own land still wear a string of amber beads, not because they are fashionable but to ward off sore throats.

A piece of agate is supposed to be an infallible guard against lightning and a cure for thirst, and the beryl was believed by the ancients to cure leprosy and to promote happiness between man and wife.

Turquoise is held to be a protection against falls and sudden injuries, and topaz used to be very highly prized because it was believed to have magical powers of dispelling enchantments and calming frenzy.

Superstition still attaches itself to the opal. The ancients considered that this gem had the power of rendering its owner loyal, and also of bestowing on him the gift of invisibility. But when it was found that the stone easily became loosened in its setting and lost, the idea was set up that it was unlucky, except to people born in October, whose birth stone it is.

Two in Each Row.



Can you rearrange the twelve counters on this board of thirty-six squares so that there are two counters on each row, column, and diagonal?

There must not be more than these two counters in the same straight line.

An Antidote for Love.

Spirit of resolution	14 ounces
Spirit of employment	13 ounces
Spirit of good advice	12 ounces
Spirit of indifference	1 ounce
Powder of disdain	2 grains
Oil of absence	2 ounces

"These ingredients," the recipe quaintly concludes, "should be put into a saucepan of sound reason, with a handful of best heart's-ease, stirred up with a sprig of thyme, and strained through a long bag of patience."

Kangaroos in Channel Islands.

Kangaroos are a feature of the little island of Herm, one of the Channel Islands, leased by a German count who is a great-grandson of the famous Field Marshal Blucher.

It may be that, taking a stroll along a path, one comes across an unexpected kangaroo. A few were brought to the island many years ago, and have bred so prolifically in their congenial surroundings that of late years it has been found necessary to shoot several of them on account of depredations they make upon the crops.

Hiding in the thick undergrowth, however, they are seldom to be seen till dusk or in the early dawn, and many a visitor comes and goes entirely unaware of their presence.

Riddles.

If you suddenly saw a house on fire, what three celebrated authors would you feel inclined to name?

Great Scott, Howitt, Burns (Great Scott! how it burns!)

Why was Moses the most wicked man that ever lived?

Because he broke all the commandments at once.

A Robber Plant.

One of the strangest of plants is the squamaria, or scaly plant, which has something of the nature of a parasitic fish, and only shows above the surface for a short while in the spring.

Like other "spongers" it is entirely without green, which may be called the color of health in plants, because it feeds entirely on the roots of trees. It is a rarity, but not quite so rare as is generally thought, because its appearance from the depths, where it sucks the life from roots, is for so short a space.

MINNESOTA WOMEN DEPLORE CORSET DISPLAYS IN WINDOWS

Current News Club of New Ulm Tells Merchants They Have Harmful Influence on Young Persons.

New Ulm, Minn., May 7.—[Special.]—The Current News club of this city, the membership of which is confined to women, has mailed letters to local dry goods merchants protesting against the practice of displaying corsets in store windows to the gaze of men and boys. The letter says:

"The Current News club has for some time felt the window display of corsets and moving picture show advertisements of a like nature have had a harmful influence on young people. It is noticeable that people who look at these exhibits are men and boys, the women not wishing to stop on the street to examine them. The Current News club therefore kindly asks you to use your influence in preventing such window displays and such slides in moving picture shows."

The business men have replied, calling attention to more important reforms that might be undertaken first, such as high school boys smoking cigarets and keeping late hours. One or two have volunteered to meet the members of the club and discuss moral questions. The merchants are not disposed to comply with the club's request to discontinue the corset displays.

Woodlawn Copper Head of Class.

MERRIAM SAYS SUBWAY PLAN IS A FAILURE FINANCIALLY.

Alderman Declares Scheme Won't Hold Good and Is Supported in Contention by Club.

Ald. Charles E. Merriam declared the Chicago subway plan a failure as a financial proposition at a "transportation dinner" given by the Northwest Side Commercial club in a hall at North and Western avenues last evening. The alderman inspired a demonstration unfriendly to subways, in which 500 persons took part.

"The subway financial scheme," said Mr. Merriam, "will not hold good. Do you want subways out here?"

The response was a chorus of "Noes."

"The plan for the merger of the elevated railroads," said the alderman, "has blown up."

"The merger," he continued amid cheers, "was organized in a back room by a lot of lawyers and stock jobbers."

Mr. Merriam advocated taking the traction question out of politics and the organization of a system that will handle traction questions scientifically.

"The city now has incompetent legal and engineering advice," he declared. "Chief consideration in the settlement of transportation questions is given to the payment of political debts."

"Safety first," as the system is employed in many of the large factories of the United States, was shown by moving pictures and explained to the labor commissioners and factory inspectors of the various states yesterday at their annual joint convention at the Hotel Sherman.

Ferdinand C. Schwedtman, general manager of the Racine-Sattley company of Springfield, Ill., and vice president of the National Manufacturers' association, said that more than $50,000 had been spent by his association in the last three years in spreading the "safety first" gospel.

He said that in all probability a museum to show the benefits of "safety first" appliances would be fitted up at Washington soon. Three reels of motion pictures were shown, showing how accidents occur in factories, how to prevent fires, and the education of the employés by the employer.

A tour of the city was made by the delegates in the morning. A. Bowers spoke on the "Assimilation of the Immigrant" at the night session.

The World's Cooks

By Jane Eddington

An Italian Stove—Economical.

ROME.

THERE is no servant problem here. In an Italian kitchen were found three girls working each for $4 a month. Strong girls like these are easy to get. One had served as a porter in her previous place, where there were fourteen or fifteen servants and where she did all the carrying of trunks, water, and heavy loads of all sorts. She got a little more money there, but she prefers her present work, where she daily becomes more capable because she is constantly instructed.

The kitchen table in the good sized room had a heavy marble top. On one of the shelves was also a marble mortar, a utensil quite indispensable in most European kitchens. For dinner some anchovies, perhaps a cent's worth, were ground up in this to put in the salad dressing.

In one corner of the room was a sink, in the next a food closet (there was a large storeroom outside), in the next what answered for a stove, and in the fourth a door almost beside which was a porcelain strip fastened on the walls, in which were four hooks with the words over them meaning towel for glass, towel for plates, etc.

Just beyond this and higher up on the wall were many utensils, and between the door and the sink the upper part of the wall was covered with all sorts of copper kettles and covers. Almost all the utensils in this room were of copper, though there were two or three frying pans of our cheap American sheet iron, which were kept wrapped in paper because they rust so easily. To have kettles of many sizes is one of the ways the Italian woman economizes.

The stove seemed to me about the most primitive thing imaginable. It was of porcelain tiles with three holes in the middle of the top. In two of these was a grate about six inches square sunk about four or five inches. This grate was really the bottom of an iron pan with slanting sides, which was at the top the size of the hole in the stove. Under this was an air space extending to a square hole which could be closed with a sliding door. The total depth of the whole stove was not more than eighteen inches. Underneath were closets with large iron doors for charcoal, coal, etc.

Into each of the two iron pans with grate bottoms was put about 2 or 3 cents' worth of charcoal, and on the fires lighted an elaborate dinner was cooked. When the fire was not quite brisk enough a feather fan was waved before the door, never over the fire. When it was no longer necessary to have the charcoal waste itself by rapid burning the door into the air space was closed and the fire was just kept alive until it was needed for further use.

The third hole in the stove was over a space where coal could be burned. The cover for this was made up of many rings. This was the place to do economical cooking. Copper stewpans hanging on the walls had each a little ridge like those in the upper pieces of our double boilers, which holds this part at a set place. These copper pans were made in this way to set down into the holes represented by these rings of different sizes.

The stove was close against the wall, which had a facing of tiles, but, covering about eighteen inches or more of these, was a sheet of iron, and in front of it on the stove was a sheet of the same size. In the angle between these two could be built the charcoal fire (there was a great hood over the stove which came down quite low), before which food could be roasted on a spit.

The spit itself was a slender rod of iron fastened at one end to a simple little machine about a foot high, in the top of which was something that worked like a clock and was wound up by a handle on the outside. The other end rested on something that looked like a temporary desk file with an exceptionally long point. In this point were notches in any one of which could rest the other end of the spit.

With three windings this spit would go long enough to roast a chicken—or three, for that matter, since the spit was long enough for three. The outfit cost something less than $3. Five cents' worth of charcoal was sufficient for the work. Leftover coals could be put on the iron for anything like an upright Welsh rabbit.

Of course there was no oven to this stove. When any baking was to be done, which is not often, what is called a country oven (forno di campagna) was used.

This is something like a tin bushel measure with a cover which will hold coals on it. Foods of some sorts are baked with a fire of coals both under and over. There are small rocks in the bottom which, when heated through, hold the heat and save a great deal of fuel.

Cornmeal Mush.

Four cups cold water, salted to taste; one cup cornmeal. Cook in double boiler for at least two hours. Stir often till it thickens.

A Deaf Musician.

I saw in the Corner a letter from a reader who says she has been giving music lessons for a number of years, but is now deaf. May I suggest something? Why not play for entertainments and parties? As long as she knows the music she does not have to hear for such work as that, and I think she could do well playing for parties, concerts, etc.

Pickled Spiced Beets.

Mrs. R. asks for the recipe for spiced beets published some time ago. I am sure that I have what she wants, and if no one has sent it to her this may be the one:

PICKLED SPICE BEETS—Select nice red beets and boil until tender. Plunge each one repeatedly in cold water and slip off the skins. Cut beets lengthwise into strips. Place these, not too closely, in glass jars, leaving room for the liquor to surround each piece. To two quarts of vinegar add four pounds of brown sugar and one-half teaspoon powdered alum. Let this boil. Skim, add one teaspoon each of cloves, allspice, mustard, and a few peppercorns, all unground and tied in a muslin bag. Boil again, adding a little cayenne and salt. Pour over the beets. Next day drain off sirup, bring to a boil, pour over the beets again, then seal. They will be a rich red color and delicious.

"I'll Do the Same for You."

"Two little boys
Had two little toys,
Each was a wooden horse."

I believe he can get it at any music store under the name "I'll Do the Same for You." I do not know who wrote it, but I remember having the piece several years ago.

Recipe for Tom's Pudding.

I saw a request for a recipe for Tom's pudding. Here is one I cut from a paper several years ago: One-half cup molasses, one-half cup warm water, one teaspoon soda dissolved in warm water, one cup raisins, chopped; one teaspoon cinnamon, yolks of two eggs, two scant cups flour; one-half cup nuts may be added if desired. Steam two hours. Sauce to be served: One-half cup butter, creamed; one-half cup brown sugar, whites two eggs beaten stiff; add one teaspoon hot water and flavor with vanilla.

How to Wash Cotton Comfortables.

I am an elderly woman and a constant reader of your Corner and am glad to give instructions for washing cotton comfortables: Take the threads from the sides and ends, clip the tackings, lift the top and lower part from the cotton, fold and lay away the cotton, and wash, starch, and iron the cotton top and bottom of the comfortable. Put in the frame and add about an inch layer of new cotton, then that which was in the quilt, and you will have a clean and new bed covering. This was my mother's formula when I was a girl, and I have followed it all my life.

Directions for Making Seed Bag.

In response to the inquiry of A. M. S. referring to the muskmelon seed bag: First select large, strong muskmelon seeds. I use No. 9 thread (white), double and waxed; one can use linen thread, waxed to answer the same purpose. For the large bag I used nearly six bunches of steel beads, No. 9; for the small bag about four bunches of beads, No. 9. For the large bag I took eighteen seeds drawn rather tightly, allowing enough space for the continuing seeds, thickest end downward. After the first row between each seed place two seeds, making a total of thirty-six seeds for the second row. For the third row take again two seeds between the second row of two seeds, and for the fourth row take the top of the third row of seeds; then place one seed, one bead, one seed, then three beads, and continue until the row is completed. For the fifth row take the top of the fourth row of seeds, one seed, one bead, one seed, and four beads until that row is completed, and keep on in that way until you use eighteen beads for the highest, gradually adding always one bead more. Take no more than one seed, one bead, one seed, then add your extra bead to it. After you have gone as far as the eighteenth row, take eighteen beads, one seed, one bead, one seed, and eighteen more, then stick through the top of the eighteenth row (this forms the network), and only add one bead. Keep in mind just one bead, not any more seeds, for the lower part. That's the first row of network. Second row, take a seed, eighteen beads, then a bead, a seed, and again eighteen beads, using one bead for the center of the two seeds in the top of the first row until you have completed five rows in succession, and the bag is completed. To make the satin bag and trimmings I will give directions to any one writing to me and inclosing a stamp.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

By Lillian Russell

Your Hat Pins.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

IN various states of the country today there is hysterical agitation concerning the long hat pins worn by women, and a public demand that the pointed ends of the pins be covered with guards.

It is difficult to understand why there should be so much concern over a matter of such simple solution and if the truth were known the chances are some manufacturers of hat pin guards would be discovered behind the legislative propaganda.

The women themselves will settle all such questions without the assistance or prescription of man made laws. There should be no occasion to resort to legislation to take care of a situation that can be governed by native common sense.

No woman wants to injure the face of any one by reason of the fact that her hat pin, extending beyond the width of the hat, is accidentally plunged into the anatomy of a neighbor in a crowded car or theater or upon the street.

Were the hat pins shorter there would be no danger of such unfortunate occurrences. And, as man makes the hat pins, it is "up to" man to make them of correct length. Any criticism that is warranted is warranted by man alone.

There are, though, thousands of women today who, purchasing a hat pin, have not concluded their business in this respect until they take them to a jeweler and have them cut to suit the width of hats.

It is woman's nature to be gentle, to be considerate, to shrink from hurting any one. And this applies to all things as well as to the hat pin. It should apply to looks and to words, for it is possible to injure just as badly with unkindliness and with idle, malicious gossip as it is with a hat pin of senseless length.

So one should be guided with consideration for others, with regard to thoughts and words, as well as hat pins.

Remember: The application of common sense is the fundamental basis of all that is natural, sweet, and becoming to woman.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MISS HARRIET: Round shoulders destroy beauty. A round shouldered girl can never look smart, for smart women are particularly straight and erect in figure. Clothes never hang properly on badly shaped shoulders. When a child begins to become stoop shouldered the mother should see to it that the child should break the habit of drooping the shoulder. Deep breathing is a splendid exercise for straightening the shoulders.

MRS. S. O.: The hands stand a lot of bad treatment and come up for more and yet are grateful and proud of any good treatment. Women who work should use oatmeal in the water in which they wash their hands and rub a cream into them at night. This will make them smooth and white. When doing housework you should protect your hands as much as possible. When the hands are continually in water rubber gloves should be worn. They can be bought for a small sum now and you can get them in any department store or drug store. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you the formula for a nongreasy hand lotion.

WINIFRED: The young girl whose form develops excessively and whose weight is beyond the normal mark needs attention just as much as if she were ill. She is becoming afflicted with a misery that in time will cause a heartache. Any one can reduce flesh who will practice self-denial. There must be an immediate reining in of the desire for bonbons and sweets. All fleshy women are fond of rich food. They are piling fuel on the fires, much more fuel than the body needs. The remedy is to live mainly on lean meats and crisp green vegetables. I shall send you a dietary for reducing flesh and the rolling exercises for reducing the hips if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

L. B.: Do not use peroxide on your face to bleach it. It will make the skin dry and yellow and your face full of tiny wrinkles. Powder is harmless if it is a good grade and the face is carefully cleansed each night when retiring. Glycerin is something every one cannot use. Some people can use it with success, but others cannot use it or anything that has glycerin in. This you will have to decide for yourself. You can tell whether it agrees with your skin. It will not cause a growth of hair.

FLORENCE B.: Brush you eyebrows daily with a small brush and olive oil or almond oil into any shape desired. If the eyebrows grow together over the nose, pull the hairs out with pinchers and apply a bit of ammonia to the roots.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

Thoughtless Marriages.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

"Love was to his impassion'd soul
Not, as with others, a mere part
Of its existence, but the whole—
The very life-breath of the heart."

ALL the world loves a lover. Girls in particular are enamored with them. When a young man commences to call regularly on a daughter the parents are not wont to trouble themselves at the outset of the affair. They consider that it's only a fleeting admiration which each has for the other.

The young folks consider their romance in a different light altogether. They are quite sure that they fell in love with each other at first sight. They are sure, too, that during the following month in which they have seen each other every day that they are so much in love that they simply could not live without each other.

This is considered to be love's delirious stage. Under its influence young men ordinarily sensible have been known to throw prudence to the winds, to propose marriage to the object of their admiration while out for a walk, declaring that they surely will not survive unless the wedding takes place at once. There are whispered words of undying affection huskily spoken. The girl listens, her heart rules instead of her head, and she allows herself to be cajoled into an immediate marriage then and there.

Of course there is consternation in the home. Perhaps the young man has wed on a very meager salary. Thus he has not enough saved up for his own keep, let alone for that of a wife.

Once in a while these thoughtless, hasty marriages may turn out well. But as a rule the glamour is quickly dispelled if the girl's folks refuse to forgive her, and she is obliged to turn to hubby for support.

The young fellow may love her devotedly. But in no possible way can he stretch out his slender salary to twice the amount. He wakes up suddenly to the realization that marriage brings with it many obligations; that he should not have plead with a sweet young girl to marry him without having a home to bring her to, or having made some arrangements for her future.

Few maidens are philosophical enough to meet the situation, put their shoulder to the wheel of circumstances which faces them. Both realize when it is too late that the thoughtless marriage was imprudent. Besides it lost them the pleasure of the sweetest occasion in life, a year's courtship, during which they could be planning and saving for the event. Young people cannot help loving, but they can help, when they are unprepared, the rushing into matrimony.

There is nothing that is as solemn in this world as marriage; no step which needs more consideration and earnest counsel. The parents of the girl, those who have given the best part of their lives in rearing her, have a right to be consulted. If he loves her sufficiently he will wait for her.

No girl ever lost a lover for refusing to marry him upon short acquaintance and on the spur of the moment. The young man who insists is doing an injustice to the girl. Of course she is taking him for better or for worse; but no one wants the "for worse" to commence immediately.

The girl who would take such a foolhardy step will not prove the best wife in the world for a poor man. She will not make the best of managers, and assuredly is not one to look and plan ahead. There's truth in the old saying: "Marrying in haste is repenting at leisure."

* *

He Is the Younger.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply in love with a young man who is nearly two years younger than I. He is very nice looking, has black, curly hair and blue eyes, while I have light hair, blue eyes, and a light complexion. As I say, I just dearly love him and know that he loves me, as he has told me so many times. We have been going together steady for about five months. He says that if I were to quit going with him that he would never go with another steady girl and that he could never love another as he does me. We are not engaged, but have talked of getting married a number of times, but he doesn't want to get married for two or three years any way, and I don't care to, either. What I want to know is, does it make any difference in our ages if we truly love each other? I am taller than he is, too. We have talked this all over and he says he doesn't care if I am older than he is, and if I am taller.

I do think it better that the husband be the older of the two. However, there are any number of very happy marriages where the wife is older than the husband. If you are really and truly in love with each other I don't think the slight age difference would matter at all. And the fact that you are taller would certainly never interfere with your happiness.

In Quite a Predicament.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 22 and in quite a predicament. Can you help me out? For the last two years I have been going to see two girls. Neither of them know I go with the other. Both of them love me I know, for they go with no one else. If I marry the one in college I feel as though I would always want the other one, but if I marry the teacher I feel as though I would be satisfied, although I love the college girl and know she is the better of the two.

MIKE."

Mike, what do you mean by monopolizing the time and attention of both girls? The decent thing for you to do is to keep away from them both for a while and see if you cannot make up your mind which girl you like best.

He Loved Her Once.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 17, in love with a boy of 21. He is very handsome. He and I were once sweethearts and I still love him. How or what can I do to win his love again? M."

There is really nothing you can do, Mirtie, to win the fellow's heart again. Once love has cooled it is almost hopeless to revive the old time interest. You better try to get interested in some one else. You are a bit too young, anyway, to know anything about love.

SAYS WORK OF ADVERTISERS RAISES STANDARD OF LIVING.

Herbert M. Casson Tells Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers How Publicity Benefits Customers and Trade.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—Herbert M. Casson of New York, in an address here today before the National Association of Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers, said advertising was responsible for new and better standards of living, particularly in the line of sanitation and cleanliness.

He illustrated, as an example, how soap advertising produced better living conditions.

Mr. Casson, who is a manufacturer, said that employers "should not drive their employés, but should give them something to work for." Addresses were delivered also by George H. Earle, a financier, of Philadelphia, and others.

PLAN REST ROOM FOR COURT.

To make the waiting room of the Juvenile court really a rest room rather than a prison is the object of a committee of welfare workers appointed by Judge Pinckney. Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton is chairman.

"We've all felt the children who have to wait two or three hours in the waiting room have been neglected," Mrs. Britton said.

"We are going to make the room just as pretty and attractive as possible. The benches will be taken out and rockers and easy chairs substituted. Two kindergartners from the National Kindergarten college will be there every morning."

COMPLEXION SECRETS OF AN ACTRESS

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now, whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, erasing this with warm water in the morning. This remarkable substance seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, the latter gradually making way for a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin. It requires a comparatively few treatments to complete the transformation. Best of all, the new complexion has the appearance of exquisite girlish naturalness, quite unlike any make-up.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores, I began using a solution of pure powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for awhile soon relieved the condition most wonderfully. Now, whenever my skin shows the slightest tendency t. wrinkle, I use this harmless lotion and have no difficulty in keeping my face as smooth as a young girl's."—Advertisement.

TRUST COMPANY ACTS QUESTIONED

Chicago Real Estate Board to Ask Attorney General if Agency 'Ads' Are Legal.

ACRE DEAL RECORDED.

Otto Reuter Buys Tract for Subdivision at Kedzie and Carmen.

The public service committee of the Chicago real estate board has been instructed to ask the attorney general whether some of the Chicago trust companies are within their charter rights in advertising as agents for the management of real estate.

The action was taken at the monthly meeting of the board yesterday and the statement was made by one of the members of the board that a certain trust company was writing to owners inquiring whether their property was being satisfactorily handled and was also acting as broker in the sale of property.

In connection with a report by the boulevard link committee it was announced a public hearings probably would be held about May 18. Plans and drawings of bridges, etc., have been prepared and will be exhibited at the hearing. It also was stated that some property owners were preparing to fight the proposed link plans.

Talk of Realty Building.

Frederick S. Oliver, chairman of the building committee of the board, reported the committee had under consideration several sites in the down town district as a prospective permanent home for the board. He said the feeling was that a 99 year lease on an inside lot probably would be the wisest plan and favored its improvement, not with an office building but with one of some individuality, preferably three or four stories high.

Action on the proposed amendment to the bylaws with reference to the makeup of the nominating committee of the board was deferred to a special meeting to be held on May 15, when a special committee of six, consisting of C. S. Ennis, E. Orris Hart, Charles D. Richards, W. W. Baird, A. H. Wetten and F. S. Oliver will report on the proposed amendment submitted by Mr. Ennis.

The public service committee was instructed to inquire into the charge that the railroads do not allow stop over privileges to passengers passing through Chicago, but do in the case of smaller towns on the outside.

New Subdivision Planned.

In a transaction under the Torrens system made a matter of record, Biscoe Hindman has sold to Otto Reuter, for W. F. Kaiser & Co., about thirteen acres at the northeast and southeast corners of Kedzie and Carmen avenues and the southeast corner of Troy street and Carmen avenue; a nominal consideration being given.

Mr. Reuter secured $39,000 of the purchase money by a trust deed to Albert H. Tyrrell, five years at 6 per cent. It will be subdivided and placed on the market.

In a transfer filed for record the Hibernian Banking association has taken title from Mrs. Cassie G. Wheeler to the property at the northeast corner of Sheridan road and Thorndale avenue, 244x300 feet, consideration nominal.

The vacant at the northeast corner of Diversey boulevard and Pine Grove avenue, 100x150 feet, has been sold by Adolph H. Schoeninger to Louise Kraatz, consideration nominal.

Buys Apartment Site.

Paul Steinbrecker & Co. has sold for H. H. Hettler, president of the Hettler Lumber company, to D. J. O'Connor of Cremin & O'Connor the vacant, north front, on Stratford place, 350 feet west of Sheridan drive, 75x140 feet, consideration withheld. Mr. O'Connor plans to improve with a high grade three apartment building. The same brokers sold for Mr. Hettler to A. C. Barber of the Barber Manufacturing company 50x128 feet, north front, on Hawthorne place, 200 feet east of Evanston avenue, which he will improve with an attractive residence.

A. Edward Frear has sold for Murray Wolbach to William A. and Lillian Jaegermann the six flat building at 3729-31 Indiana avenue for $25,000, subject to an incumbrance of $16,250, taking in part payment the southwest corner of Seventy-eighth street and Ellis avenue and other property.

Minor Deals of the Day.

The southeast corner of Montrose and Fortieth avenues, 108x125 feet, with old improvements, has been sold by Joseph Zahour to Herman H. Goodfriend consideration nominal. A. Trostler was the broker.

Edward H. Olsen has sold to Simon Wolfson the property at the northeast corner of Fullerton and Avers avenues, 25x125 feet, with flat improvements, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $18,000.

Record has been made of the purchase by the Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial Lodging House for Women and Children from W. P. Haughton of the property in Prairie avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, 50x180 feet, east front, for $17,500, subject to $9,000 incumbrance.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $90,000, five years, at 6 per cent, to Frank C. Lewin on the 269x171 feet, north front, in Greenleaf avenue, 131 feet east of Perry street.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The government report on the condition of winter wheat and winter rye will be issued today at 1:15 p. m. Chicago time. The report will show also the acreage left standing for harvest. It is expected the report will be decidedly bearish, indicating an enormous crop. Private reports on the percentage of winter wheat abandoned indicate the smallest loss in years and it is not believed the government will show more than 1,000,000 acres lost, while the condition should be high. A year ago the condition of winter wheat was 79.7 on May 1, and 74.3 on June 1, and 79.3 on July 1. It is the general belief that the report will show prospects for the largest winter wheat crop ever harvested. Last year the final report on winter wheat made the yield 400,000,000 bu. The abandoned acreage a year ago was the largest on record, and this year will likely be the smallest.

Broomhall says in his weekly review of wheat situation: "Present indications point generally to a continuance of moderate supplies, although it is probable that there will be heavy arrivals during one or two weeks in June, but which is not likely to be able to furnish much to reconstruct stocks, and I expect the season will finish with light holdings. The continent has a large quantity of wheat afloat and is buying order cargoes freely, but the demand is so large that stocks are not accumulating, because a large proportion of the arrivals are going to small ports in France, Portugal, and Italy, where they are being immediately absorbed, and therefore I think continental stocks will continue light and the demand maintained longer than if the wheat accumulated at big ports."

The following table, compiled by the Daily Trade Bulletin, shows supplies of breadstuffs afloat for Europe and in store in Europe, America, Argentina, and Australia on the dates named:

	May 1,'13.	Apr. 1,'13.	May 1,'12.

The decrease during April was equal to 40,350,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 8,085,000 bu in March, and a decrease of 19,436,000 bu in April, 1912.

Bennett had the following message from a northern Indiana point: "The farmers still complaining of the exceedingly dry weather on the oats. We have had no rain now for about six weeks, and the ground is cracking open. This is an unusual feature so early in the season. Need rain badly."

"The oats market is showing considerable strength, with more or less country buying of the deferred futures," said Bartlett-Frazier. "The rains of last week, while very general and of good volume west of the river, were scattered and light in the territory east of the river. High winds have prevailed, which has taken considerable moisture out of the latter territory, and our reports indicate that the crop has by no means gotten a good start, and that further precipitation is needed. The action of the market seems to reflect this condition."

The break in futures yesterday in the early part of the session resulted in a fair amount of cash wheat being sold. Total sales reported here were 250,000 bu., of which it was understood about 150,000 bu was sold to exporters. Part of the business was understood to have been hard winter via the gulf, but the bulk of the export sales were supposed to have been No. 1 northern owned by local interests. At Minneapolis there was a fair business reported in flour, and cash wheat prices were a little firmer. Top price for choice No. 1 northern was 4c over the May. Other outside markets were steady.

King of Toledo wired: "Michigan May wheat condition, 83; April, 82. Last May, 63; harvest, 58. Acreage abandoned 4 per cent, against 22 year ago. Rye condition, 87; last May, 81. Clover acreage sown, compared to last year, 94 per cent; winter killed, 10 per cent, against 20 year ago. Oats acreage, 99 per cent of last year."

The Ohio May report as wired by King of Toledo, makes the condition of wheat 96, the same as in April, and compared to 44 last May and 48 in July. April, and compared to a year ago, 87 per cent. Rye condition, 96, against 94 in April. Clover acreage compared to a year ago, 95.

Cash corn was in fair demand, with an easy tone early, but closing rather steady. The demand from the east was fair and offerings from the country were still moderate. Oats were firm. Shipping sales were 130,000 bu corn and 180,000 bu oats.

A Russian cable said: "In the southwest generally there have been rains and the outlook for the crops is excellent; holders are yielding to pressure and offers are lower. Arrivals at the ports are small, but an increase is expected."

Cables received by Slaughter & Co. yesterday from correspondents in Germany, France, Roumania, and Hungary state that wheat crop prospects in those countries are favorable.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were unchanged to ⅛c higher; corn, ¼@1c higher; oats, ⅛@¾c higher, and rye, unchanged to ½c higher.

No. 2 red winter wheat at Kansas City has declined 5@7c the last few days, selling at 94c yesterday.

COARSE GRAINS STRONG.

Selling Pressure Less Heavy in Corn and Oats; Country Sales Still Small.

Wheat prices were lower during the first part of the session yesterday, rallying later when shorts covered. Commission houses were free buyers, and after the first hour the market showed the oversold pit condition resulting from the steady selling of the last few days. At the close May was ⅛c lower and the deferred months ⅛c higher.

Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜d lower, due to the favorable crop advices from all countries and the poor demand for spot and cargoes. Paris was ⅛@2c off; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, 1c off, and Budapest, ⅛c higher. Buenos Aires futures were materially lower. World's stocks during April showed a decrease of 40,350,000 bu, compared to a decrease a year ago for the same time of 19,436,000 bu. The total is now 224,000,000, or about 10,000,000 bu more than a year ago.

Cash Sales Are Larger.

The cash demand was better on the decline and sales all told by Chicago firms were 250,000 bu, of which 175,000 bu was No. 1 northern to exporters. There was also a little No. 2 hard wheat sold for export. Milling demand was fair, and premiums at Minneapolis were a shade firmer, and some mills reported a better demand for flour. Stocks at Minneapolis decreased 550,000 bu for four days.

Weather conditions were favorable in all directions, and there has been no change in the splendid winter wheat conditions. The government report will be issued at the close today, and it is expected the document will indicate the largest winter wheat crop ever harvested. Deliveries yesterday were only 10,000 bu. So far deliveries at Minneapolis have been much smaller than expected. Duluth shipped yesterday 906,000 bu wheat.

Receipts Continue Large.

Receipts at all points continue large, the southwest again having a big run. Total primary arrivals were 703,000 bu, compared to 334,000 bu a year ago. The local run was 33 cars, with 36 cars the estimate for today. Northwest points had 113 cars, against 95 cars a year ago. Winnipeg arrivals were 248 cars, or 3 cars more than a year ago. Clearances for the day were moderate at 375,000 bu wheat and flour.

Corn Has Better Support.

Corn met with good buying support, and closed ⅛@½c to ⅛@⅜c higher, the deferred months leading in the advance. Commission houses were fair buyers, and there was not so much selling pressure as there has been recently. The cash demand was fair, and there were shipping sales of 130,000 bu. Prices in the sample market were ⅛c off early, but closed a trifle higher, sympathizing with the advance in futures.

Country offerings continue light, and, while predictions are being made freely that receipts will be heavy by the end of the month, stocks are likely to be small for several weeks. Receipts here were 262 cars, with 141 cars the estimate for today. Western arrivals were 528,000 bu; last year, 308,000 bu. Weather conditions were favorable throughout the belt.

Oats Show Firm Tone.

Oats were strong, the selling pressure being comparatively light, while later there was excellent buying. Final quotations were ⅛@⅜c to ⅝c higher. The spot demand was good, with shipping sales of 180,000 bu. Offerings of cash lots were moderate. Receipts here were 147 cars, with 161 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals were 687,000 bu, compared to 527,000 bu a year ago. The Ohio report for May estimates the acreage of oats at 87 per cent of last year, while there was unusually heavy seeding of oats owing to the losses in the winter wheat acreage.

Hog Products Trade Dull.

Hog products were generally a little firmer at the close, after a dull and irregular session. Hog prices were a little lower at the yards, and receipts were 5,000 over estimates at 25,000. The arrivals for today were estimated at 19,000. Western receipts were 90,300, against 72,200 a year ago. Liverpool prices were 6d higher for backs and Cumberland sides and 3d higher for lard. Receipts of products here were 9 cars, shipments 32 cars. Cash offerings were moderate and the demand was fairly good.

Rye in Light Offering.

Rye was firm under limited offerings. Sales of No. 2 were made at 64c and sample grade at 58c. Small lot of No. 3 sold at 57c. Receipts were 1 car.

Barley ruled steady, with malting grades 55@68c; feed, 44@48c; and screenings, 20@40c. Receipts were 26 cars.

Timothy seed was stronger, with May offered at $4.10. September, $4.25, nominal, and country lots, $3.00@3.75.

Duluth flax was unchanged to ⅛c higher, with cash on track, $1.30@1.30⅛; May, $1.29⅞; July, $1.31½; and October, $1.32. Receipts, 5 cars. Minneapolis advanced ⅛c, with cash on track $1.29⅜. Receipts, 26 cars. Winnipeg, unchanged to ⅛c higher, with May $1.14⅝, and July, $1.17⅜. Receipts, 24 cars.

MORAL SUASION FAILS TO CURE DRINK HABIT

BECAUSE—the bitter experience of thousands of good men, their helpless wives and suffering families, and the experience of Doctor Neal and his staff of sixty able physicians in charge of Neal Institutes located in sixty principal cities PROVES that the man or woman who indulges constantly or excessively is just as much in need of scientific medical help to REGAIN HEALTH AND SAVE LIFE as the person afflicted with typhoid fever. No man can or will permanently stop drinking so long as there is an "INTERNAL FIRE" caused by the accumulated and stored up poison of alcohol in his system.

In the language of a noted Catholic Bishop, "The Neal Three Day Treatment is a godsend to the high-class busy man, because in three days it removes the CAUSE and overcomes the EFFECTS of excessive indulgence."

BONDS FAVORABLE FOR INVESTMENT

Money Conditions Lend Opportunities for Safe Return of 5½ Per Cent.

FENTON TELLS SITUATION

Rate of Yield Unusually High for Good Issues; Otis Finds East Pessimistic.

Money conditions, and, collaterally, investment opportunities, are now such as to invite consideration of the bond market by investors. While prices may work lower, the opportunity at this time to make long time investments at a safe rate of 5½ per cent, or possibly higher, is unusually favorable.

Howard W. Fenton, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, which latter has an unusual record in bond dealings, says of investment conditions:

"The market situation for bonds presents some interesting features at this time. For several years investors have found the yield from safe investment bonds unsatisfactory as compared with the increased cost of living. The desire, and in some cases the necessity, for higher interest yield caused some investors to place their funds in more uncertain and speculative investments.

Chances for Investments Good.

"Conditions are now reversed. Money is one of the highest priced of commodities today, and the investor can place his funds for long periods at most attractive rates. Many of the most desirable bonds can be bought to yield from 4½ to 6 per cent, and in consequence there is practically no demand for the investments of uncertain merit, which were so popular a few months ago.

"Opportunities for safe investment which have not existed for over fifteen years (except for the very short depression of 1907) are now open to investors, and many of the most experienced are taking advantage of it to place their funds for twenty years or longer.

"How long such conditions will prevail depends upon so many factors that it is useless to make any market predictions, but investors will do well to compare investment—and I mean the safest investment—opportunities today with the record for the last fifteen years."

Preparing for Coming Autumn.

Joseph E. Otis, vice president of the Central Trust company, returned yesterday from New York. Speaking of sentiment there, he said:

"New York financial interests, while still blue, are of the opinion that we shall get through the current year without any financial trouble. There is a general effort on the part of those interested in money market conditions to prepare for the coming autumn. There is being exercised a great deal of self-restraint by large borrowers, and banking interests are coöperating to the end that the autumn money demand shall be met without serious interference with general business.

"One of the large railroad systems which contemplated an expenditure of around $15,000,000 for development work, has decided to restrict its borrowings to actual necessities. I cite this as being illustrative of the disposition to be prudent and not burden the money market with avoidable demands.

"The New England situation is an unfavorable one in a financial way. The well established investment securities which New Englanders for years have held, have nearly all fallen greatly in price. New Haven and Hartford shares afford one illustration. The textile milling business has suffered and the securities of the best known New England manufacturing concerns have dropped in market value. I mention New England because of its nearness and influence on New York banking sentiment."

Chicago Railways Finance Committee.

"Insurgent stockholders" in the Chicago Railways company, who are represented by a protective committee of which Joseph Beifeld is chairman and who have announced they will petition the Harris Trust and Savings bank for the removal of the finance committee of the Railways company, will probably meet disappointment. There are three members of the finance committee. E. A. Eckhart, one of the members, is a director of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, a member of its executive committee, and one of its most highly esteemed officials. Mr. Eckhart also is a director of the Continental and Commercial National bank and a member of that bank's executive committee.

Chauncey Keep, another member of the finance committee, is a director of the Merchants' Loan and Trust company and a director of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank. He is a member of the executive committee of the latter institution. Henry Blair, chairman of the finance committee, is a director of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and a member of its executive committee.

In addition to this finance committee having been appointed by the Harris Trust and Savings bank it may be noted that the banking connections of the members are of such a character that it seems probable unsatisfactory results will follow a request to displace the committee, the sole authority to do which rests with the Harris Trust and Savings bank so long as any of the first mortgage bonds of the Railways company are outstanding.

Diamond Match Annual.

O. C. Barber, A. D. Bevan, W. A. Fairburn, Francis A. Hardy, W. S. Hofstra, Edwin A. Potter, and Edward R. Stettinius. Mr. Fairburn succeeds E. W. Roloson. The former is the general superintendent of the company.

The statement of earnings was published a few weeks ago. The figures indicated 10.7 per cent profit applicable to the common stock. In his report to the shareholders, issued yesterday, E. R. Stettinius, president of the company, said, among other things:

"The federal law placing a prohibitive tax on matches in the manufacture of which white phosphorus is used becomes effective on July 1, 1913. On or before that date the use of white phosphorus in all the factories of the company will be discontinued. Substantial progress has been made in the improvement and production of nonpoisonous goods, and the company has anticipated the law so that a very considerable portion of its matches are now of a nonpoisonous variety."

Explains Gain in Investments.

Mr. Stettinius noted in his annual report that the increase of $539,886 in foreign and domestic investments was due mainly to advances to affiliated concerns in connection with transactions affecting purchases of lumber for matches. The company purchased and canceled during the year $412,600 (par value) of its debentures. For depreciation reserve the usual $150,000 was charged off, and, in addition, $185,628.

Concerning the California investment of the company Mr. Stettinius said:

"While the increase in earnings of the California operations is gratifying, the situation must still be considered unsatisfactory, owing to the relatively small return on the investment. It has become apparent that the quantity of profitable and available timber will be less than indicated by earlier estimates. A policy has been adopted of conserving the timber and reducing the annual cut."

The directors met after the annual meeting and elected the following officers: President, Edward R. Stettinius; vice presidents, James Hopkins, W. A. Fairburn; treasurer, H. C. Cranz; secretary, H. A. Holman; auditor, M. C. Johnston; general manager of sales, T. J. Reynolds.

Rumely Shares.

The Rumely shares showed considerable improvement on the New York exchange, following the announcement of the prospective retirement of the Rumely interests from the company. The stock sold down on the previous day, when it was announced that there would be a new president. The common opened yesterday at 25½ and closed at 30. The preferred sold at 58¾, against a close the previous day of 56¾.

Evidently there is involved in the market quotations the transactions of a considerable short interest. There is no occasion for glossing over the situation. Those who undertake to get the Rumely company on a sound basis will find that the business will have to be curtailed to a point where the present capitalization as well as the dividends will need pruning.

United Fruit Notes Well Taken.

The $12,000,000 issue of United Fruit company's 6 per cent notes brought out by Lee, Higginson & Co. has proved a marked success. The allotment to London was especially well received, and announcement is that the "issue was a huge success and a premium of one-half of 1 per cent is already quoted." The London allotment was $2,000,000.

Why Pump Dividend Was Passed.

Directors of the International Steam Pump company rise to explain that the dividend on the preferred stock was passed because of unusual conditions. The dividend had been regularly paid since 1899, the date of the organization of the company. The directors say:

"Temporary conditions due to unusual competition greatly impaired the earnings of the company during the past fiscal year. Nevertheless, the company kept its organization and plants up to standard and maintained its volume of business.

"The company has rigidly adhered to its policy of promptly meeting all its current obligations, and its present earnings are well in excess of all requirements of fixed charges and dividend on the preferred stock of the subsidiary companies.

"Important economies have recently been effected, resulting in the saving of upwards of $150,000 per annum. This will be followed by further substantial progress in the same direction."

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, May 7.—[Special.]—According to one view the present Harriman dissolution tangle finds its first cause in a conflict of the opinions of two political parties of the country in regard to the treatment of big corporations.

It is pointed out that the attitude of the Republican party, under the auspices of which the divorce suit was begun, was to keep them intact, but to regulate them. The attitude of the Democratic party, now in power, is to resolve them into their component parts.

Unfortunately for the Union Pacific system, its case has come up for settlement just when these conflicting opinions are being fought out. It supplies the ground for the argument. People who hold this theory assert that five years from now, when the whole question is settled, the security holders of the Harriman lines will have consolation for money lost in the sense of satisfaction furnished by knowing that the problem was worked out with their property as the sacrificial offering.

Every other man in Wall street who has given the matter thought thinks he has the only plan for solving the Harriman divorce tangle and criticism of all plans follows as a matter of course. One method of disposition of the Southern Pacific stock suggested by a brokerage house is as follows:

"The decision of the Supreme court deprived the Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific of voting power, and that as effectually terminated Union Pacific's control of the other property as it could be done. Under the circumstances what practical result is gained by preventing Union Pacific from owning this stock and receiving the dividends on it, and why should not this stock still left without voting power be placed in the hands of trustees to be held or liquidated as conditions direct, the trustees collecting the dividends on the unsold balance and turning them over to the Union Pacific? The Supreme court seems in such cases to have set up certain premises from which it proceeds to conclusions by the methods of pure logic without realizing that such courses of reasoning followed to their conclusion may lead to points far beyond practical requirements."

This plan is objected to on the ground that there would certainly be a deep lurking suspicion that the mere paying of dividends would militate against real competition between the two roads.

Another suggestion that has been made is that the $126,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock held in the Union Pacific treasury be exchanged on a proper basis for the investment securities of some other roads. The Pennsylvania and the New York Central, for instance, have large quantities of Baltimore and Ohio and other securities. This, it is thought, might be exchanged for the Southern Pacific stock and everybody satisfied. The idea is an ingenuous one, and might find favor with the United States court, the attorney general, and other parties interested in clearing up the Harriman matter. But whether it would be equally acceptable to the other roads mentioned is an entirely different matter.

One alternative to the formation of another banking syndicate to take over the Southern Pacific stock which has occupied a prominent place in speculative gossip in the last few days is the possibility of an appointment of an official receiver to dispose of the stock. This is a possibility which does not appeal particularly to many. It seems to be taken for granted that the official chosen for such a task would not be likely to realize the great difficulty attaching to such an operation.

The unpleasant results which might follow ill considered action on his part are dwelt upon persistently. In other words, the majority of people appear to believe that the stock might be sold in a way which would injure the share holders and cause disturbances to the rest of the list.

So far as the evidence furnished by sales and quotations is concerned, the state bond episode did not cause any great unsettlement, but it was not without any effect at all.

On the morning of the signing of the Frawley bill the New York state 4s were quoted at 98¼ bid and 99⅛ asked, with few offers in sight. After the signing of the bill the quotation was worked up to 100⅛ bid and 100⅜ asked, and there was a good demand for them.

Bond dealers gave it as their opinion that probably a number of firms had purchased the bonds on the more favorable position promised for them, but the trading was at all times limited to a few houses which make a specialty of such issues.

NEW YORK STOCKS STRONG AT CLOSE

Southern Pacific at Lowest Net Price Since 1908; New York Central Below Par.

New York, May 7.—After a day of mixed movements, in which no well defined trend was discernible, the stock market became distinctly strong in the final trading and closed with substantial gains for many of the important stocks.

At the opening of the session bear traders attempted to carry further the decline of yesterday. They were successful in forcing down prices temporarily, but later met with determined opposition, which brought about a smart advance.

The demand fell off on the rally, and movements thereafter were uncertain until the final outburst of buying, which lifted prices to the highest of the day.

Harriman Stocks Active.

Speculative interest again centered in the Harriman stocks, whose heaviness in the early trading was a disturbing feature.

Southern Pacific broke to 93⅞, a new low price since 1908. That stock and Union Pacific were leaders in the late upturn, being helped by unconfirmed reports that the Union Pacific management had arranged for quick compliance with the Supreme court's dissolution decree, and that the distribution of Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific would be undertaken by a syndicate already arranged.

Weakness of stocks other than Harriman issues acted as a drag on the market. New York Central sold below par for the first time since 1908. Several other issues made new low records.

London Only Fair Buyer.

London bought stocks here moderately, its purchases on balance being estimated at about 10,000 shares. Traders who expected that the clearing up of the Balkan situation would be the signal for heavy repurchasing by Europe of American securities have been disappointed at the comparative smallness of the foreign demand in the last few days.

It was pointed out, however, that Europe's urgent financial requirements at home, as well as the indifferent attitude of American investors toward their own market, would tend to restrict the foreign demand at this time.

Prime mercantile paper 5@5¼ per cent. Sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 483.25 for sixty day bills and at 486.50 for demand. Commercial bills 482⅝. Bar silver 60⅛. Mexican dollars 48c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady.

Money—On call steady, 2¾@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid, 2¾; offered at 3. Time loans—Easier; sixty days, 3¾@4 per cent; ninety days, 4@4¼ per cent; six months, 4¼@4½ per cent.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, May 7.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were weaker today.

The stock market developed a holiday feeling. Dealings were small in the forenoon, with an irregular tendency under profit taking. Brazilian tractions were weak features, but Paris supported its favorites in the afternoon, and repurchases by local leaders made the closing steadier. Montenegrin and Bulgarian bonds advanced a point.

American securities opened quiet and steady. Trading was light during the forenoon, but the market was supported, and prices advanced from ⅛ to a point over parity. In the early afternoon the tone was uncertain, owing to the Pacific merger plan and the lower Wall street opening, but prices recovered in the last hour and closed steady.

BERLIN, May 7.—There was much realizing on the bourse early today, but the market was supported and the declines were limited. The tone was firmer in the late trading.

PARIS, May 7.—Prices were firm on the bourse today.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—[Special.]—Early weakness on the local board today was followed by dullness, which, in turn, was succeeded by a rally, due, apparently to the condition of short contracts. The demand for Boston and Maine caused a 3 point rally to 57. New Haven, on the contrary, continued to be supplied in small lots, and the final price was ¼ lower than yesterday. American Woolen preferred acted badly throughout, losing 2⅞ to 74¼. Call money, 3¾@4 per cent; time loans, short dates 5@5¼ per cent; time loans, six months, 5@5½ per cent; time loans year, 5@5½ per cent.

Farm Mortgages
AS A FORM OF INVESTMENT

"Back to the Land" doctrine applies to investments in a very definite way. The Farm Mortgage is a recognized form of investment which has advantages all its own. The individual investor takes a mortgage on a definite, producing property—ours are in the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana—and receives 5 to 6 per cent interest on his money for 5 years.

For 35 years we have dealt in these Farm Mortgages. They are a reasonable, conservative, safe investment for individuals, trustees or bankers. We buy them with our own money and supply them regularly to customers of our house. If you have a large or small fund for investment, you should include our farm mortgages in it.

Very complete information is contained in our Booklet "J"—"Farm Mortgage Investments"—which will be sent free on request.

CATTLE RUN HIGH; RECESSION SHARP

Receipts Too Heavy for Midweek Trade; Market Declines 15@20 Cents.

HOGS ALSO MOVE OFF.

Trade Grows More Active at the Close; Sheep Hold Steady; Lambs Weaker.

Cattle supplies were much too heavy for the midweek trade to absorb yesterday, and sharp recession were noted in prices, the bulk of handy and strong weight steers being 15@20c lower than Monday, while cuts of 25c were not infrequent. Buyers were slow in getting started and when they did take hold their actions failed to enthuse the selling element, and the latter were glad to peddle their wares at the decline. Shippers were evidently encouraged by the Monday firmness and the result was that they threw a greater burden on the market than it could bear. Quality did not run generally as good as on the first day of the week, there being a smaller proportion of big long-fed steers, while the yearling offerings were heavy. Killers got the biggest shares of the fat beeves at $8.10@8.65. Calf trade was stronger.

Hogs suffered a 10c decline from Tuesday with trade slow early and fairly active toward the finish. Packers held out for the lower figure and refused to pick up anything until the market had turned in their favor. Butcher hogs late went at $8.35. Large runs in the east this week have shut off shipping demand.

Sheep sales were largely at steady prices with the trade very uneven. Some plain kinds sold a trifle lower and there was also an easier feeling for the held-over stuff. Local packers absorbed the choice lightweight killers before they touched the poorer grades. Receipts liberal. Lambs were steady to 10c lower. Quotations:

POULTRY MARKET GOES UP

EGG VALUES SHOW DECLINE.

Offerings of live fowls were readily absorbed yesterday and the market advanced 1c per pound. Receipts were not large but fairly good for the middle of the week, and buyers took hold with a vim, the stuff going largely into the hands of dressers with local consumptive trade absorbing the balance. Some early sales were made at 17c but the figure was quickly placed at 17½c and holders generally adhered to that level. Other poultry steady and rather dull.

Egg values finally declined after remaining in a hesitating stage for a considerable period, the losses being fractional, however. Speculators were inclined to hold back and the demand is no little factor, as only a small part of the receipts are absorbed by local consumption. Supplies are heavy, with arrivals running way over those of a year ago. Receipts were 36,532 cases. The market is well stocked with butter, too well, in fact, and an easy feeling continued to exist, though prices were unchanged. Receipts were 6,924 tubs.

Potatoes in fair request at steady values. Strawberries ruled easier. Most of the berries got in late and a large part of the stock was soft. Quart cases are coming more freely and demand is shifting to these, the pints showing a tendency to drag. Green vegetables as a rule were easy. Heavy offerings of asparagus. Quotations:
